Sen. Byrd Issues Statement On School Matter

Senator Harry P. Byrd, from his Washington office, Wednesday issued the following statement concerning his meeting with a group of Little Creek citizens on Tuesday. The statement, substantially identical to the Senator's stand which might have been misunderstood in an earlier news release.

"With respect to the conference I had yesterday in my office with the Citizens of the Little Creek Area, near Norfolk, regarding the problem of local school facilities, I made it clear that I would not favor any legislation to change the existing law with respect to control of the local school authorities. To this group I stated I would not offer any amendments to the present law to change the local control. I have consistently opposed Federal Control of local school operations. During the discussion it was mentioned that the complaining citizens believed that the Federal law had been violated by the Federal school agency and that they intended to institute a suit in the courts. To this I said that the recourse to the Courts was the way to bring about a legal decision.

I was requested by the group to obtain an opinion from the Attorney General of the United States as to the intent of the Congress as to the present school law. I replied that I would submit a memorandum that was given to me to the Attorney General, but I was confident that he would not render an opinion except (Continued on Page Five)

Frank Dusch and John McCombs Present A Progressive Program

On next Tuesday the voters of Virginia Beach will have an opportunity to cast their ballot for Mayor Frank A. Dusch and Councilmen John W. McCombs, who are seeking re-election to the Virginia Beach City Council. By voting for these men the people of Virginia Beach will express their confidence and approval of the progress and advancement this City has experienced during the past four years under their leadership. And by voting for Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs they will give approval to the future program which they will have outlined for our City.

The two incumbent candidates have conducted their campaign on a high plane, which is as it should be. They have, from the very beginning, been forthright in their announced program and in meeting the issues of the campaign. Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs have respectfully requested that the voters of Virginia Beach closely scrutinize their records in office. This, too, is as it should be with candidates for public office.

The campaign of Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs has been a credit to our community and its positive approach to the election has been in marked contrast to that of their opponents, the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates. This group announced at the outset that they would not sling mud during the campaign, but then they launched on a campaign of abuse and innuendos against their city and your city and its officials and our government.

We believe Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs deserve the support of the voters of Virginia Beach. A review of their records in office will convince the voters that they are willing and able to serve their city for the best interest of all the people.

Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs have been a part of the administration that has provided these things for the people:

- ALL-STAR HIGH SCHOOL, VIRGINIA
- NEW STREET IMPROVEMENTS
- RECREATION FACILITIES
- EXTENSION OF WATER AND SEWER LINES
- CONTROL OF BEACH EROSION
- AN INCREASED CITY ADVERTISING FUND

And, these men have announced a program that would bring to the city a new armory or convention hall and a new health center.

These items that have been accomplished and those that they propose for the future are just some of the things included in their 17-point program that was announced at the beginning of the present campaign. This is a progressive program and one that will insure continued growth for the City of Virginia Beach.

We believe that Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs merit the support of the voters of Virginia Beach on their past performance in office and their progressive outlook for the future of our City. We strongly endorse these men for city council and believe the voters will express their confidence by voting for Frank Dusch and John McCombs in next Tuesday's councilmanic election.

Radio Address Cause Of Rift Is Rumored

A persistently persistent sidewalk rumor going the rounds of Virginia Beach these days is that the leaders of the Dunn-Heath-Weary group are at odds with one of their candidates for city council.

The rift has reached sizable proportions, according to reports, between the Dunn-Heath-Weary leaders and Woodbury Seasmans, one of the council candidates on their ticket.

According to the rumor, the rift started over the contents of a radio address made by Seasmans several days ago in which he stated, in effect, "that everything the Organization did and stood for was not wrong and that by the same token everything the Dunn-Heath-Weary group did and stood for was not right."

It is believed that the leaders of the Dunn-Heath-Weary group took Candidates Seasmans to task for making such a statement. It is believed that there was a clash of tongues and personalities among the group because of the radio address.

Recruitment Group Formed For Teachers

Mrs. T. Cornell Berry, of North Virginia Beach, has been elected chairman of the Princess Anne-Virginia Beach Recruitment Committee, according to an announcement by the secretary of the newly-formed committee.

At the initial meeting of the committee held in the Lighthouse school on Thursday, May 31, Mrs. Edith Barlow, language teacher at the Princess Anne High School, was elected secretary of the group.

The group agreed to sponsor a "Teacher Appreciation" week next fall with the week of November 4 to 11 set as the tentative dates. The group also agreed to have prospective teachers and interested students observe classroom procedure next year.

In addition to the two programs, the group also heard from Frank W. Cox, divisional superintendent of the survey being made by his office to gather information on teacher material in the area.

Those attending the meeting, in addition to Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Barlow, included Frank W. Cox, Miss Louisa Luxford, elementary school supervisor; Mrs. Margaret Jeter, assistant principal of the Virginia Beach High School; Albin R. Mailbox, of the Virginia Beach Sun-News; Richard J. Woodson, executive secretary to the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors; John W. Strongest Man Will Be Here For Contest

Paul Anderson, the Southern Drawl Supersman, who set three world weightlifting records in Philadelphia June 1st and whose feats of strength goggle-eyed the Russians will be the big attraction (pun intended) at the "beef cake" contest June 9th and 10th at Virginia Beach.

This 350 pound, 23 year old farm boy from Toccoa, Georgia will put on a weight lifting demonstration in the Mr. Universe Stairway night semifinals and finals Sunday night at Virginia Beach's Memorial Stadium.

Tagged by Sport Magazine as a prime cut of beef by any standards, Paul Anderson has lifted 4600 pounds off the ground with straps, and has straightened up with 1000 pounds (half a ton) on his back.

Paul began to work with weights when he was 19 to condition himself for football. Although he then weighed 250 pounds he was a surprisingly mobile guard for the Furman University freshman team.

Arriving Friday, June 8th, he will attend the Mr. Universe Ball at The Surf Club, ride in the Mr. Universe Parade Saturday afternoon June 9th as well as appear as a feature performer with the Olympic Weight Lifting Team on the two contest nights. He is a member of The Olympic Weight Lifting Team.

Paul, who has won audiences with the press, snatch, and clean-and-jerk lifts, has performed in Canada, Russia, Germany and the Near East. Five feet ten inches tall, he is considered a fugitive from the twenty-fifth century. In the course of racial development he is about 500 years before his time. With a 23½ inch, 46 inch waist, 58 inch chest, 22 inch upper arm and 36 inch thighs, Paul Anderson maintains he can control his weight within a 100 pounds, is strongest at 340 pounds and moves quickest at 315 pounds.

Lily Show On June 20th-21st

Of great interest to all people who are planning to exhibit or attend the Garden Club of Virginia's Lily Show which will be staged by the Dolly Madison Garden Club June 20th and 21st at the Orange County High School, Orange, Va., is the following information on how to preserve lilies in bud, so that they can be shown in full bloom as much as three weeks after cutting. This information is also of value to any flower lover or grower.

The method of saving lilies in full bud is to cut them when the top bud is just about to bloom, wrap each stalk in tight cellophane, and refrigerate at 38-40 degrees in an upright vase containing NO WATER. If kept in this manner it is better to make the show. The stems should be cut a little, placed in water, and be sure to add water often, as they take a lot. If not the day before the show, but the day of the show, place stems in water before leaving home, for the buds will open very quickly in the water and the warmth of the show hall.

To keep lilies in full bud a week or ten days before blooming, cut as above, cover each stalk with cellophane and place in an upright vase in ice water and store in a cool place. Ice must be added every day when stored in this manner.

This Lily Show, in order to be a success horticulturally, requires the support of all members and of the public. So pick your lilies, use your deep freezes, cellars and last but, not least the support of your local food banks and come to the show — to exhibit and to view!

City Employees Made An Issue

A letter to the Sun-News this week which appears elsewhere on this page points up further the fact that the Dunn-Heath-Weary crowd has not been fair with the voter. Since they have been confronted with the fact that they intend to fire all city employees they have issued denials, but the letter today plainly sets out that they have a plan whereby every person presently employed by the city will be fired.

The desperate denial by the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates and their leaders concerning the city's loyal group of employees has been made in the face of known information that they have already selected certain members of their group to fill the various city jobs. It is understood that the Dunn-Heath-Weary crowd has prepared a list of individuals who would replace the present office holders in the positions of city manager, city attorney, city accountant, chief of police, police court justices, and, in some cases, members of the office staff of the various city offices. The writer of the letter stated that he was told they would have the names of those who would replace the fire chief and the director of public works within a few days.

We believe the Dunn-Heath-Weary crowd would fire every city employee without rhyme or reason. We also strongly believe that the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates should come forward and give the voter the names of those who would be fired and the names of those persons who would replace the present city employees. Since the people are aware of their plan to fire city employees we feel there is still time before next Tuesday's election for the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates to disclose this information to the voter. If they want to be men they should do this immediately.

The leaders of the Dunn-Heath-Weary group have denied that they would fire everyone at city hall, but the writer of the letter says he is prepared to call the name of the person among the Dunn-Heath-Weary group who told him of their plan to fire all city employees. This is a serious matter and one that demands from the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates either a complete denial or a complete repudiation of their campaign leaders. We doubt that they will do either of these things since they have shown throughout this campaign their unwillingness or inability to present facts to back up their charges and their innuendoes.

We have never felt that the employees of the city should be an issue in any city election, but the information that has come from the Dunn-Heath-Weary group has made it an issue. The outcome of any election should have no bearing on their jobs if they are performing their duties satisfactorily. But, when a group like the Dunn-Heath-Weary crowd has intentions, as the letter states, to fire city employees, if their candidates are elected, then we feel the issue should be resolved before the election is held.

The Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates should not indict the city's employees by making innuendoes that the city is poorly operated. They should not constantly knock their city as they have done throughout the campaign. They should speak forthrightly as Frank Dusch and John McCombs have done and they should speak plainly to the voters as these two men have done. We feel that the voters of the City of Virginia Beach resent the abuse that the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates have heaped upon our city. We are certain this resentment will be expressed by their votes for Frank Dusch and John McCombs on next Tuesday.

An Apology Should Be Made

The Campaign for the election of city council took a turn this week that we never expected to see take place in a civilized country. This week Leslie A. Weary, campaign manager for the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates, made a speech over the radio in behalf of his candidates.

In this speech Weary said he had the hide of a rhinoceros and then he talked of George Mason and he had this to say, and we quote: "One clan and his staff of serving men have managed to infiltrate most businesses, most churches, most clubs, most charities. They will teach you in Sunday school and then exempt you from the penalty for your weekday peccadilloes or even major misdeeds, if you have the price."

As we said we never expected to see the campaign sink to such a low level when the manager of the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates would get on the radio and criticize people for being active in the church and charitable organizations. And, then to criticize those who are devoted to the cause and willing to give of their time to teach a Sunday school class. And then for Weary to suggest that these men have the power to relieve you of your misdeeds, in our opinion, is sacrilegious. The power to relieve and forgive is a Divine power which can come only from the repentance of those who have committed these misdeeds.

We have often wondered why men who are candidates for public office and their supporters cannot deal in a forthright manner so that the issues will be decided on the qualifications of the candidates and the program for which they stand. And, we've seen the Dunn-Heath-Weary group stray far from this field, but we never expected to see this group's campaign manager criticize people because they were active in churches and taught Sunday school classes. It is alright to take your religion into your politics but you should never take your politics into your religion and Leslie A. Weary should apologize publicly for what he said.

We have often disagreed with him but if he is the man we think he is he will issue this apology at once.

Princess Anne Little League

The opening game on May 26 of the Princess Anne Little League was played between the Hopkinton and the Bears with the Hopkinton winning by a score of 2 to 1.

The winning pitcher was R. Taylor, and the losing pitcher was G. Collier. B. Brinkley got a two batter in the fourth inning and came home on a wild pitch giving the Bears a 2 to 0 lead.

Third baseman P. Wade came thru in the fifth inning with a home run to knot the score. R. Wade singled and was brought home with what proved to be the winning run on a hit by M. Gallagher.

Mrs. William Allen, who donated the field to the Little League, had announced that the first ball to be hit over the fence would get the better a three barbecue dinner. We hope Phillip Wade enjoyed the dinner.

The Minor League games were rained out but will be played on Saturday. It was announced.

On May 25th the American Legion lost no time in taking a lead of 12 to 1 against the Exchange with L. Green the winning pitcher. W. Collins was the losing hurler. L. Green led the winners at bat with two

WRONG AGAIN

Dear Sir:

I see where Mr. Dunn in his paper, I presume of last week — and the reason I presume is that on the front page he had May 24th, and on the other pages he had May 31st — says there is a tug-of-war going on behind the scenes as to who will be tapped for the two positions of colored policemen.

For Mr. Dunn's information, these two men were appointed sometime ago and have already completed their police training, which ended on May 22nd. I am sure Mr. Dunn could have gotten these facts had he wanted to. It might interest Mr. Dunn to know that Mr. Andrew Garrison came to see me and said that if I would support Mr. Cruser and Mr. Seaman they would let me pick these two officers.

Very truly yours,
George Hatchel

THEY'RE SQUIRMING

Editor:

Virginia Beach Sun-News
Dear Sir:
I've been amused at the equanimity which the Dunn-Heath-Weary group is doing over the fact the information has gotten out about their intent to fire everybody at City Hall, and that some of them are now trying to deny this.

I, for one, know it to be true about the firing of the employees because one of their main supporters (and I'm prepared to call his name if necessary) told me that they had already selected persons to fill every job at City Hall with the exception of the Director of Public Works and the Chief of the Fire Department, and that they expect to have someone for those jobs within a few days. This same person also told me that he was responsible for, and was being given the credit for causing Mr. Seaman to run for City Council.

I have not always agreed with everyone at City Hall, but no one can question their honesty or devotion to duty, and I am supporting re-election Frank A. Dusch and John W. McCombs on June 12th.

A RESIDENT?

Editor:

Virginia Beach Sun-News
Dear Sir:
I would like to know on what basis Kenneth Cruser claims to be a resident of the City of Virginia Beach. He claimed his residence as "3500 Holly Road" which is the home of his campaign manager, Leslie A. Weary, but he ought to be fair enough to tell the voters of Virginia Beach if he has ever spent a night there and whether or not the school buses and trucks loaded by Dunn and Heath have made them an effort to smear the character of Chief of Police Reaves E. Johnson. And I call upon these two candidates to now state publicly whether or not, in their opinion, the Council was wrong in unanimously referring this matter to the City Manager, and to state publicly whether or not they approve or repudiate such action taken by Dunn and Heath. They have made them a week to let the citizens of Virginia Beach know just where they stand.

And in behalf of Frank Dusch and John McCombs, I most respectfully solicit your support to vote for them for City Council.

Sincerely,
"Burt" Smith

Durham Defends City Employees Against Dunn-Heath-Weary Attack

Good Afternoon:

I am F. M. Durham, Jr., City Accountant of the City of Virginia Beach. I would like to talk to you first as an employee of the city and secondly as a citizen — and I assure you that, as both, I am deeply interested in the Welfare of our City.

I have been city accountant for four years. I have never before publicly supported a candidate for political office. I would not participate publicly in this election were it not for the denigrating and insinuating remarks that have been made about the city employees. If we employees have nothing to hide, I think you, the public, demand some statement from us.

A paid political AD in the Norfolk Ledger Dispatch on May 23, 1956 said, in behalf of Mr. Kenneth B. Cruser and Mr. Woodbury Seaman — and I quote: "Our City Government, however, is another matter. It has been polluted by years of misrule and inefficiency of office holders. It has been characterized by favors for the few at expense of the many. In its presence, corruption has flourished like the Green Bay Tree." Help us in this needed springing of City Government!

When the position of city auditor was set up at City Hall, I filed a formal application and secured this job on my qualifications as an accountant. Nobody asked me how I voted in the past, and nobody told me how I should vote in the future to hold this position. In the four years which I have been City Accountant, not one person has ever suggested that I do anything that was wrong or that would cast a reflection on my family or myself.

I know the city employees. I work with them — and what I have to say about myself applies to the other employees. I believe you people, who are after all, our employers, reap the fruits of our honest and conscientious work, and we are not responsible for the mismanagement, inefficiency, and nonfeasance on the part of city employees — always in general terms with a blanket indictment of every employee.

If any employee is guilty of any of these serious charges, it is the DUTY of these people to name that employee and the city records insofar as bonded debt and items of financial nature are concerned.

Mr. Cruser has made, in speeches about the bonded debt, statements which would give the impression that the indebtedness is $1,500,000. More than actually is the case. Citizens don't want to hear the City Manager for the responsible positions of City Councilmen, to deal in facts when they are so easily available. Either their knowledge of City Government is lacking or they do not want the facts. All one had to do to get the correct figures was to call on the telephone or come to the City Hall and ask the City Accountant. When the City Manager is in the City Hall, he will find out about the debt of the city. If he had held the interest in the city that he pretends to have, he would have long ago come to City Hall to inform himself.

As Mr. Cruser says in item 2 of his "Cruser-Seaman Platform": "Carefully study and SOLVE problems of Recreational Facilities, Boat Marinas, Fishermen's Interests, Beach Amusement, Public Library, and Student Transportation, all of which can be done with dollars saved through 'Economic Administration'."

Leslie and Crusermen, business men who are candidates for City Council, should have a profound knowledge of the receipts and expenditures of our city, before they make a ridiculous statement like this.

I don't recall having seen these gentlemen at Council Meetings — neither of them has even sought any financial assistance from me as City and County Auditor. Our last pay for the coming year was just passed on first reading, and if they know how to save the city all this money, why haven't they come to City Council with their suggestions?

I might say that since I have been an employee of the City, every budget adopted has been adopted by a unanimous vote of the Council members. I have tried in these few minutes to convey my thoughts and feelings to you — and I say again, that I repeat, for myself and the other loyal employees of our city, the attacks on our character and capabilities. I don't believe that we should be subjected to this sort of criticism to further the political ambition of any group.

As a citizen, I shall cast my ballot on June 12th. Like you, I shall vote for what I believe best for all our city. I know Mr. Frank A. Dusch and Mr. John W. McCombs well. I have been closely associated with them for four years in City Government. I am interested in how they City Employees vote, but I don't believe that Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs have the respect and admiration of the employees — and that, as employees and councilmen, we have worked harmoniously together in your behalf; and I, as a citizen, shall support them on June 12th, and sincerely hope they will be re-elected.

Thank you very much for your interest in the City of Virginia Beach.

New Voter To Support Dusch And McCombs In Tuesday Election

Ladies and gentlemen, I am George Saperstein, and, on the 21th of June I will go to the polls and cast my first vote for I have just become 21 years of age. Like all some people I am extremely nervous about the coming year. I live. I dream it not only a privilege but a responsibility, to vote, for what is best for the entire community.

It has been my privilege to attend our local high school and I am now a student in college. On the 12th of June we are to elect a City Councilman who will serve us for the next 4 years. Everyone should vote according to his own choosing and I intend to vote for Frank A. Dusch and John W. McCombs who are seeking re-election. I did not make this decision until I had made a careful study of what these two men have done for the city and what they propose to do in the future.

Like all the other boys, I believe these two men have honesty and integrity and that they are doing the best for the city. I believe that their record can not be questioned. During their term of office our fine high school began in operation and since I attended and graduated from our high school, I am familiar with its operation, with the type of teachers which we have, and I believe that the school would be a great deal better if it were not for the fact that the school is in the hands of the Dunn-Heath-Weary group.

I know that Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs have not only been active in behalf of our schools but they have done much in behalf of the health of our citizens—they have done so much in establishing playground and recreational facilities. These are the things that the young people of our community need and I am particularly proud of the fact that in their program of progress, Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs have not overlooked the welfare of our young people.

Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs are not trying to get elected by stinging us by talking about their opponents—but by talking about people who make us feel that we should do better. They are not trying to get elected by saying that they stand on their record and that they invite the closest scrutiny of this record between now and election day.

This seems to me to be the way a campaign should be conducted. Candidates should be elected on the basis of qualifications and the things for which they stand. Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs have a program which everyone can join in and help to make effective. When I finish college I hope I can return to Virginia Beach for my permanent home, but regardless of what my calling in life is, I want to see our fine city continue to progress and prosper. I want to see our beautiful city become a more attractive and better place, where we have the business here, men who are boosters of our city. This is the type of men I believe Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs to be.

It is true that our primary business interest here is the tourist industry and you hear people from other areas who visit here speak highly of our city. It is true that we should do what we can to make it attractive to the tourists and to make it so they will want to come back and visit us time and time again. We must also continue to make it attractive to our young people so they too will become permanent residents of our city and I believe this is what Mr. Dusch and Mr. McCombs, along with councilman Frank Saperstein, are trying to do.

I mention Mr. Saperstein's name although he is not a candidate, because I know him so well and know what he has done in behalf of our city. I hope my friends and the young people of the City of Virginia Beach will go to the polls on June 12th and cast their vote for the Re-election of Frank A. Dusch and John W. McCombs.

Do you believe that new business would be moving into our city at a rapid rate? Do you believe that new tourist accommodations and commercial properties would be built at the rapid rate that they are? These improvements would not be built if the city council were not to make it attractive to the business and tourist communities such as our opponents would have you believe that Virginia Beach is.

During Mr. McCombs and my term on the City Council, we have seen our outstanding High School begin in operation, we've seen tremendous improvements in our Elementary Schools. We've seen our Beach Recreation Program begin in operation. We've seen our Recreation facilities established. We've seen a tremendous improvement in our Street System. We have seen obtained from the Federal Government a lease on their water line which resulted in saving our taxpayers $300 thousand. We are about to begin the construction of a City Armory or Convention Hall and we are about to begin the construction of a new Health Center. We have shortly to see begin the construction of Pacific Avenue, which is an important point in our plan.

Now, Ladies and Gentlemen, all of these things didn't just happen. They were brought about by the closest cooperation on the part of Mr. McCombs and myself, and working in complete harmony with the other City Officials, the Agencies of County, State and Federal Government, and most of all by having the support of you, the citizens of Virginia Beach.

Mr. McCombs and myself have a great desire to see you believe to be a progressive one. We believe that with your help and with other City Officials we can put this program into effect.

We again ask that you study this proposed program. If you believe in it, please let it be mentioned to our City Council on June 12th. If you do not believe in it, please let it be mentioned to our City Council on June 12th. Please also let it be mentioned to our City Council on June 12th. Please also let it be mentioned to our City Council on June 12th. Please also let it be mentioned to our City Council on June 12th.

Thank You and Good Night.

I hope you will join with me in voting for Frank Dusch and Joe McCombe on June 12th. Also, please listen to this station tomorrow afternoon at 5:45 P. M. when another important message will be brought to you. I thank you.

National Plant Food Institute Celebrates First Anniversary

Joseph A. Howell, of Richmond, Va., as President of the National Plant Food Institute, today made the following statement at the organization's first annual convention:

"Today we celebrate together the first anniversary of the founding of the National Plant Food Institute."

"In terms of time, we are not very old. In terms of achievement, much has been accomplished."

"Our achievements and our accomplishments reflect deserved credit on the high calibre of our membership, on the Board of Directors, the Executive Committee, the officers and staff of the Institute."

"There is no doubt as to the importance of the fertilizer industry in our national economy. We were the exception rather than the rule in having two trade associations—so, a consolidation of our forces not only was desirable but was inevitable. Thanks to your efforts, your cooperation, and your support, we today, have a stronger voice, a coordinated organization, a competent staff, and practical programs designed to give our industry greater prestige, to focus greater attention on the importance of our products and their contributions toward building a stronger national economy."

"We do have to indulge in flattery when we say that the predecessor organization of the National Plant Food Institute warmly were received among the council tables of agricultural leaders. More important, that acceptability is still enjoyed today by our Institute. But, our first anniversary has even greater significance in terms of strengthening the position of the fertilizer industry in the minds of those organizations and dedicated people, working harmoniously and effectively, for an improved economic position for farmers."

"Let us be realistic in recognizing that our National Plant Food Institute, representing a sizeable segment of our industry, is given more opportunities, more assignments, and greater challenges as one organization, than when we had two trade associations. The creation of the Institute has provided us a more efficient vehicle for working with other organizations fostering a sound land management program in which plant foods play a vital role."

"Yes, the consolidation, the creation of the National Plant Food Institute in the year just concluded, already has paid handsome dividends to the members and to the industry, as a whole."

"And here, I have an opportunity to reiterate what many of you already know: There was relatively little duplication of effort in our two predecessor organizations. Let me cite two examples, both on the asset side of the ledger: One trade association had an aggressive bankers' program designed to create better understanding and facilitate credit. The other association profitably distributed a recorded radio service in which nationally-known authorities focused attention on the importance of plant foods in relation to other sound farming practices. Other examples could be enumerated.

"A program we have taken too much for granted is our safety in the fertilizer industry. Here is still another example of our productive efforts to further increase industry efficiency with dividends of conserving all-important human resources and with substantial savings in insurance premiums."

"Perhaps I could summarize the beneficial effects of the consolidation by pointing with pride to the fact that we have achieved greater efficiency with economy, and without seriously sacrificing programs and projects that have been inaugurated and conducted to increase the public knowledge, acceptance and use of fertilizers."

"In reflecting on our first year of operation, we must look ahead to the challenges and needs for even greater service through our National Plant Food Institute."

"We are more than a billion dollar industry. Each year, we are spending a little more than half-million dollars for promotion—to tell our story, to conduct our programs with the land-grant colleges and our work with the many other organizations, agencies and media that have farmers as their customers. In the years ahead, we will find it necessary to expand our Institute programs, projects and services if we are to meet new competitive conditions. When plant food is the farmers' best buy—when plant food is recognized as one of the most important tools for lowering the unit cost of production—we cannot retrench! A better selling job is still ahead of us."

"Again, I want to thank you, individually and collectively, for the privilege of having served as your President during the first

THE COWBOY'S EQUIPMENT

LARIATS were first used by Spanish cowboys or vaqueros. It was then known as la reata. The lariat is generally carried on the right side of the saddle, a trifle below the horn and coiled in loops about a foot and a half in diameter. This makes it accessible for his right hand to uncoil and throw it, while holding the reins with his left.

BRANDS are a private trade mark which the owner has burned on a calf's hide. Branding started in ancient Egypt over 3,000 years ago and today, more than half a million brands are listed in cowmen associations. Branding has always been an important part of a cowpuncher's ranch work.

SHOOTIN' IRONS are not so much in evidence today as they were when the West was young. The Colt was the gun that made the West and it is still a favorite with cowboys. On the Roy Rogers Show, over NBC-TV, you'll see other authentic glimpses of real Western life.

Stage Show At Beach On Friday

One of America's most unusual stage shows will arrive in Va. Beach to be presented next Friday, June 9 — 8 P. M. at the Va. Beach High School.

The title of the show is "Hell on Wheels" and it's the story of three lusty lads confined to an Army Hospital.

The performers play their parts with most emphatic realism because, you see, they really are confined to wheelchairs. The "Major" parts are played by Paraplegics.

However, this is not a story about Paraplegics; the audience will hardly realize that these men really can never walk again. In fact, in the make believe world of show business portrayed in the story everybody will soon be out of the hospital and fit as a fiddle.

The show is climaxed with a tremendous surprise.

The part of Frank is played by the only man in the cast who can walk in real life. Sally is played by Sue Curry who lives at Va. Beach.

Members of the show are an added attraction. "Hell on Wheels" is produced by a Los Angeles, California, Organization who has made it their business to seek out talented Paraplegics and train them in this profession even though they will never be able to walk again.

The movement has caught on nationally and the demand for "Hell on Wheels" has, indeed, become very widespread. The Ladies Auxiliary to the V. F. W. feels very fortunate to obtain this show. In addition to being very entertaining, it is inspiring, indeed, to see these fellows filling a schedule of performances all over America which is so fast and grueling that it would discourage the strongest man among us; but they do it with a smile.

Wherever the cast of "Hell on Wheels" has gone they have been lauded for the courage they have given the lame and the halt and the incapacitated.

Many handicapped persons who have seen this show have been given "a new lease on life." They desire the wholehearted support of this community with our attendance of their performance and our applause.

Vacation Bible School Starting at Local Churches

The Annual Vacation Bible School of the First Presbyterian Church will begin next Monday, June 11, at the church at 36th and Pacific Avenues. Classes will be held each morning from 9 to 11:30 beginning June 11 and ending June 22.

Children between the ages of 4 through 12 may register for the school any morning during the first week's training and Monday morning of the second week. It is the desire of the school instructors not to register any students after that time.

The Bible School will have the assistance of the church's Director of Christian Education for the first time. Miss Jewel Brandt joined the First Presbyterian Church staff June 1 as Director of Christian Education and is making her home in Virginia Beach.

Mrs. William Huggins will serve as director of the school for her second year and will be assisted by the following lead teachers: Mrs. James V. Sampaio; Mrs. John Musick; Mrs. Leslie Lam; Mrs. James Kellam; Mrs. James Batchelor; and Mrs. Art Colenda. Refreshments of fruit punch and cookies will be served all students each morning.

General theme of this year's Vacation Church School, Virginia Beach Methodist, will be "The Bible". The school, directed by Mrs. J. Douglas Wilson, will run for two weeks from June 11 through June 22. Classes for ages four through twelve will begin at 9:00 A.M. each day and will end at 12:00 noon.

The kindergarten group, taught by Mrs. Leslie B. Gore and Mrs. John L. Smith, will study "Together In Our Church". The Primary Department, under Mrs. R. M. Dillon, Mrs. T. J. Hesley, and Mrs. Coughlin Tillet, will study "Our Bible". The Juniors, led by Mrs. Glenn I. Dill and Mrs. A. L. Hoggard, will study the book, "Discovering the Lands of the Bible". Mrs. W. W. Brittingham is chairman of the Refreshment Committee. All children four through twelve years are invited to attend.

The Vacation Church School of Scott Memorial Methodist Church in Oceana will be held June 11-14 and June 18-21. Classes will be conducted for all children beginning with the Kindergarten, age 4 and including Junior Department 6th grade.

Using "The Bible" as their theme children of various classes will be making dioramas depicting Bible stories, making scrolls and playing school as it might have been in Jesus' time, making maps of Palestine and taking an imaginary trip to the Palestine of today.

School will begin each day at 9 A.M. and close at 11:30 A.M. Mothers and friends are helping with daily transportation and refreshments.

The Virginia Turkey Association again this year held its "Turkey Tour." Much to my sorrow, yours truly had to miss it, as many of you know I've been ill. Peggy and I missed out on one of the most wonderful tours, both educational and enjoyable, that is given for the newspaper, magazine and radio-television food editors.

Here is—

Harrisonburg, Va., May 11—Almost two-acre newspaper, magazine and radio-television food editors and commentators and turkey buyers Friday saw what makes Rockingham County the "Turkey Capital of the East."

They were guests of the Virginia Turkey Association at the third annual "Turkey Tour" which spotlights the $60,000,000 Old Dominion turkey industry. Almost half of that is in Rockingham County and four-fifths of it in five Shenandoah Valley counties.

Concluding the tour this (Friday) afternoon will be an inspection of the Shenandoah Valley Produce Company near here, one of the South's most modern processing plants. Ladies of the Mount Horeb Church near Hinton, Va., served the food experts an old-fashioned turkey dinner with all the trimmings at noon.

Guests, from several states, saw thousands of turkeys on the Rockingham hillside as they journeyed by bus to the various places. They saw first-hand the stages in the production of turkeys from the eggs to the packaged bird ready for the homemaker.

The tour began Thursday afternoon with a program at Big Meadows Lodge on Skyline Drive in Shenandoah National Park. Later Thursday, the guests enjoyed a turkey carving demonstration (with eight turkeys on which to try their own skill) and hospitality hour.

Early Friday they visited Massanutten Hatchery, with a capacity of 127,500 eggs a month, near here to see the poult begin the development into turkeys. Later they stopped at the Charles W. Wampler turkey breeding farm, one of the oldest in Virginia. Mr. Wampler's pioneer work is responsible for the development of the nation's $60,000,000 industry.

The food editors visited John

Wampler's farm between Harrisonburg and Dayton next to see how the turkeys "graze" the ranges provided for them by the growers. They also observed many of her flocks in the vicinity of Ottobine and Hinton.

"Maximum per capita consumption of agricultural products is achieved," Dr. Kenneth D. Naden, agricultural counsel for the National Association of Food Chains, told the guests Thursday, "when the marketing challenge of a product has been met."

That challenge, the former University of California research scientist said, means producing and marketing the product so that it is available in three dimensions—time (year-round availability), space (market distribution) and form (prepared in many ways).

Dr. Naden pointed to three important developments in marketing turkeys: retail promotion of turkeys on a year-round basis, satisfactory freezing and holding procedures which facilitates year-round sales, and development of smaller, sized finished turkeys which broadened the appeal to smaller families.

"Only the closest and most carefully developed cooperation of all segments working in a free market environment can achieve the success which has been reached in the turkey field," Dr. Naden concluded.

E. C. Compton, Stanardsville, Va., was general chairman of the 1956 Turkey Tour. R. Baker Jones, Elkton, Va., was program chairman. Heading other industry committees were Earl Parikh, Staunton; T. M. Trent, Appomattox; Preston Moyers, Broadway; and Homer R. Kline, Harrisonburg.

It is truly a magnificent sight to see the turkeys on the ranges provided for this by the growers.

Now for just a little history of Virginia's Turkey Industry.

The Virginia Turkey Association thinks of Virginia as the birthplace of the turkey industry.

It was in the Old Dominion that the first poult (baby turkeys) were hatched by incubation in a crude box by Sam Blosser. Miss Ruth Wampler (Mrs. Harold Clark) is credited with being the first person to brood turkeys arti-cially.

Charles W. Wampler, Sr., Harrisonburg, Va., is considered the father of the Turkey Industry and is so recognized in the Poultry Hall of Fame. He began his turkey breeding work in 1919. Mr. Wampler suggested the National Turkey Federation in 1934 and later, he served as its first president. Mr. Wampler was president for six years. Chester C. Housh, Elkton, is the immediate past president of the NTF.

During the formative years of the turkey industry, Virginia led all states in the adoption of incubation and brooding of turkeys in mass production. By 1930, the state stood seventh in the country in production, with more than half a million birds produced annually.

The state's growers and processors have kept pace with new turkey developments. The industry has continued to grow. The 1955 Virginia turkey crop was the largest in number on record, with 5,529,000 grown. Gross income from turkeys in Virginia for several years has been roughly $20,000,000 or more.

Virginia ranks third in the nation's production, behind California and Minnesota. Last year Virginia accounted for 8.4 per cent of the country's turkeys. The Old Dominion produces more turkeys than all the New England states plus New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania combined.

Virginia has been the center of production of the Beltville White turkey. The state leads in the production of these light breeds. Growers in the Shenandoah Valley had first commercial flocks of Beltvilles, developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, grown in the nation.

More than three-fourths of Virginia's turkeys are produced in a five-county area of the Shenandoah Valley. Rockingham County alone, which ranks as the second largest producer of turkeys in the nation, accounts for nearly one-half of the state's total. Rockingham County growers last year increased their turkey crop roughly two per cent to a total of 2,555,000 birds.

Other leading counties, in the order of importance, are Shenandoah, Augusta, Page, Frederick and Green. All are in or adjacent to the Shenandoah Valley area.

Yes! Neighbors, I'd say, serve Turkey - Virginia Turkey, often. The very first menu that I planned, after being "out of circulation" for so many weeks - was Turkey, and all the trimmings, good old Rockingham Turkey and if you don't believe me, ask "Hugh-die" Owens of Valley Poultry, he brought it to me.

It's so wonderful to be able to have turkey at all seasons of the year and not just at Thanksgiving and Christmas as it was when I was a little girl.

Just think how nice, it will be to plan a Turkey Dinner for Dad on Father's Day - easy for you too. Mom into the oven and cooked to golden brown. Choose Dad's favorite vegetables and dessert to complete the meal, and what a happy successful day you'll have, if there's any left, save me a turkey sandwich. Bye— Now!

FLY-SWATTER STILL IMPORTANT AID

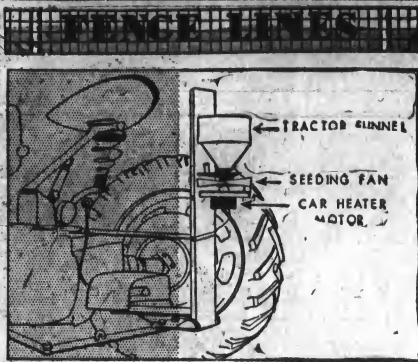

A fly-swatter, and an insect light trap are still among the most effective insect weapons, VPI specialists say.

Entomologists say "just keeping them out" is an effective as numerous sprays, dusts, and powders. Some of the many insects that can be excluded are flies, mosquitoes, gnats, moths, and several night-flying insects. Others that can be kept out of the house to some degree include boxelder bugs, elm-leaf beetles, cluster flies, wasps, and hornets. These often seek shelter in a house during the winter and come out when the heat of the house warms them up.

Making the house reasonably insect tight is the first and most effective step. Use good screens on all windows and have a screen door on each door that is opened often. Keep basement windows closed or tightly screened.

Fatty or a caulking compound can be applied to small cracks around windows and doors and other openings. Besides keeping out the unwanted pests, the house will be warmer in winter because of the additional insulation.

Insects often enter along the

foundation wall. A little concrete or caulking compound will prevent this.

When a few pests still get in the house, use an insecticide. It

OVERLOADING UNPROFITABLE FOR PIGS GOING TO MARKET

Overloading is one of the main causes of hog deaths enroute to market during hot weather, warn VPI livestock specialists.

To get your hogs to market in good selling condition, ask your trucker to load a few less than a full load when the temperature is climbing. A few less hogs will allow maximum ventilation and will ensure safe delivery at market.

FEEDING IMPORTANT IN GROWING PULLETS

Proper feeding is the most important factor in growing good pullets, say VPI poultry specialists. They have a few specific tips for this time of year:

Keep a good growing mash before the pullets all of the time. See that the birds have access to clean water every hour of the day.

After the birds are 6 to 8 weeks of age, mix whole grain and mash and grit before them.

Give all of a good scratch grain they will eat for two to three hours in the afternoon.

When milk or milk products are available, whole grain and milk may be substituted for mash.

FOUR-H BOYS NAMED TO COMPETE IN SHEEP SHEARING

Seven 4-H club boys in Virginia have been named to compete for state honors, and a trip to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago in November.

The state contest is scheduled for June 18-21 at VPI, and will be a feature of the annual State 4-H Short Course.

SHRUBS AND ROSES MAY BE PLANTED YET

The tin can is making it possible to prolong the planting season for shrubs and perennials throughout much of the year, says A. S. Beecher, associate horticulturist at VPI.

The idea is to plant the shrub or rose, or even small trees, in tin cans. At first the cans used were merely containers, such as lard cans and others from various stores. Now cans have improved and are made especially for transplanting.

Formerly, it was necessary to cut the cans to remove the plants and they were of no use for future plantings. Now, however, the cans telescope and are used again and again. It's easy to remove the plant by turning the container upside down and tapping lightly. The plant and ball of dirt are easily removed and set.

The only danger in planting at this time of the year is moving the plant and the ball of dirt from the container. If this is not done carefully and the ball of dirt is broken, the plant may be lost. So, if you plant to lengthen your planting season by using plants grown in tin cans, be careful in removing them from the containers.

MARKETING QUOTAS PROCLAIMED FOR 1957 WHEAT CROP

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today proclaimed a national marketing quota for the 1957 crop of wheat, subject to approval by growers voting in a referendum on July 20. He also established the national acreage allotment for the 1957 crop at 55 million acres, the level specified by the law under present conditions of excessive supply.

"This marks the fourth successive year that abnormally large wheat supplies have required the proclamation of marketing quotas for the next wheat crop," Secretary Benson commented in making today's announcement. "It is the third successive year for which the national acreage allotment has had to be set at 55 million acres, the minimum specified by law."

"All the wheat we are likely to need for 1957 production, determined according to the formula in the legislation, could be produced on an acreage of about 12.4 million acres. If it were not for the legal 'minimum,' the national allotment could be dropped to that level.

"The plain fact is that, in spite of valiant attempts to channel more wheat into exports, we will still have enough wheat for the marketing year beginning July 1, 1956, to take care of all our domestic and export needs for more than 2 full years. The carryover, again, will exceed a billion bushels. Production, even though from the minimum legal allotment, is still so large that it practically equals an entire year's wheat disappearance.

"While we are hopeful about holding down the carryover into 1957-58, wheat continues as one of the most serious problems in the whole farm economy. Surpluses accumulated under high price-support programs, at a tremendous cost to the Government, still adversely affect farm prices. As of April 18, the Commodity Credit Corporation had in inventory about 917 million bushels of wheat, costing $2.5 billion. Wheat storage charges run on, at a cost of around $180 million a year.

"This situation points up the need for the Soil Bank, which farmers can use to bring about additional adjustments in production without further reducing their incomes."

James K. Polk was President when the Naval Academy opened on October 10, 1845.

FT. STORY SPORTS

The Fort Story Dukys played host to a powerful nine from Fort Lee over the weekend and dropped a two-game set to run their losing streak to five games.

The series opener against the 'big Lee Travelers was an extra inning affair, the Dukys losing an 8-4 decision in the 10th inning. In that frame, the visitors reached loser Milan Cop for four runs on six hits to break a 4-4 tie. Included in the outburst was a three-run triple by Lee's Bob Mathis.

Story almost pulled the game out of the fire in the ninth inning as Jim Bace reached first on an error and was sacrificed to second by George Gonzales. With the winning run in scoring position, Bill Crook walked and Buzz Keller lined a single to center field. Paces raced around third in an attempt to score the clincher, but was thrown out at the plate on a perfect throw by center fielder Murphy.

Cop went all the way on the mound for the Dukys to absorb his first loss against three wins. Jim Lore was the winner. The second game was taken by the Travelers, 5-1. Story matched the record to read nine wins and seven losers.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

The Norfolk Office of the Virginia Division of War Veterans Claims advises that the office Director, Mr. Harry P. Carper, Jr., in the Roanoke Veterans Administration Building, has released information for immediate distribution to the press, advising that the President has recently signed a new law which strengthens the advantages to be trained by youths who wish to enlist for 8 month training and subsequent reservist status under last year's Reserve Forces Act.

Heretofore these youngsters were covered by the free $10,000 indemnity during the 6 months of training and for 30 days thereafter. Under the new act the indemnity coverage is extended to 120 days after service, but the important privilege not available is the right to obtain post-service GI insurance. Before this new law was enacted GI insurance could be granted only to those trained by the Veterans Administration to have compensable disabilities incurred in service. Those without service-connected disabilities were not entitled to any type of GI insurance.

Like any other person being released from active duty the trainee must make application and pay his first premium within 120 days from the date of discharge. Those with a disability have one year from the date the Veterans Administration determines that the disability exists to a 10% degree and that it occurred during this possible. The law of spiritual growth call for direction from the word of God. The opportunity is greatest if we have this training from the earliest days. As someone has said, "The ones getting the children will get the world."

Moore's office is one of the sixteen offices of the Division throughout Virginia which maintain free service by trained personnel to assist veterans, and their dependents and survivors, with their Government forms, and applications for any benefits to which they may be entitled under legislation.

ANTARCTIC ACTIVITY
Among the nations who plan to send scientists to the Antarctica are Japan and the Union of South Africa. The Japanese base is on the Prince Harold Coast. The Union of South Africa will continue activities on Marion Island and may operate a station on Bouve Island. German scientists are planning expeditions to the Queen Mary Coast and Queen Maud Land.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) children's souls; (2) for the sake of his community and nation; (3) for the sake of the Church itself; (4) which adds his moral and spiritual support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Q. You're a home maker and mother?
A. Yes

Q. Do you and your family attend Church?
A. Every week, unless prevented by illness.

Q. Surely you don't take the children when they're small?
A. Oh yes. It's been proved that habits formed during the first five years establish a pattern for life.

Q. When it's raining or snowing doesn't it often seem best to stay home?
A. No. Bad weather doesn't usually keep us from doing other things we want to do. Besides, children go to school on rainy days so why not to Church and Bible School?

Q. Then you feel regular worship is good for a family?
A. Not only good but necessary. Religious training is the fourth R, and the most vital part of our learning to live.

RIGHT EMPHASIS

More than three million babies are born in the United States each year. This means one short generation of the wrong emphasis changes the trend of the life of the United States and affect the life of the world. Those who get the children will have the potential of all they can do and become. If we do not train them in the ways of religion then we can expect them to follow a pagan path.

This places before us a challenge of making our homes religious that our children may be trained in the ways of religion. Some feel this training to be the duty of the church or synagogue. Motives and attitudes are influential in the life of the very early. The church can be greatly implemented in its work if the home is cooperative. As the home goes so goes the church.

How do we grow up? The laws of physical growth apply to make

Facts, Fancy About Electrical Storms

Is it dangerous to carry an umbrella during a lightning storm? Do television antennas create a lightning hazard? Should you hide in a closet, go down cellar, or sit in your car when bolts of lightning start flashing?

Separating the facts from the fancy has been one of the projects undertaken by the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company in Boston. About 400 persons die each year because of electrical storms. More than 43,000 fires a year are attributed to lightning, causing damages estimated at $43,600,000.

No, it isn't dangerous to carry an umbrella, reports the Institute. The mass of metal is very small and the overall height of the person carrying the umbrella is not sufficient to greatly increase the chances of being struck by lightning. Actually, the open umbrella is more likely to result in a traffic accident through obstruction of vision.

As for radio and television aerials atop houses, it is true that high points attract lightning. Antennas should be provided with well-grounded lightning arresters. If at all possible antennas should be on self-supporting masts or poles. Antennas located wholly inside the building do not require lightning arresters.

Hiding in a closet is the height of folly, advises the Institute for Safer Living. Getting under a bed is useless, too. There seems to be little point in going down cellar. The greatest hazard from lightning is from a possible ensuing fire. Common sense would dictate staying at or above ground level to make certain of a rapid exit in case of fire.

An all-metal enclosed automobile is a safe place to be in during an electrical storm, provided it is located free of the danger of being struck by falling objects. Occupants of such an automobile are safe as long as they remain in the car. It is possible for lightning to charge the car body so that a person leaving the vehicle could be seriously shocked or electrocuted. After such a hit or near miss, the Institute advises all occupants to remain in the car from 10 to 15 minutes to allow the charge to drain off.

If you are caught outdoors and are unable to get into an all-metal enclosed automobile or a building, the safest thing to do is to lie flat on the ground or under a single isolated tree, warns the Institute for Safer Living.

STORMS KILLS BIRDS

Experts have found that hail storms causing complete crop destruction also result in nearly complete destruction of wild life. Storms covering hundreds of square miles have been known to destroy at least 100,000 wild fowl.

Birds, born and reared near the water, almost never learn to swim—the water's too cold.

VA To Test New Drug

Veterans Administration announced it soon will conduct one of the first large-scale cooperative projects investigating the value and use of the new tranquilizing drug for mental illness.

Dr. Jesse F. Casey, director of VA's psychiatric and neurology service in Washington, D.C., said the research is expected to provide the answers to many questions now available to medical science.

The general outline of the research will follow the well known VA-Armed Forces studies of the so-called "wonder drugs" for tuberculosis in which the findings over the last 10 years have been used by medical science throughout the world for the more successful treatment of TB.

The first objective of the tranquilizing drug research, Dr. Casey said, will be to determine the value of the different drugs now in use for the treatment of mental illness and those that may be introduced in the future.

Once the value of each drug has been established, he said, the next step will be to determine the adequate dosage for different types of patients, how long the drug should be administered, and many similar questions.

Dr. Casey said the study will be a carefully planned enterprise in which all participating hospitals will agree in advance on procedures which they will follow.

Dr. Casey said participating hospitals will join the project voluntarily, with the understanding it will not prevent individual investigations from conducting research projects of their own.

General approval of the cooperative project was noted in principle at a meeting of 44 VA hospitals and seven mental hygiene clinics in the VA hospital at Downey, Ill., recently.

The resources of the VA's Central Research Service and those of the National Research Council will be used in planning and executing the nationwide drug research project, Dr. Casey said.

FORT STORY NEWS

Some 1,500 Army Transportation Corps troops who had been training at this seaside post since May 25 for summer operations in the western sector of the DEW (Distant Early Warning) Line departed June 4 to make way for another 1,500 men who will practice the work they will do on the eastern end of the line.

The incoming unit is the 368th Transportation Battalion from Fort Eustis. It replaced Eustis' 149th Transportation Battalion, which includes 211 tracked landing vehicle and DUKW operators and mechanics trained at Fort Story. The 368th will train here June 6 - 15.

The 3,000 men of the two battalions will leave the U. S. in July to unload supplies at DEW Line radar sites in the Arctic.

Fort Story will send 15 DUKW's to "Superduck" and two BAC's to Fort Eustis to participate in Combat Support Problem 21, June 7 - 26. Object of the problem is to demonstrate how the Transportation Corps would use all modes of Transportation - water, highway, rail and air - in a combat situation.

The DUKW, Superduck and BAC are all wheeled amphibians capable of operating on land or water.

Among those who will witness the support will be military and civilian officials, ROTC cadets from colleges and universities all over the nation and cadets from the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

Early in Fiscal Year 1957, Fort Story troops will be able to have newly purchased uniforms altered and pressed by the post Quartermaster Clothing Sales Store - free of charge. Capt. Herman W. Mills, consolidated property officer, mentioned these improvements among many that will be made on the store in the near future.

With improved service will come improved facilities. New show cases and lighting fixtures will be installed. Manikins will model the latest military fashions, and the building will get a new heating plant. The altering and pressing service was included "in plans for initial issue of the new AG 44 uniform."

Plans also call for the facility to stock organizational clothing and equipment - something that heretofore has not been done at Fort Story.

Units and parts of units which will participate in Operation SUNEK (Support Units Northeast Command) in the far North this summer continued their caudex from this post May 29 as an advance party of five men from the 565th Terminal Service Company departed for Harmon Air Force Base, Newfoundland.

Destination of the 565th is Frobiisher Bay, Baffin Island, Canada. The advance party will join the unit at Frobiisher Bay in July after performing maintenance on equipment which will be moved from Harmon to Frobiisher.

SUNEK outfit will resupply air base and radar sites in the Northeast Air Command. The 155th Terminal Service Company left for Sondrestrom, Greenland, May 23. Other SUNEK units which will depart in July are Detachments 1 and 2 of the 605th Amphibious Truck Company and the 554th BA RC Platoon.

A roundup of Memorial Day activity shows that all three of Fort Story's battalions participated in services held by nearby communities May 30 to honor U.S. servicemen who died in the eight wars in which this country has fought.

A company from the 376th Transportation Battalion marched in a Memorial Day parade in Portsmouth. The 14th Transportation Battalion sent a company and seven DUKW's to a parade in Norfolk, and a company and six DUKW's of the 10th Transportation Battalion took part in a parade at Virginia Beach.

Two firing squads from this post also took part in Memorial Day services. An 18-man squad from Headquarters Company, 5th Transportation Terminal Command and "B" participated in an observance conducted by the Norfolk Colored Memorial Association.

An eight-man squad from the 344th Transportation Company fired a Memorial Day volley for Virginia Beach American Legion Post 113.

More parades are in store for Story's marching troops. A company and six DUKW's from the 376th Transportation Battalion will be included in a Virginia Beach "Golden Jubilee Parade" June 9. The parade is one of many events scheduled by the resort city in celebration of its 50th anniversary.

Winner of the post "Best Mass" award for May was the 376th Transportation Company. The w.n.

was the first for the unit this year. Mess sergeant is Sergeant First Class Samuel W. Plakoy.

The 347th Transportation Company, winner of the "Best Mass" award for April, won the "Best Supply" award for May. Sergeant Oscar C. Rice replaced Sergeant First Class Fred A. Antosh as unit supply sergeant May 21.

WHOOOPS! WERE SAFE
Puberty "to prevent" hangers from accidentally shooting whooping cranes resulted last year in 8 young whooping cranes and 20 adults reaching Texas safely from Canadian breeding grounds. This bird, is extremely rare and is in danger of extinction.

SPEED ON THE WING
In tests of bird speed, British ornithologists have found that the herring gull seems to be fastest with a speed of 94.3 miles per hour. Golden plover, hummingbird, mallard duck, and swift fly at about 60 m.p.h. An article in The American People Encyclopedia Yearbook for 1956 reports that studies indicate migrant birds fly faster than those cruising around home and that flocks fly faster than single birds. Falcons, while not the fastest in flight, can attain speeds of 300 miles an hour when swooping on prey from great heights.

There are more than 7 million items used in the construction of the complex modern submarine.

Ideas for the Modern Homemaker

By Mrs. Elizabeth D. Deal
County Home Agent

With warm weather here there will be a growing tendency to skip meals and to drink lots of fluid foods. It is hoped that all families will be careful to see that each of the seven basic foods is found in the diet at least once each day.

One of the ways to insure getting enough of group two, the so called citrus group, is to keep juices made up and in the refrigerator when folks come in for the extra fluid which all of us drink during the hot days. Orange and grapefruit alone, or in combination and lemonade are well all available and the per serving cost is low when the food value obtained is considered. By varying these foods will not tire of them quickly. To aid in giving a better variety there is now on the market a pink lemonade which would be especially interesting to children. It can be used alone or mixed with other juices and is very nice for summer parties. To serve, empty the contents of the can into a pitcher or jar, add four cans cold water and ice as desired. Stir or shake well. This makes one quart of lemonade. Here are two other recipes with a suggested menu for a picnic.

FROTHY PINK COOLER
Prepare cooled by pouring contents of one 6-ounce can of Frozen Concentrate for Pink Lemonade into a jar or pitcher, adding four cans of cold soda or plain water. 2 egg whites, and cracked ice. Shake until chilled and frothy. Serve with cracked ice and top with lemon slices. Makes one quart. With hamburgers and potato chips, and a platter of various vegetables as celery sticks, carrot sticks, and tomato wedges, this makes a good picnic menu.

PINK LEMON RICKY
To prepare Ricky, pour contents of one 6-ounce can of Frozen Concentrate for Pink Lemonade into pitcher or jar, and add four cans (glacier size) lemonade (can). Fill glasses and float a scoop of lemon or orange sherbet on top of each. Garnish with lemon slice and maraschino cherry. Makes one quart.

OVERSHOES FOR SAFETY
Rubber overshoes rarely are listed as equipment for home laundering. But if the floor around the washing machine gets wet — as it often does — then wearing rubber overshoes is protection against the possibility of electric shock.

quart. Try this one for a Saturday night square dance party.

SANDWICHES
Are used in the summer time that can be prepared quickly, and when used with fresh vegetables and a nourishing drink they will serve very nicely for a lunch or supper. However, let's not forget that we need some hot food during the summer and one meal during the day should contain a meat, 2 vegetables, a salad, bread and a dessert preferably fruit which is abundant at this season. Here are three sandwich fillings which may be a little different from the ones you usually use and therefore, might be especially enjoyed by your family.

HAM-APRICOT SANDWICH FILLING
1 cup chopped cooked ham
1/2 cup apricot puree
Combine ham and apricot puree. Yield: 1 cup, or filling for 5 sandwiches.

VEGETABLE SANDWICH FILLING
1/2 cup finely diced, cooked asparagus
1/2 cup finely diced, cooked carrots
1/4 cup cooked peas
1/4 cup finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon chopped green onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
Drain the cooked vegetables very well, using absorbent paper. Add celery, green onion, salt, mustard and mayonnaise.

Yield: 1 cup or filling for 5 sandwiches for different types of milk drinks which you might enjoy.

Next week we'll give some recipes of different types of milk drinks which you might enjoy.

Lt. Samuel W. Hill Graduates At Fort Sill

Second Lt. Samuel W. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Hill, 303 Cavalier dr., Virginia Beach, Va., recently was graduated from the field artillery officers basic course at The Artillery and Guided Missile Center Fort Sill, Okla.

The 12-week course trained Lieutenant Hill in the duties of a field artillery battery officer. The lieutenant entered the Army last February. He is a 1956 graduate of the Virginia Military Institute. He was an employee of the Berkley Feed Corporation in Norfolk.

The Virginia Rural Safety Council says if there should be a short circuit, the rubber will prevent the current from using your body as a path from the machine to the wet floor. Standing on a dry mat gives protection, but keeping the mat dry often is difficult.

LUNCHEON LOAF — PIZZA STYLE

If time is limited the handy canned meats on your cupboard shelf will come to your rescue. VFI food specialists say the next time you're called on to prepare a hurry-up meal or snack, try luncheon loaf — pizza style.

First, open a can of the double-flavored luncheon meat made of beef and pork. Cut the loaf into thin slices. Pan-fry the slices in a skillet until browned on one side. Then turn with a board spatula. Spread the browned side with some chili sauce. Top with shredded sharp cheese. Sprinkle on a little oregano. Go easy with this herb. A little goes a long way. Then cover the skillet and heat slowly until the cheese melts.

Serve the seasoned luncheon loaf slices between toast or split toasted buns.

CUPBOARD ARRANGEMENTS

When arranging a cupboard it is wise to put only like things behind each other and to stack only dishes of identical size in the same pile so that one will not have to be moved in order to get to another.

CRACKER CRUMBS

If crackers are placed in a sealed plastic bag before they are broken into crumbs, they will not scatter all over the floor, and they can be stored in the same plastic bag.

Funds For U. S. 13 Are Allocated

The State Highway Commission has announced award of a $228,753 contract to complete the dividing of US Route 13 to the Little Creek ferry. The present two-lane section, between Diamond Springs and the ferry entrance, carries an average of 6,929 vehicles daily.

The contract for 1.22 miles of four-lane highway went to E. V. Williams Co., Inc., Norfolk, and W. H. Scott, Inc., Franklin, who submitted a joint low bid at a highway letting May 16.

Including engineering charges, work at the railroad, and roadside erosion control by State forces, the project will cost $257,952.

Resident Engineer E. H. Orange, of Norfolk, said the old road will be used as the eastbound lane and the new road for westbound traffic. The new lane will require a bridge over the Norfolk water works canal.

The project is expected to be completed about the end of the year. The contractors will be allowed 200 days after official notice is given to proceed with construction, excluding time lost because of uncontrollable conditions.

Sgt. Edwards On Duty In Korea

Army Sgt. Willard R. Edwards, whose wife Rosella, lives at 2722 Kinsey ave., Baltimore, recently was assigned to the 7th Infantry Division in Korea.

Continuing his training, the "Bayonet" division is the only U.S. Army division that has remained in Korea since the cease-fire.

Sergeant Edwards, a member of Headquarters Battery of the division's 48th Field Artillery Battalion, was stationed at Princess Anne, Va., before arriving in the Far East in April of this year.

The sergeant, son of Mrs. Frances R. Edwards, 720 Eighteenth st., Virginia Beach, Va., attended Hampton Institute before entering the Army in August 1950. He completed basic training at Fort Custer, Mich.

Dairy cows with a continuous water supply will produce four percent more milk and 10 percent more butterfat than cows watered twice a day.

N & W Giving Reduced Rates To Va. Beach

Greatly reduced summer round-trip fares to Norfolk and Virginia Beach have been announced by the Norfolk and Western Railway. The weekend excursion coach fares will be over 25 per cent cheaper than regular round-trip tickets.

Tickets will be sold for all trains going each Friday and Saturday until September 16 with return limits of twelve days after date of sale. They will be honored on coaches of all trains, including The Powhatan Arrow. Beginning June 9 Virginia Beach buses will handle passengers directly to and from Trains 3 and 4 The Pocahontas. Tickets will be sold at all points on the main line, Cincinnati and Columbus through Lynchburg and on the Roanoke-Winston-Salem and Radford-Bristol lines.

Marine History

Wherever in the world they are serving, U. S. Marines have chaplains with them, but not necessarily houses of worship.

In far-off Okinawa, members of the 3rd Marine Division at Camp Hansen were without a chapel. Church and synagogue services were held in their "multi-purpose" building, the mess hall.

Odoriferous cooking cabbage blending with religious services just didn't ring true for the devout Leathernecks.

Now, a chapel stands proudly on a piece of ground overlooking the ocean. The Marines have built their own.

From unknown nooks and crannies, from one storeroom or another, the materials were gathered together by some 50 men donating their off-duty hours.

Ground was cleared by a bulldozer. Then a spare hospital tent went up. Church pews an altar, platform, and altar rail were nailed into shape and painted. For the Christmas services a cross was constructed to adorn the top of the structure. One hundred loads of sand from the beach embellished the natural landscaping, and the final touch was the transplanting of some trees and shrubs.

Lt. William Y. Epling Stationed In Europe

First Lt. William Y. Epling, 24, son of Colonel and Mrs. Fenton Epling, 150 Pinewood rd., Virginia Beach Va., is a member of the 37th Engineer Battalion in Germany.

Lieutenant Epling has been in Europe since July 1955.

He is a 1954 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

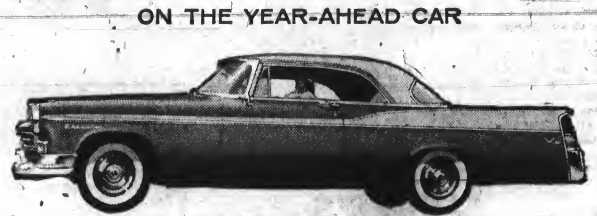

AN AGE OF CHANGE

"Pigs Is Pigs" became an immortal American phrase long ago, with the publication of the enormously successful little story of that title. And it would seem only reasonable to most of us that the pig, or any other kind of livestock, will never change much if at all.

However, we live in an age of irresistible change...and meat and meat animals aren't immune. A short time ago, at Washington State College, scientists from the meat industry and from educational institutions told of new developments in the production and marketing of meats which may effect peaceful and beneficial revolutions in the future. The director of laboratories for one of the leading packers showed a jar of raw meat that had been kept at room temperature since 1948. It was perfectly fresh still...exposure to a radioactive material had killed the bacteria and prevented spoilage. He also forecast that in time we'll be able to buy canned raw meat, sterile, unpasteurized milk and shell eggs that will keep indefinitely.

Another forecast was that cattlemen will be able to pick at birth the animals which will produce beef most quickly and cheaply.

English muffins toasted split and buttered make a wonderful idea for breakfast if you finish them off with soft maple sugar and a grating of cheese and pop into the broiler for a few minutes until the sugar seeps through the muffin and the cheese bubbles. Try some black cherry jam on vanilla ice cream if you're looking for a special treat in the way of a dessert. If you want it more fancy add a bit of crystallized ginger and whipped cream for the dressing up.

Corned beef hash is quite a dish if you spice it with a few herbs and sprinkle with lemon juice and a bit of butter before baking.

Add some chopped chives and sieved hard-cooked egg to your next batch of mayonnaise before you use it as dressing for a salad. It's most effective.

Dusch and McCombs Hand Anti Ticket Smashing Defeat At Polls

Post Election Survey Reveals Various Reasons For Outcome

The Sun-News conducted a post-election survey Wednesday morning in the wake of the crushing defeat handed the anti-organization ticket for council by Mayor Frank A. Dusch and Vice-Mayor John W. McCombs. The results of the survey were revealing and help, in some measure, to explain the overwhelming victory scored by the Democratic Organization.

The survey revealed that the defeat of the anti-organization forces, or the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates, was based primarily on issues and individuals. The survey revealed the following factors that a cross-section of citizens felt contributed to the defeat of the Dunn-Heath-Weary ticket:

- (1) The underhand article and revealing adverse publicity for Virginia Beach appearing in the Washington Post-Times Herald on Sunday, June 10, 1956.
- (2) The "smear" type campaign conducted by the Dunn-Heath-Weary crowd.

- (3) Lack of a realistic program by the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates.
- (4) The attempt by this group to draw business places, particularly banks, into the political campaign.

The individuals, the survey showed, who contributed to the crushing defeat suffered by the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates were the following:

- (1) Overwhelming reputation of Dunn, Heath and Weary as campaign leaders.
- (2) Other individuals the survey revealed contributed to the defeat of the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates were Brathwaite, Standing and Bryant, but most complaints were of Dunn, Heath and Weary.

- (3) Many voiced the feeling that they did not want Billy McClellan as Mayor, which would have resulted in a Dunn-Heath-Weary victory.
- (4) The survey showed that many voters did not feel the Dunn-Heath-Weary candidates had independence of thought because of their leaders.
- (5) Resented Bill Everett calling prospective voters on the phone stating their vote would be challenged if they appeared to vote.

On the positive side of the election the major items on the results of the election were:

- (1) Praise for the Organization candidates.
- (2) Progressive program offered by the Organization candidates.
- (3) Progress the city has made under the Organization administration.

Seaside Flower Jubilee Set For Showing Here On June 23 - 24

The Seaside Flower Jubilee, which is being presented by the Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County, June 23rd and 24th, at the Virginia Beach High School Gymnasium, will be in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of Virginia Beach.

This show is the Council's way of helping celebrate the "Golden Jubilee," said Mrs. Gilmore Lee Talbot, President, Wand, although the various garden club members have united many times in beautification and other projects, this is the first time all clubs have worked together on a flower show.

"The show will be unique in that the entire planning has been to play up flowers and other attractions of the area," said Mrs. David Stormont, Chairman for the show.

"Classes with sea shells and driftwood will be feature attractions," according to Mrs. E. A. Hoffmeister, schedule chairman, "and even the table arrangements will be of the informal and buffet or bar type favored so much for entertaining in our resort area."

Horticulture classes will be an outstanding attraction as many plants thriving in sandy soil will be featured, as well as roses and gardenias which prefer the clay type soil. "In fact," said Mrs. Nathan Bundy, horticulture chairman, "we are particularly lucky in that here is the only vicinity on the Eastern Coast where flowers that do well in both Northern and Southern climates are to be found."

The Junior Division which is open to teenagers from 12 to 16 is one of the most unusual ever found on a schedule. There are five classes representing: 1. Popcorn, an all white arrangement; 2. (Soda Pop), an arrangement in bottle; 3. (Hamburgers and Hot Dogs), an arrangement in a basket; 4. (Milk) an arrangement in a mug; and 5. (Lemonade), an arrangement in a pitcher. A special award will be given the winner of this class.

Jaycees Ask Probe Of Mr. Universe Title

The Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce is requesting and strongly urging that the Amateur Athletic Union conduct a thorough investigation into the judging of the "Mr. Universe" contest held in Virginia Beach last weekend.

The request for such an investigation was made in a letter from the local Jaycees to the AAU, released Wednesday. The letter follows:

Mr. Carl Hansen
National AAU, President
Oakland, California

Dear Mr. Hansen:

Some three months ago, the Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce agreed to sponsor and conduct a Mr. Universe contest at the request of the Virginia Beach Special Events Corporation, an organization set up by the City Council to conduct a Golden Jubilee program for the city, with the Special Events Corporation receiving all profits or bearing losses.

Mr. Buck Cowling, an employee of the Special Events Corporation, obtained the AAU sanction for the contest and was assigned to work with the local club on the project. The Jaycee organization set to work organizing a top-notch show with background and staging which would do honor to any such contest.

As plans for all aspects of the contest were carefully formulated, the question of judging committee was discussed. Mr. Cowling informed the club that arrangements had been made by the Golden Jubilee Committee for Mr. Bob Hoffman, Olympic Weight Lifter, Team Coach, U.S. AAU Official and a Physique Magazine Editor, and himself to handle the contest, judging. This arrangement was considered highly satisfactory by the club.

However, during the final judging Sunday night it became apparent that a strong disagreement existed between those concerned with the judging. This apparently resulted from certain substitutions made by Mr. Hoffman in the panel of judges, with several people concerned questioning Mr. Hoffman's motives in making the changes, and questioning his authority to make any changes in the panel of judges at that point.

Mr. Hoffman insisted in the propriety of his actions and at one point stated that he would remove his boys and there would be no contest if his panel of judges and tally did not stand.

Since this club is not interested in conflicting personalities, business in (Continued on Page Eight)

Re-Elected To City Council

Virginia Beach Mayor Frank A. Dusch, left, and Vice-Mayor John W. McCombs were overwhelmingly re-elected to the City Council in the election held Tuesday. The two councilmen were backed by the Democratic Organization and turned back the bids of two anti-organization foes. The election produced a new record voter of 2429 ballots cast.

Incumbents Win Both Precincts

Mayor Frank A. Dusch and Vice-Mayor John W. McCombs, carrying the Organization colors, scored smashing victories over their anti-organization foes in Tuesday's city council election. A record 2,429 votes were cast in the Virginia Beach election.

The incumbent candidates scored heavily in both Virginia Beach precincts and final tabulation showed a more than three to two margin for Mayor Frank A. Dusch and Vice-Mayor John W. McCombs, victorious in their bids for re-election to the city council in Tuesday's election, issued the following joint statement Wednesday morning:

"We are very grateful to the citizens of Virginia Beach for the confidence they have shown in us by re-electing us to the Virginia Beach City Council. We will devote our energies in carrying out the program for the advancement of our city.

We wish to thank the voters for their support, and particularly our many friends who visited and accompanied our campaign. We are especially grateful," Mayor Frank A. Dusch and John W. McCombs the Organization-backed ticket of Dusch and McCombs.

Showing a decided voter apathy that completely swamped Wednesday's Senator and Kenneth Crum, who had the backing of the anti-organization faction, the overwhelming victory of Dusch and McCombs gave clear indication that the people of Virginia Beach approve of the present city administration and that they prefer the Organization to continue in control of the city's government.

Close to 600 voters separated the two tickets according to unofficial tabulations and the decisiveness of the voting showed conclusively the approval of the city's voters in the Democratic Organization backing the two victorious candidates.

At the larger of the two precincts at precinct one Dusch and McCombs gained a majority of more than 400 votes over their opponents. In the smaller precinct two the incumbents garnered a more than 100-vote majority.

A smashing victory was sensed by Organization supporters when Dusch and McCombs routed substantial majorities in Precinct Two. Precinct One then swelled the overall majority to close to 600 votes.

For the first time voters used the automatic voting machine method to register their votes. No difficulty was experienced in using the machines at either of the two precincts.

Observers agreed that the two elections conducted entirely different types of campaigns with the Organization candidates running on their past record and a proposed 17-point program. The anti-organization based their campaign on an anti-bus claim, the present administration

Chamber Will Conduct "Blitz" Member Drive

The Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce Membership Drive this year, will be a "Blitz Affair." The Drive gets its name from the type of campaign that will be conducted. A horde of drive workers, about seventy-five in number, composed of business and professional men and women will in "blitz fashion" swarm all over the business area during the short period of just a few hours.

The date for the "Blitz" has been set for Tuesday morning, June 19th. On the morning of the "Blitz," all workers will meet for breakfast at 8 A. M. at Mary's Inn, Atlantic & 23rd St. Sharply at 9 o'clock, all workers will descend upon the business areas of the Beach, and diligently canvass all business establishments. The objective is to "sign-up" new member for the Chamber, and to get "regular" members to increase their investment in the Chamber by an increase in membership dues. Workers will be furnished cards bearing the names of "regular" members and "prospective" members to add them in the solicitation. Cards will be grouped by areas or streets so that workers can stay in one given area to complete all their calls. The "Blitz" will last for three hours, from 9 A. M. until 12 noon, and it is expected that the army of work-

B. M. Stapton, Chairman of the Drive, has explained that to give the "Blitz" a realistic effect, "Walkie-Talkies" will be used. They will be stationed at strategic points throughout the business areas, and as new members are signed-up, and regular members increase their dues, names and amounts will be radioed back to Chamber Headquarters, and promptly broadcast over Radio Station WBOF. The Radio Station has extended wonderful cooperation during the Drive, and will constantly broadcast the information and news on the "Blitz," as it is relayed to the Radio Station.

Blitz Workers will receive their first training instruction at a luncheon at the Normandie Restaurant, 2112 Atlantic Ave., at 12:30 Thursday, June 14th. A Second Training meeting will be conducted the night before the Blitz at 8 P. Smashing Victory, Crushing Defeat

The smashing victory scored by the Organization candidates, Frank A. Dusch and John W. McCombs, in the city council election on Tuesday and the crushing defeat of the Dunn-Heath-Weary crowd gives a bright clear picture of the political feelings of the great majority of citizens of the City of Virginia Beach. And, it also further proves the high intelligence of the voters of Virginia Beach.

Marked resentment of the voter to the type of campaign conducted by the Dunn-Heath-Weary crowd and resentment of the leaders of that group is evidenced in the overwhelming majority given to the Organization candidates. The result shows conclusively that Virginia Beach does not want individuals of the Dunn-Heath-Weary crowd to handle the affairs of their city.

We believe that the voters showed their resentment to the campaign of abuse of their city government and its faithful employees that the Dunn-Heath-Weary crowd carried on. The voters strongly resented the underhand newspaper article in the Washington Post-Times that brought adverse publicity to their city and which could have only appeared through the cooperation of that newspaper and Dunn and Heath, who had to pose for the picture which appeared as a part of the article.

On the other hand the smashing victory of Frank Dusch and John McCombs is a symbol of the endorsement of what they stand for and the program that they will help to develop in the future for our city. The tremendous majority vote was the people's stamp of approval to the Organization and its past administration of the city's government.

The margin of victory was a sound repudiation of the Dunn-Heath-Weary crowd and their methods. We congratulate the people for their convincing vote of confidence given to Frank Dusch and John McCombs. They can rest assured that these men will merit this confidence as is evidenced by their past performance in office.

The election was a smashing victory for the Organization and a crushing defeat for the Dunn-Heath-Weary crowd and their candidates.

Let's Get Down To Work And Unity

The council election Tuesday that saw Frank Dusch and John McCombs re-elected by a large majority over their opponents on the Dunn-Heath-Weary ticket is over and done with. Now, it is time for this community to settle down and continue its progressive movement as a leading resort city in which to live.

The bitterness that some individuals exhibited during the election campaign should now be dismissed and in its place should emerge a feeling of cooperation and unity for the good of the entire community.

There is much to be accomplished here and Mayor Dusch and Vice-Mayor McCombs have outlined a progressive program for the future of our city. We feel that these men will see this program through to completion, but it would be much quicker to realize many of these advancements with a true spirit of cooperation among all segments of our citizenry.

Let's put unity into our thinking and through unity Virginia Beach and all of its citizens can enjoy a future filled with prosperity and pleasure for all. Let's talk unity, let's think unity, and let's act unity from now on.

Whitehurst pitching for the Hawks showed his same old steam and went the distance striking out 11 batters. Horton for the Pipers a new boy this year showed lots of steam and was a very fast ball, however he was a little wild but as this is normal for youngsters of this age especially in the first of the season you can be expecting lots of strikeouts from this boy later on. The first run was scored in the first inning by Kull who drew a base on balls and advanced to third by the base on balls of the following batters, then stole home on a wild pitch. In the third inning Terrell of the Pipers collected a hit, was advanced by several base on balls and scored by Horton and Doozy. South Explores Potentials Of Peaceful Atom

Atlanta, Ga.—As a Southerner, you are involved in a tremendously broad atomic energy project which touches the people of 16 states and may benefit you directly — whether you farm, work in a factory, or work in a profession.

Hundreds of specialists throughout 16 states are busy gathering information on how the South can best benefit from atomic energy through regional action. This information will be presented in a region-wide (Work Conference on Nuclear Energy) to be held in August at the request of the Southern Governors' Conference.

Your governor has appointed official delegates from your state to guide this development, which is assembling facts on a broad scale on atomic energy applications in all phases of the region's economy.

Because nuclear energy has such wide and varied applications in industry, agriculture and health, Governor LeRoy Collins of Florida was moved to say, "atomic energy can mean the economic emancipation of the South," when he presented the idea for the work conference to his colleagues last fall.

The Southern Governors' Conference asks the Southern Regional Education Board to undertake the arrangements for the nuclear conference.

Information is being assembled by a corps of specialists in four major fields: agriculture, industry, health and medicine, and how these affect manpower and education.

What does this mean to you? If you're a farmer, atomic energy products and processes can help kill insects, speed up hybridization, help control livestock and plant diseases, and do a myriad other things important in your operation.

At North Carolina State College, atomic energy was used to produce three revolutionary varieties of peanuts. One yields 30 percent more to the than conventional strains, another has a shape tailor-made for mechanical harvesting machinery, and another resists leaf-spot disease.

What does atomic energy mean to you if you work in a factory?

Your job can be made easier in a number of ways. In the tobacco industry, radioactive materials are used to insure uniform packing of cigarettes, and in other industries, radioactive products are used to control the thickness of coatings, rolled metals, and other materials. In addition to making the job easier, these uses of atomic energy help improve the product quality and are creating more and more jobs all the time.

Human and animal health and the treatment of diseases are a third broad field in which atomic energy plays an important role.

By how most people are familiar with some of the benefits which medicine has derived from the atom. But did you know that one hospital in Atlanta alone routinely treats 190 patients a year with radioactive iodine for thyroid disorders? This story is duplicated in hospitals throughout the nation.

Such is the information now being gathered and translated into usable facts on which the governors of the Southern states might base regional and state atomic development efforts.

A report for the Southern Governors' Conference will come out of the August session which will for the first time give a clear, factual picture of atomic energy in the South — now and in the future.

Helping prepare for the work conference are a number of nationally known technical experts from throughout the United States who are presenting data from their special fields.

These experts include research workers in industry, government, and colleges; industrialists using atomic energy in one way or another in their enterprises; agricultural experts; and officials of the United States Atomic Energy Commission, educa-

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

Mrs. Muri Blankenship, Ford, Ark., says that she never children were six and four years old. She was worried until after her husband and both children were born. While they were quite small, a man died in husband with pneumonia. It seemed as if she was going to die and leave her children to live on. This was a terrible thought. She prayed for a few days and then she prayed, "What if my husband should die before God not to let her husband die, and to help all three children." Every night when she went to bed she would ask God to please let both her husband and children live to rear their children. She was worried about this a great deal and couldn't put it out of her mind. Then, one night she prayed, "What if my husband should die before God not to let her husband die, and to help all three children." FORT STORY NEWS

Eight of 26 Army reserve units to receive two weeks of active duty training here during the Spring and Summer arrived June 10. The outfits, with a total strength of about 280 men, are from Virginia, Maine and Pennsylvania.

A total of nearly 1,000 reservists will receive instruction in general military subjects and ship-to-shore amphibious vehicle operations by late August. The remaining 18 companies which will train here will come from Alabama, Florida, Massachusetts, Michigan, New York, Ohio, South Carolina and Wisconsin.

Approximately 540 Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets from 28 states will also train here July 23 - 28.

Maj. Glenn L. King, post plans and training officer, returned June 7 from Takomont, France, where he spent two weeks observing an Army Transportation Corps operation designed to test unit movement to an operating area and capabilities of an aerial tramway which carries cargo from ship-to-shore like a flying stretcher.

Guinea pig for the unit movement test was the 117th Terminal Service Company from Fort Eustis. The outfit, with very little advance warning, was flown to France. There it was augmented with military and civilian personnel.

All cargo, with the exception of several medium tanks which were taken ashore by utility landing craft, was transferred from ship to beach by aerial tramway. The unorthodox method of transportation was used to determine the tramway's ability to lift cargo over a cliff at water's edge.

Attention was also focused on maintaining a dispersed discharge operation. Equipment and supplies were moved by truck from the beach to a railroad 15 miles away. From there, the goods were transported to depots in France and Germany.

The operation was known as NODEX (New Over-the-Shore Discharge Exercise) 9. A characteristic of NODEX problems is the use of real cargo, as opposed to "dummy" equipment and supplies used in some vessel discharge exercises. Major King acted as an observer with two officers from the Office of the Chief of Transportation in Washington.

The post's military vehicle accident rate, as of June 1, was the lowest in two years, according to Post Safety Officer 1st Lt. Robert Clifford.

Clifford reported that at the beginning of the month the rate was down to 97 accidents per 100,000 miles of vehicle operation.

The safety officer attributed the decrease in accidents to increased emphasis on safe driving through remedial drivers' training courses, safe driving awards and safety posters.

The aim now, Clifford said, is to keep down the number of accidents this summer by emphasizing a (slow down and live) campaign which began Memorial Day and will end Labor Day.

He added that, in his opinion, "post personnel are and should be

FT. STORY SPORTS

Fort Story's Dukwa had a four game winning streak snapped by a visiting Fort Belvoir nine in the second contest of a two-game set last week.

The Storymen racked up their fourth straight win in the first game, defeating Belvoir, 3-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Charlie News.

The visitors scored their lone tally in the third inning on a homerun by Fields. Story was held scoreless until the seventh, when Jimmy Pace and Bill Crook singled. Shortstop Buzz Keller scored Pace with a double, and Crook scored from third on a fielder's choice. The Dukwas added another run in the eighth.

Belvoir bounced back from Monday's defeat to hand the Dukwas a 9-3 setback the following day.

First baseman Perry Fields led a 13-hit Belvoir barrage against two Story hurlers. The big first sacker drove in four runs with a homer and two doubles before retiring from the game with a pulled leg muscle.

Losing pitcher was Milan Cop, who started for Story but was relieved by Dean Tyner after four innings. Walt Miller pitched the win for Belvoir. He relieved Frank Carter, who left the game in the second inning after being hit by a line drive.

Norfolk's Navy Tars evened their season series with the Dukwas Thursday with a 10-3 win on the Story diamond.

The sailors scored a run in the first inning and were never headed as winning pitcher John Stevens blanked the Dukwas for seven innings. All the hours' runs were scored in the eighth on a walk and four consecutive hits.

Highlighting the Tars' 16-hit attack were left fielder Willie Ford and second baseman Tom Kearney, each with three hits and two RBIs. One of Ford's clouts was a homerun in the second inning.

Stevens, who scattered nine hits, notched his sixth win in eight decisions. Story's Carl Puniva absorbed his fourth loss against two victories. The Dukwas now sport a 13-9 record.

Headquarters Company, 5th Transportation Terminal Command B, leads Story's intramural softball league with six wins against one loss.

They lead by a half-game over second-place 870th Terminal Service Company, which sports a 6-2 record. The 461st DUKW Company is in third with 5-2.

The headquarters squad was run-up in the 1955 standings, losing to the Navy Harbor Entrance Control Base in a thrilling post-season playoff series. The sailors are currently riding in fifth place with three wins and two losses.

LIGHTNING DID IT!

3 Children, Mother Lose Lives in Fire

DEAL, N. J.—(AP)—A mother, her three children and a maid died nearly today in a fire which swept through a three-story stucco home in this fashionable seaside resort. Chief Woods, said the blaze burned out the kitchen, a television room and one bedroom in the house. He estimated the damage between $20,000 and $25,000. A bolt of lightning struck the estate-type home's metal roof shortly after midnight, followed a gutter downward and blasted into the kitchen, igniting the house, Woods said.

Garden Club Receives Trophy

The new officers of Bay Colony Garden Club were installed at the annual luncheon held at one P.M. at Princess Anne Country Club on Wednesday, June sixth.

The outgoing president, Mrs. Andrew T. Moore, who was given a silver tray, presented the new president, Mrs. Frank Motley, a sash. The other officers are: Mrs. Louis E. Guy, 1st Vice-pres., Mrs. Charles Sale, 2nd Vice-pres., Mrs. William L. Gilliam, Jr., Recording Secretary, Mrs. J. M. Jacoby, Corresponding Secretary, and Mrs. E. E. Ball, Treasurer.

It was voted to contribute $100.00 to the Laskin Road beautification project.

Sweepstakes awards went to Mrs. L. O. Clark, Jr., for arrangements, and Mrs. W. W. Waller in horticulture.

A beautiful silver cup was donated to the Club by Mrs. Frank Motley, in memory of the late Mrs. D. S. Edwards, who was a most active member. It was announced that each year a member would be selected for her outstanding work in the Club, to retain this trophy for one year. This year's unanimous choice was Andrew T. Moore.

Miss Frazier Gets Club's Scholarship

At Graduation Exercises held Wednesday Night, June Sixth, at the Virginia Beach High School, Mrs. Genevieve Shaffer, Education and Scholarship Chairman of the Princess Anne Woman's Club, presented to Miss Geneva Frazier the $200.00 Scholarship given annually by the club to a girl graduate to pursue further her education.

In September, Miss Frazier will enter the university of North Carolina where she will study to be a dental hygienist. The University accepts only twenty girls a year in this profession and she feels fortunate to have been chosen.

Miss Frazier is working at the Telephone Company this summer to help send herself to college.

Dog Obedience Classes at Beach

At the request of many Virginia Beach residents obedience classes will be held here this summer. The course will begin on Thursday, June 21st, at 8 P.M. and be held for eight weeks, once a week for one hour at the parking lot behind the drive in bank on 31st St. This class is open to all dogs whether they be pure-bred or not, who are at least six months old. The purpose of this course is to teach the average house pet manners. Such as, sit, stay, lie down on command, to come when called and to heel. These are the basic manners which make a pet a pleasure instead of a nuisance. The classes will be taught by Mr. Johnny Davis who conducts the courses in Norfolk for the Obedience Club.

Mrs. G. B. Byrd Voted President In Princess Anne

Mrs. G. Bentley Byrd was elected president of the Princess Anne Garden Club at a meeting yesterday with Mrs. Lester Templeton Gayle Jr., Ocean Front, Virginia Beach.

Mrs. Byrd, who has been active in club work in Norfolk and Princess Anne County, serving at one time as president of the Norfolk City Union of The King's Daughters, will be the club's third president. She succeeds Mrs. C. F. Green, who succeeded Miss Elizabeth Gregory Hill, a founder of the club in 1932 and its president until last June.

Two officers were reelected: Mrs. Maclain Simmons, first vice president, and Mrs. H. Gray Parker, treasurer.

Other new officers elected were Mrs. J. Raymond Pritchard, second vice president; Miss Mary Johns, recording secretary; Mrs. John Frost Woodhouse, corresponding secretary. Mrs. George W. Boush was elected to the Executive Board.

Reporting on the recent meeting of the Garden Club of Virginia, Mrs. Simmons announced that the club had won the Virginia club's conservation award for its work through the year under the chairmanship of Mrs. Parker.

Mrs. Nathan H. Bundy, president of the Virginia Beach Garden Club, spoke on Day Lilies as she had known them—those in her own garden.

They supply color to the garden. You could choose day or night lilies that bloom from April until frost, Mrs. Bundy said.

They are free from pests. There are more than 5,000 varieties of lilies.

The only horticultural advice that Mrs. Bundy gave was to water them while they are blooming.

Babe Ruth League Active In Oceana

The fact that there has been no publicity on the Oceana Division of the Babe Ruth League does not mean that there is no activity there. The managers and boys have been working hard a long time and are now playing regular games each Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons at 5:30. These games are held on the Baseball Diamond at the north gate of the Oceana Naval Air Station. Captain Hale, commanding officer of the base, has made this field available for the Babe Ruth League and the public is invited to come and watch these boys play ball.

The first game in uniform was held recently in the presence of sponsors, officers and men of the base and many other friends. Commander Jefferson, Public Works Officer, threw out the first ball. Captain Hale and Commander Harlowe were among those watching the game. Mr. George Zobia represented the L. T. Zobia Company, Mr. Elmer Meeks the Lions Club, Mr. Fred Haycox was present for the Haycox Rebels and a large number of navy personnel showed up for the C. P. O. Chiefs.

The teams are as follows: The Dukes — Jack Cake, Mgr. — L. T. Zobia Sponsor; The Rebels — James Crowling, Mgr. — Fred Haycox, sponsor; The Lions — B. Burns, Mgr. — Oceana Lions Club; The Chiefs — Val Alvarado, Mgr. — Oceana C.P.O. Club.

Officers of the Division: Ralph Simmons, President; Mr. John Cake, Vice-Pres.; John Cake, Treas.; Mrs. F. S. McCoy, Sec.

Public Invited To Attend Battle Of Camp Pendleton

The public is cordially invited to witness the culmination of Operation TRAMID 56 (TRAINING of MIDSHIPMEN) on Saturday, June 16, at 8:30 a.m. at Camp Pendleton.

Approximately 950 Naval Academy Midshipmen of the class of 1958 and 50 Royal Canadian Navy Cadets will join forces with the Amphibious Force ships and elements of the 2nd Marine Division in a full scale amphibious assault on the (enemy) beaches of Camp Pendleton.

Fifteen Navy warships will transport the assault troops into the area Friday night, and will provide simulated naval gunfire support bombardment during the early phases of the landing.

Simulated air strikes against the (enemy) forces on the beach will be provided by Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force aircraft, and Underwater Demolition Teams will reconnoiter the proposed landing areas and demonstrate the latest in (Program) tactics.

Events of the mornings demonstration will also include the ship-to-shore movement of troops, equipment and supplies by landing craft and helicopter, parachute drops of troops and equipment, pontoon causeway launching and installation by LST's and controlled explosions of demolition charges on the beach and offshore adjacent to the landing beaches. A complete narration will parallel the landing for the benefit of the observers.

The Midshipmen will board Amphibious Force ships on Wednesday for the exercise. They have been undergoing training at the Little Creek Amphibious Base since last Monday. A limited number of seats will be available at Camp Pendleton.

In the event of adverse weather or sea conditions, the landing will take place at Little Creek. Due to limited seating and parking facilities at the Amphibious Base, this landing would not be open to the public.

A formal cocktail party and dinner dance will be held by the Supply Corps Wives Club of the Tidewater area on Friday, June 15, at the Breezy Point Officers Club. Cocktails will be served from 6 to 8 P.M., with a buffet supper commencing at 8 P.M.

In colonial America, nine out of 10 people had to work on the land to provide enough for themselves and the 10th person living in town. By 1840, a farm worker took care of himself and 10 others, including those in the armed forces, and the industrial arsenal could operate full blast. Today, one farm worker provides enough for himself and 18 others.

"Mrs. U.S. Navy" Contest Extended

In order to afford a greater opportunity for all hands to participate in the "Mrs. United States Navy 1956" contest, the Navy Department announced that the contest deadline has been extended to July 15, 1956 instead of June 15, 1956.

The contest, sponsored by the Fleet Reserve Association and endorsed by the Navy Department, will select the outstanding wife of a Navy career enlisted man as "Mrs. United States Navy 1956."

One major factor in the selection of the winner will be the wife's contributions to and support of her husband's Navy career. Rules of the contest are simple, but wives must be nominated by their husbands. Applications may be obtained from Military Personnel Bldg. N71, Naval Station, Norfolk, Virginia, and are to be forwarded by the enlisted man's commanding officer to:

Fleet Reserve Association
"Mrs. U.S. Navy, 1956"
Contest Headquarters
Wilton Hotel
Long Beach, California

Included in the application should be a recent photograph of both husband and wife. This photo may be a family or individual group shot, but cheesecake is not desired.

The wife must also submit an essay not to exceed 500 words in her own handwriting, on the subject "Why I'm Proud to be a Navy Wife."

Semi-finalists will be chosen from all areas of the world and will be flown, with her husband, to Long Beach, California, for the final judging to be held September 15.

While in Long Beach they will be guests of local civic, military and social organizations and a major Hollywood motion picture studio.

Among the prizes for the finalist will be $25,000 in cash, a 1956 automobile, a complete ladies' wardrobe and a tour of 14 U.S. cities and Honolulu accompanied by her husband, and children, if any.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Just the Facts, Ma'am!

Having a red-hot crime wave in town, Specs McGuire and Buck Hanson were caught taking money out of parking meters—again. I was at Police Headquarters when a nice old lady rushed in to report them.

"It was dark out I saw their faces in the flashlight beam," she said breathlessly. "You can't trust anybody these days!"

She got flustered when Chief Benson explained that Specs and Buck are authorized collectors—working nights after their regular jobs. "Have to get 'em untforms," said Benson. "Third time they've been turned in!"

From where I sit, we ought to guard against accusing anyone of being "wrong" just because that's the way it looks to us. For instance, I've heard people talk against a neighbor because they didn't approve of his choice of beverage! (They liked tea, or something, while he preferred a glass of beer.) Be sure you have a case before you lay down the law.

Population Gap Narrowed More

The population gap between suburbs and cities narrowed further in the 1950-55 period, with the outlying parts of standard metropolitan areas growing seven times as fast as the central cities in the period, according to data compiled by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

Despite this trend, however, the central cities of the metropolitan areas still contain the biggest single block of the U.S. population amounting to just under a third of the total. This proportion has changed little over the last decade and a half.

The MIXING BOWL...

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and foibles . . . for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

June is Dairy Month—May I suggest that you and your family enjoy every day of it—enjoying dairy products? It is important to your health that you do. Here are some facts compiled by Fairmont Foods Company of Omaha, but just as true, round the world.

Because milk reinforces the diet with so many excellent food nutrients, it is the soundest foundation on which to build wholesome meals for the family.

Milk helps provide maximum health at a minimum cost. It supplies more vital food value per dollar than any other item you could buy. Milk is not fattening. It is used as the foundation of many reducing diets, because it is one of the most important "protective" foods.

Milk is a food no one should do without, because it contains so many elements of a healthful diet.

Ice cream is a frozen product made from cream or a mixture of cream and milk and sugar flavoring, etc. Since the advent of the automatic refrigerator ice cream, frozen custards, sherberts, frappes and mousses have become increasingly popular. Ice cream is a good source of the minerals, calcium and phosphorus, of the vitamins, vitamin A and riboflavin, of milks' fine proteins.

These important nutrients of milk and cream remain in ice cream, there is no loss in freezing.

Those who want to keep an eye on the calorie content of their foods, may enjoy ice cream, too. For contrary to popular opinion ice cream is surprisingly low in calories. For example, an average portion (1/8 quart) of vanilla ice cream contains only 200 calories, the same as a large baked apple.

Ice cream is one of America's favorite foods and lends itself to countless unusual and delightful combinations. Its delicate flavor and characteristic smooth, creamy texture combine well with tart fruits, crisp nuts and velvety sauces. Ice cream adds interest, nourishment and taste delight to beverages.

Just a peek into the history of ice cream. When Marco Polo returned from the Orient in the 14th century, he brought back tales of the people eating dishes of ice brought from the mountains by camel pack and flavored with exotic fruits. Adopted by the Italians, the custom of eating these frozen delicacies spread to France and the French Chef, developed a richer frozen ice dessert, ice creams. The formula went to England as a court secret and came to America with the colonists early in the 18th century. George Washington enjoyed ice cream, and the following comment was made after the second inauguration of President Madison. "Mrs. Madison always entertains brilliantly, but last night there was a sparkle in her eye that set astride an air of expectancy in her guests . . . when finally the brilliant assemblage, America's best, entered the dining room, they beheld in the center, high on a silver platter, a large shining dome of pink ice cream." The first newspaper advertisement for ice cream appeared in the New York Gazette on May 19th—1771, according to Wise's Encyclopedia of Cookery.

In this modern day of good living, you can enjoy ice cream in the many, many luscious flavors, sherberts and ices too. I'd say "get the Best—always."

Just one recipe using cottage cheese. Cottage cheese is a dairy product that is low in calorie count and cost, good, and good for you. Here's the recipe.

If you like cheese cake, and most of us do, you're going to want the recipe I have for you today. This is for an easy Refrigerator Cheese Cake, no baking involved. It's made with cottage cheese, instead of cream cheese for a lower calorie count, and the recipe came to me from the Minute Maid-Snow Corp. Frozen Foods Test Kitchen.

Of course, you may already have a favorite recipe for cheese cake, but this one is extra special. Instead of having to grate lemon rind and squeeze the juice for the traditional lemon flavor, it's all done with the lick of a can-opener. You see, this recipe uses Snow Corp Fresh-Frozen Lemonade concentrate, and it gives a real, honest-to-goodness lemon flavor without all that to-do.

First, fix a graham cracker crust using your favorite recipe and press about two-thirds of the mixture in an 8-inch spring form pan. Now separate two eggs and place the yolks in the top part of a double boiler with one teaspoon salt, one-half cup sugar and one-fourth cup milk. Stir over hot water until the mixture coats the back of your spoon, then remove from the heat pronto. Dissolve two envelopes unflavored gelatin in one-quarter cup cold water—and by that I mean really dissolve by stirring over low heat. Add this to your egg mixture, then place the pan in a bowl of cold water, stirring all the time. When it's cooled off, add a pound of creamed cottage cheese. It pains me to tell you this, but for a really smooth cake, the cheese should be sieved. Of course, if you're lucky enough to own an electric blender that's fine. Or if you live near an Italian grocery store, substitute a pound of lovely, smooth ricotta cheese. After the cheese, add a six ounce can of Lemonade concentrate. And for goodness sake don't dilute it. Now fold in one-half cup heavy cream, whipped, and your two egg whites, stiffly beaten. That's all! Pour it into your spring form pan, top with remainder of graham cracker crumbs mixture and refrigerate at least a couple of hours. This should make eight good servings. Keep it refrigerated though—remember that cottage cheese is a dairy product and needs the same care as milk.

Bye—Now and to all of you big boys—Happy Fathers Day.

SOVIETS GO SOUTH

The world was surprised by the announcement that the Soviet Union would operate three Antarctic bases during the International Geophysical Year, July 1, 1957—December 31, 1958. Two Russian ships departed late in 1955 for Antarctica. As many as 1,000 Soviet scientists and technicians may see duty there.

Ideas for the Modern Homemaker

By Mrs. Elizabeth D. Deal
Country Home Agent

Speedier Home Work

The ambidextrous housewife is ahead of the game when it comes to getting her work done.

Specialists at VET advise you to use both hands work at the same time. Many people work with hands should be used. For instance, you can shorten the time of housework if you dust with both hands, or use both hands to set a table and put away dishes. It will require practice to get both hands accustomed to working at the same time.

The specialists have other general suggestions for easier home work. Leave out any part of the task you can. Rinse dishes with boiling water and drain dry instead of wiping dry. Use sheets unironed. Use fewer utensils when cooking. Use dishes and utensils which can double as serving dishes. Keep everything within easy reach. Group frequently used equipment and supplies together.

Use the best tool. For example, use a mop with handle instead of scrubbing on bedded knees. Put liquid wax on the floor with a long handled applicator. Use a long handled dust pan to take up the dust. Use a sponge to wash walls.

Sit at work whenever you can. Standing requires 8 percent more energy than sitting and bending takes 43 percent more energy than standing.

Use your equipment to best possible advantage. The job of sweeping is much easier if the broom is held right and each stroke is placed correctly. Grass the broom handle near the top with your right hand and about 12 inches below with your left hand. Place straw of the broom on the floor about two feet to your right. Bring the broom directly in front of you. Never let the ends of broom raise from the floor at the end of the stroke as that makes dust fly. A carpet sweeper saves energy and time when there are rugs to clean.

Home Owning Families Increase

America is rapidly becoming a nation of home owners.

A Census Bureau survey indicates that a record 60 per cent of the nation's households own or are buying their homes today, compared with only 55 per cent in 1950.

The West Coast Lumberman's Association sees in this trend one of the great social movements of our time and points out that it means better housing with a higher standard of living than ever before in U.S. history.

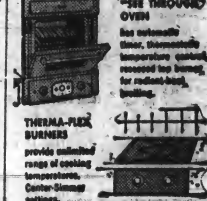

Americans are today demanding better housing with all the latest improvements for better living, the lumber group noted.

"It was public demand which made the contemporary home the hottest selling item in the home industry," they assert. "It was public demand for farmer luxury

Girl Scout Committee Meets With Mrs. Gregory, Mrs. Hedley Presided

The June meeting of the Girl Scout Princess Anne District Committee met at the home of Mrs. J. D. Gregory in Lake Terrace. Mrs. Henry Hedley, the chairman presided.

Mrs. Paul Dolgins gave an excellent report on the various projects accomplished by the Virginia Beach troops recently. Mrs. Dolgins is the Neighborhood chairman of Va. Mrs. H. W. Newsome, Neighborhood Chm. of the Bayside Area reported that her troops have been having parties to bring the years work to a close. The troop sponsored by the Bayside Presbyterian Church has a tea to honor their sponsoring group.

Mrs. J. D. Gregory gave an extensive report on the work of the Kempsville neighborhood which has been including even the Creeds section. A motion was made to have a neighborhood chairman from Creeds to represent that area and sit on the District Committee.

Plans were made to have at least three delegates from this committee attend the Girl Scout Regional Conference at Pittsburgh in November.

Two Training courses for Girl Scout leaders will be given in Va. Beach starting on September 12th. One for Brownie Leaders and one for Intermediate Leaders which will also include advanced training. After a very lovely "Cook-out"

4-H Club News

The 4-H Short Course will be held at VPI on June 18-23. During this week the outstanding 4-H club members from all over the state will gather at Virginia's Land Grant College to study, discuss problems and compete in contests.

These contests which are held during the Short Course are to determine the best individual or team in the state in their specific field. However, before these teams are allowed to compete in Blacksburg they must have made a creditable showing in a District Contest. The state is divided into six extension districts with each of these districts holding their own individual contests to determine who will present them in the State Contest.

Princess Anne County will be well represented in these contests this year. Two teams and one individual from Princess Anne will represent the southeast district in state contests.

The livestock Judging Team composed of Eddie Gilbert, Walter Humphries, Richard Basnight, and Billy Brown on the district contest held last month. All of these boys have had considerable experience with livestock and should do a good job of judging in Blacksburg.

Princess Anne will also be represented by a Bulls Judging Team. The members of this team are Jimmy Bright, Danny Dudley, Gene Smith and Aubrey Waits. This team also won the District Contest and is looking forward to Blacksburg.

Carolyn Charles won the District Public Speaking Contest and in Blacksburg she will be competing against contestants from throughout the state. This is the second year that she has competed in the contest.

Other outstanding 4-H club members who will attend from Princess Anne County are Richard Meers, Doris Humphries, Marjean Wright, Irene Cressmore and Dottie Nelson.

Also attending the Short Course and All Star Conference from Princess Anne will be three outstanding former 4-H club members. These are Cora Blackmore, Shirley Humphries and Hunter Spence. Cora is Big Chief of the All Stars and will preside over several events during the week.

Will Your Children Find Jobs When They Finish School?

This month, 182,836 boys and girls will be graduated from high schools in the six states served by the N&W. Some will continue their education, but 129,400 will look for jobs.* Meanwhile, thousands of college graduates also will begin looking for employment.

Thanks substantially to industrial growth in these states, most of these young people will find jobs. They'll start at the bottom of the ladder, but at least there'll be a ladder for them, and they'll be on the way.

Since January, 1950—along the N&W alone—there have been 850 new industries and additions to established ones, creating 42,352 jobs just within these industries. That's not all. Based on survey figures of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, these 42,352 new workers created 31,341 jobs in other types of business.

With our big population increase, job increases are vital. It's reassuring to know that job opportunity keeps pace with job demand in this great and growing area.

The Norfolk and Western takes pride in being a member of the industrial development team in this Land of Plenty—by providing the dependable rail service industry must have . . . by consistently advertising to business executives the outstanding industrial advantages of this area . . . and by providing industry the unlimited service of its experienced plant location specialists.

So long as industrial growth can be maintained, your children will find jobs when they finish school. Maintaining that growth is a job to which the N&W pledges a continuing, all-out effort.

*Based on estimates by education officials in Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, North Carolina, Maryland and Kentucky.

This survey showed that in the average community, 100 new industrial workers result in an additional 74 workers in other businesses in the community.

By E. R. "DICK" COCKRELL, JR.
PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Deep Tillage, Pasture Burning Don't Help Uptake of Moisture

Uptake of moisture by the soil, an important factor in crop and pasture production in limited rainfall areas, evidently is unaffected by deep tillage and is adversely affected by burning over native grasses.

This is reported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and W. W. Lewis, agronomist at VPI, says tests in Virginia bear out the conclusion.

The USDA results of tests in Kansas do not agree with the widely held theory that deep tillage with chains and subsoilers improves soil-moisture storage. Neither the amount of moisture infiltrated nor the yield of wheat was improved by deep tillage in those tests. Soil types studied included a fine sandy loam with a tight subsoil, a clay loam, a silt loam, and a very fine sandy loam with a clay pan.

The researchers also found that when native pastures were burned over, the soil quickly lost its ability to take in large amounts of water. Under conditions of simulated rain, unburned pasture soils absorbed water at a steady rate for nearly 30 minutes. Water absorption by burned-over soil dropped off before the end of 20 minutes. The very dry unburned pasture soil absorbed 4.5 inches of moisture in the first 10 minutes and 4.4 inches for each succeeding 10-minute period until after the end of 70 minutes. Comparable but burned-over soil absorbed 4.7 inches of moisture in the first 10 minutes, only 3.4 inches in the second 10 minutes, and only 3 inches in the next 10 minutes.

Lewis says data on tests and experience in Virginia and nearby states is included in Circular 650, "Subsoiling and Deep Tillage in Virginia and Other States." Ask your county agent, or write VPI, Agricultural Extension Service, Blacksburg, for a free copy.

Shrub Suffer From Climatic Conditions

Virginia home owners are having trouble with damage to ornamental shrubbery. S. B. Penn, plant pathologist at VPI, says many specimens of damage to shrubbery are still being received in his laboratory. In almost all cases the damage has been caused by unfavorable growing conditions, and disease or insect injury is not present.

Since the past several summers have been unusually dry and the past winter was dry in the early part with many alternating warm and cold days, conditions have been quite unfavorable for many shrubs. The result is a general decline and often severe injury.

There are several other factors that can contribute to poor growing conditions. Penn says. If the tree or shrub is in a poor location, too close to buildings or too much in competition with other trees and shrubs, you can expect trouble. If the soil is too dry or too wet and not well drained, or if it receives drainage water from an adjacent roof, the shrub may not thrive.

Often shrubs fail to become established after transplanting. Sometimes they only need fertilization.

POULTRY BY-PRODUCTS IN POULTRY RATIONS

Certain poultry by-products can be used in whole-growing rations as sources of animal protein. Recent tests at VPI Agricultural Experiment Station show:

Hydrolyzed feather meal should poultry by-products meal (fishery waste) to complete advantage to fish meal and animal meat meal, but they do have certain limitations, the researchers say.

Hydrolyzed feather meal should not be fed at levels higher than 5 percent of the ration and should not be used to replace all the fish component. There does not seem to be any limitation on the level for feeding poultry by-products meal, but decreased feed efficiency may show up at any level.

Other by-products of the processing plant are blood meal and grease. Both are good ration ingredients, particularly poultry grease which has a good color and a more desirable consistency than most other inedible fats used in rations.

GOING HUNGRY DOESN'T HURT CALVES ON OCCASION

Feeding calves for rapid growth can be done when it is economically feasible, and grains can be stopped and started again if the situation warrants it, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture research.

Animal husbandmen, at VPI report that USDA researchers worked with 10 pairs of identical twin calves. Between the ages of three and six months, some were given a sub-maintenance ration, providing about 75 percent of the energy necessary to maintain body weight. At the end of the four-month period, these stunted animals were fattened along with the twin mates which had been fed liberally from the beginning.

The lowered rate of gain did not harm the animals' feed efficiency during the subsequent feeding period or the quality of the carcass at slaughter. The calves that were behind gained 7 percent faster on full feed than their twin mates. The average amount of total digestible nutrients per pound of gain were almost the same for both groups.

CLIPPING ADVISED FOR TOP PASTURES

Mow pastures early this month to remove old plant growth which animals have refused, and to help control early-season weeds.

That's the advice from John P. Shoulters, associate agronomist at VPI. He says removing the refused portions of forage plants and weeds gives the legumes in the pasture a better chance to grow. Clipping before seed has set also encourages grass growth and results in a higher quality feed for the animals.

It is important to prevent grasses and weeds from shading out ladino clover these next few weeks. Ladino-grass pastures in which much of the grass has headed out should be clipped to prevent crowding the ladino. If grazing animals are left on the pastures a few days after clipping they will eat part of the forage they refused before.

Ladino-grass pastures cut for hay or silage should be allowed to recover to a height of at least six inches before grazing.

Bluegrass pastures should be mowed after they have headed out, but before the seed sets, to encourage growth of white clover in the mixture. Clipping at this stage of growth will also result in additional grass growth later in the season.

USE INSECTICIDES WITH CAUTION

Here's a word of caution about using insecticides on vegetable crops.

Specialists at VPI point out that research has revealed no particular problems when insecticides are used strictly according to the manufacturer's recommendations. But undesirable effects may develop if you yield to the temptation to apply a little extra "for good measure", or if you use an insecticide on a crop for which it is not recommended. In tests, for instance, extra heavy doses of toxaphene and chlordane were found to produce off-flavors in such crops as potatoes and sweet corn.

BLUESTONE HELPS CLEAR SCUM FROM PONDS, TANKS

Bluestone offers a remedy to green scum forming on troughs, reservoirs or ponds.

Dr. Henry S. Mosby, professor of conservation and wildlife at VPI, says bluestone in the right mixture, with precautions, will remove scum with no harmful effects on fish or livestock.

The best way to avoid scum is to put a cover or roof over water to keep out sunlight. Water protected from sunlight will not support scum, but it is not always possible to cover all water.

In using bluestone, a safe dosage is 2 pounds of bluestone per million gallons, 1 ounce per 5,000 gallons, or level teaspoonful per 1,500 gallons of water. Dr. Mosby cautions that these proportions should be followed carefully.

Bluestone will lose its effectiveness in a short time and scum may grow again. If this occurs, repeat the treatment.

Too much bluestone is injurious to livestock, humans or fish, and care should be taken to use only the proper amounts. Dissolve the bluestone and stir it into the trough. In treating ponds, put the evenly dissolved "and" form in a sack and drag it through the water from a boat until all of it is dissolved.

In small tanks, scum can be prevented from re-forming by placing pieces of copper sheets or shavings in the water - or empty copper cartridge cases will do.

This will be effective for a long time unless the copper becomes covered with dirt and slime.

If ponds contain skin-fish such as catfish, treat one end at a time. This lets the fish escape concentrated areas near the boat. Scale fish are less sensitive.

At the Navy guided missile test range, Point Mugu, California, there is a huge $5,000,000 electronic marvel that can perform approximately six million mathematical operations in five minutes. Problems that would take an average mathematician 4 years to complete.

Many Virginia farm women, when unable to get satisfactory prices for eggs in the spring, preserve their eggs until fall. Water-glass (sodium silicate) is one of the best preservatives. Directions for preserving are usually printed on the container. Additional information is available from county home demonstration agents.

Thomas Lief Graduates From Lake Forest

Thomas Lief, son of Captain and Mrs. Sam A. Lief, U.S. Embassy Quito, Ecuador will be among the forty-four graduates this June of Lake Forest Academy, Lake Forest, Illinois, which celebrates its centennial year beginning in the fall.

He plans to enter Stanford University in September. His Academy class will hold its first reunion at the centennial commencement next June, which will bring together other graduates from classes as early as 1863. The high point of the centennial observance will be Founders Day on February 13, 1967, the anniversary of the issuing of the charter.

Founded in 1857, the Academy was the nucleus for the town of Lake Forest, one of Chicago's choicest suburbs. In its hundred years, it has occupied four campus locations in the community, moving in 1944 to its present home, formerly the Melody Farm estate of J. Ogden Armour.

With an enrollment of 170 and faculty of 23, the Academy stresses a fundamental education to prepare its students for leading colleges and universities, small classes and a balanced program of studies, sports, non-sectarian religious training and social activities.

General Robert E. Wood is chairman of the Board of trustees and Harold H. Corbin, Jr. is headmaster.

Merchant Ships Creators Of Good Will

M. A. Hubbard, executive secretary of the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation, told members of the Propeller Club this morning that the ships of the Merchant Marine, playing back and forth between ports of call throughout the world, carrying on mutually satisfying trade, are worth more in creating international understanding and goodwill than anything else or any combination of things we could possibly do.

During a meeting at the Cavalier Hotel, Hubbard asked members of the Club to review history. "Sometimes it's a good idea to read the minutes of the last meeting," he said, "for the successes and failures of the past can teach us some very important lessons."

Citing the late 20's and early 30's as an example of the influence of trade on the economy of the United States, the Farm Bureau official noted that in 1928 corn brought $1.05 a bushel and wheat, $1.22 a bushel. But, by 1931, the price of corn had dropped to 44 cents a bushel and wheat had dropped to 56 cents a bushel. Although the quality of these commodities had remained the same, something had happened to cause this drastic reduction in price.

"In 1930," Hubbard continued, "two members of Congress, Mr. Hawley and Mr. Smoot, introduced a bill to protect the American market for American industry. This bill, known as the Hawley-Smoot Act, shot the tariff walls to the ceiling. As a result, other countries reciprocated, raising their tariffs on our exports."

"We keep our American market, but our trade policies contributed toward a depression, economic stagnation throughout the world, and set off a mad scramble on the part of 'have-not' nations to become self-sufficient, even at the risk of military aggression."

Hubbard pointed out that in 1934, Cordell Hull was largely responsible for passage of the Reciprocal Trade Program, "the results of which we liked much better than the results of the Hawley-Smoot Act."

"People who oppose the Reciprocal Program," he commented, "seem to overlook that we need to export commodities produced on one acre out of every ten and that if we don't export that amount, we are left with price-depressing surpluses."

"And a surplus of seven to eight percent in most agricultural commodities is capable of producing about a one-third reduction in price. These figures are as important to our urban friends as to the farmer, for 40 percent of the economic activity in the U.S. is directly or indirectly related to agriculture."

Hubbard told the group that a great many highly intelligent business men will agree that we need good exports, but, "shudder in their shoes" at the mention of imports.

"We need to look at the simple formula for measuring the standard of living of any people," he pointed out. "Total production, minus exports, plus imports, divided by the number of people living in a given country gives you the standard of living of those people."

"I have heard, from time to time, that we cannot possibly compete with cheap labor from foreign countries. Is it not better to compete in the factories and on the farms rather than in a dirty, filthy foxhole?"

"Yet, if we look at history," Hubbard maintained, "we know for sure we'll compete one place or the other. If good do not flow across international boundaries, sooner or later, soldiers will."

The American Forces employed a submarine in the Revolutionary War. It was built by David Bushnell at Saybrook, Connecticut. Just a few miles from the present site of the U. S. Submarine Base in New London.

Home Styles Are Set By Buyers

Home buyers set the style for new homes, architects and builders agree. When the husband and wife start house hunting, they buy the home that contains most of the ideas they want.

Tops on most lists today are basements. The post-war basementless homes never met with much popularity, and many a family has lived to rue the day they ever bought such a home, the West Coast Lumbermen's Association reports.

There just isn't enough storage space. But, equally as important is the low cost of getting all this extra living space at a fraction of what main floor square footage costs, the lumber group states.

Basements have so many uses the lumbermen point out, which have never been offered by the much smaller utility rooms in the slab-type homes. They provide room for heating and ventilating systems, laundry with clothes drying space in winter months, storage for fruit, deep-freezers, and all sorts of room for garden furniture, tools and equipment. They always have a corner for dad's and brother's work bench and an occasional power tool.

When repairs are needed, it is much easier to work on plumbing, heating and wiring when it is exposed in the basement.

New Rides At Seaside Park

As part of its Golden Jubilee modernization program Seaside Park has purchased two new additional kiddie rides to meet the unprecedented crowds of youngsters flocking to the park's 50th anniversary celebration.

Both facilities—an Allan Herschell kiddie boat ride and a Roto-whip—are leading attractions with the tots, and will be installed at the Virginia Beach amusement center by July 1.

Gaily lighted and decorated, the boat ride contains six, 4-passenger boats and has a capacity of 576 passengers per hour. The Roto-whip has eight cars, carrying 16 passengers per trip. Tent tops and sidewalls give the rides a circus appearance.

Less than seven years after Kitty Hawks, on November 14, 1910, an airplane was flown from the deck of a Navy warship for the first time.

Blitz Drive Of Chamber Termed Huge Success

The Chamber of Commerce Blitz membership drive was a tremendous success. More interest was generated on the part of the membership than any Chamber project in recent years. 61 new members were signed up during the Blitz for a total of $2,825 in dues. It is hoped that these new members will remain with the Chamber through the years and that this amount of dues can be counted on annually. Approximately 60 workers participated in the membership drive, together with a staff of 14 soldiers and officers from Fort Story manning a "walkie-talkie" radio communication system. Walkie-talkies were located at nine points throughout the business areas, and through this system, Chamber workers were able to relay progress of the drive back to Chamber Headquarters on the sidewalk in front of the Chamber building. A master radio station was established at Headquarters, and progress reports of the drive were immediately broadcast over radio station WBOF. A total of $4,643.50 was collected in cash and checks by the canvass workers. Many members voluntarily raised their dues during the membership drive; while others paid canvass workers for delinquent dues. The grand total of payments and pledges received during the drive amounted to $5,112.50.

The membership drive was divided into two competing divisions to add interest to the campaign. One division under Col. George Mullen was called the "Amphibians," and the second division under Col. Rhea Adams was called the "Commandos." Each division was divided into twelve teams of workers, and they competed with one another for high honors. Honor points were given for procuring new members, getting old members to voluntarily raise dues, and for making collections of delinquent dues from old members. At the last count the "Amphibians" were ahead with a total of 15,100 points as against 13,300 points for the "Commandos." The winning honor is important to the Blitz workers for reason that Mrs. Mabel Strohkopf owner of Marilyn's has promised to give a dinner for the winning division. The drive is being continued for "Point" purposes through Wednesday, to give all workers an opportunity to make "call backs" and complete their work.

Chamber President Harold B. Kellum has expressed complete satisfaction over the results of the "Blitz." He said that he has never seen so much interest shown in the Chamber, and was created by this Blitz Operation. The Blitz was conducted during a three hour period from 9 to 12 A.M. The Blitz started immediately following a breakfast at Marilyn's Inn, and closed with a victory luncheon at the Paramount Restaurant. At the victory luncheon, the general chairman, Gen. B. M. Stanton, expressed thanks and appreciation to all workers for their conscientious and diligent work during the drive. He was especially grateful for the cooperation extended by the soldiers from Fort Story, and the wonderful contribution to success by Mr. Leo Hoar, who was in charge of the complete communication setup. Special thanks also were extended to radio station WBOF which constantly broadcast progress and news on the Blitz campaign.

Members of the winning team under "Colonel" Mullen included J. Wesley Gardner, Robert Creamer, C. B. Shorter, Roy Alphin, Dawson Taylor, Dave Davenport, Dock Braithwaite, J. B. Withers, Jr., Mrs. Lucy Trafton, Al Mathies, Charles Sale and Harold Kellum. Members of the losing team under "Colonel" Rhea Adams were Ed Lindsey, W. W. Johnson, Jr., Buddy Riggs, Webb Brown, Emmett Fogle, Andy Moore, Mrs. Mabel Strohkopf, Floyd Patrick, Leonard Barrell, Lew Chambers, Herb Norton and Fred A. Haycox.

Virginia Beach's Community House is located on Arctic Avenue between 17th and 18th streets.

PAL Group Baseball Play Is Underway

The County Recreation Bureau and the Police Athletic Division has been very active in the past two weeks. Already under the sponsorship of PAL, the Recreation Bureau has approximately 240 boys, between the ages of 8-16, participating in Midget and Junior Baseball Leagues. Beginning the second halves of these leagues the number participants is expected to double. Currently, the big problem is finding adequate fields and leadership for the boys. The Recreation Bureau is making possible the desire for hundreds of boys girls, and adults desiring to participate.

Jim Lail, County Recreation Director, announced today that with the cooperation of the PAL three additional leagues are being formulated. Men and Women softball leagues, and a senior baseball league. The age limit for participants in the men's senior softball and baseball leagues is 16 and above while there is no age limit for the women's softball league.

A meeting will be held in the County Trial Court Room located in Princess Anne at 7:30 P.M., Tuesday, June 19th to organize the Men's Senior Baseball League. Entries have already been received from Creeds, East Ocean View and Kempville. Groups and organizations desiring to enter teams are urged to be present Tuesday night.

Groups and organizations desiring to enter teams in the men and women softball leagues are urged to contact Mr. Lail, County Recreation Director, located in the County Police Department Building, Princess Anne, Virginia. Entries must be filed prior to Thursday, June 21st. If enough teams can be organized and facilities are available a meeting will be held shortly afterwards to formulate leagues.

Uniforms are optional in any league sponsored by the PAL. Detective Fred Struncius of the PAL stated that he would rather see a large number participating without uniforms than a limited number participating with uniforms. However, some form of uniform is recommended. The goal of the Recreation Bureau and PAL is "Participation" for as teams playing in the County Baseball and Softball Leagues must reside in Princess Anne County.

School Board Picks Site For New School

Acting promptly on a request by Kempville district Parent-Teachers Assn. leaders, the Princess Anne County School Board Tuesday designated a site near the Kempville community for one of the schools for which a $1,300,000 bond issue has been proposed.

Hoping to give the bond issue wider voter appeal, the P-TA leaders decided Monday to ask the board to specify a site on Providence road at Indian River road, for one school. The site is two miles from Kempville. The board already had designated a site off Halperin drive, near the existing Little Creek School, for the other school that would be financed by the bonds.

Issuance of the bonds is subject to a district referendum on July 10. The board proposed the bond issue as a means of alleviating pupil enrollment pressure. Three district schools, Shelton Park, Bayville and Little Creek, had some classes on a part-time schedule during the past school year; all are situated in the general Little Creek area.

School Supt. Frank W. Cox has announced that a fourth school, the one at Kempville, also will have some classes on part-time in the fall.

Safety Groups Ask Crackdown Enforcement Policy On Violators

With the nation facing an all-time traffic death record this year, two leading traffic safety organizations today called for a crack-down enforcement policy during the Fourth of July holiday.

The National Safety Council and the International Association of Chiefs of Police said that appeals to driver responsibility must be supplemented by strict enforcement of the law to curb heedless and reckless minority. Such action is the only effective way to hold down the death toll on an immediate and short-term basis, the two traffic safety groups agreed.

The joint enforcement recommendations for the 30-hour Fourth of July period were:

1. Cancel all days off for police and put every available officer on duty. Assign as many personnel as possible in plain clothes and unmarked cars to traffic patrol, especially from 6 p.m. to midnight on Tuesday and Wednesday.
 2. Concentrate manpower on high volume or high speed streets and highways where serious accidents are most likely to occur.
 3. Concentrate on hazardous moving violations especially speeding. Be alert for erratic driving and other evidence of evening-hour driving after drinking.
 4. Coordinate the effort with other enforcement agencies.
 5. Use whatever other enforcement means are available locally, such as radar.
 6. Publicize the program in advance so motorists will understand and cooperate with the objective.
- The Council estimates there will be 50 million vehicles on the move during the holiday. Usually extra travel means extra hazard.
- One hundred and sixty national

Little League Farm Teams In Need Of Funds

How ya gonna keep 'em down on the farm... without funds? "Farm" in this instance means the Little League baseball boys who have not made a uniformed team. As in Major League ball, these hopefuls form the backbone of the Virginia Beach Little League, keeping the regulars on their toes at their positions, and forming the all-important nucleus for next year's teams. They have no sponsors. They subsist entirely on contributions.

Mr. Lucking, manager of the farm system, wants to field 4 teams with regularly scheduled umpired games. Instead of uniforms, the boys will wear a cap and Little League T-shirt at $1.00 each. In addition, equipment needed is: a batting helmet at $2.95 each, 2 complete catchers outfits totaling $30.80 each, bats at $2.25 and balls at $1.85 each. This money must come from donations if the farm system is kept. Within the week, parents of Little League uniformed players will be asked for contributions. Donations from the general public will be accepted at any time.

Regular players of the Little League teams are receiving the priceless advantages of good organized baseball at no cost to their parents. They have the best equipment, a good field, concrete dugouts, 2 volunteer umpires for each game, and play under lights thus enabling their dads to watch their progress.

Cayce Readings To Be Studied At Annual Meet

The 25th annual congress of the Association For Research and Enlightenment will be held this year in the building originally built for it, known as the Edgar Cayce Hospital, and will be held next week, beginning Sunday June 24. The theme of the congress will be "There is a Re-Ver."

Members attending from throughout the nation will have an opportunity to contrast the values of the Edgar Cayce readings, a collection of psychical data given through the late Edgar Cayce, with their values 25 years ago. They will be studied in this light during classes and lectures which have been selected to present the wide range of material to be found in the readings.

The new headquarters building is located between 67th and 68th streets on Atlantic Avenue, and was formerly the Princess Pat Hotel, the Terrace Beach Club, the Navy Nurse Club, the Shrine Club and for the past two years, location of the Theater-Go-Round, under the ownership of the Ocean Corporation. It is a large four-story structure situated on a hill overlooking the ocean and Virginia Beach, and is at present under construction.

City Children Turn Out For Play Program

Approximately 1450 children, ranging in age from 6-16, enjoyed taking part in the first week of the summer recreation program, which is under the supervision of Claude King. The playground at W. T. Cooke school, under the supervision of Mrs. Orlan Avett had around 400 participants during its first week of operation. The high school playground under the direction of Mrs. Rosemary Tomb had around 1,000 boys and girls taking part in her program.

Activities for the first week consisted of a well planned program on Safety, Orientation discussions, a wide variety of games such as horseshoe, badminton, volleyball, softball, shuffleboard, ping-pong, and also poster making, drawing, reading, and working with clay. This is the first year the program has had a planned library phase for recreational reading and many have taken part in the with much enthusiasm.

This week will be "Arts and Crafts Week." A program has been planned to try as much as possible to meet the interest of all children in this phase of work. Weaving, drawing, wood burning, poster making, and many other activities have been planned. The best pieces of work will be judged at the end of the week and prizes will be awarded for them.

This is the first summer the children of Virginia Beach have had the privilege of the many new facilities while they can now enjoy. The new tennis courts at 25th and Cypress Avenue has proven very appealing to the adults as well as children. The playground as a whole is very well equipped with the best and safest equipment that can be bought.

The playground directors are carrying on well balanced program with the inside activities based on one particular thing each week. Other games such as checkers, Beat-the-clock and etc. have been very popular along with the non active games and sports.

The Little League and the Babe Ruth League are again in operation and your support will be greatly appreciated.

The hours which the playgrounds are open are 9-12 in the morning and 2-5 in the afternoon, Monday thru Friday. A cordial invitation is issued to each boy and girl as well as the parents to participate in this summer recreation program.

VFW Group Has Flag Burning Event

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Virginia Beach Post 7166, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. held a flag burning ceremony of the American Flag used by the Ladies Auxiliary which was damaged and torn by vandals entering Post Home several weeks ago.

This ceremony was held on Thursday June 14, 1956 at 8:30 P.M. at the Post Home. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary and Post members being present.

Many soldiers, sailors, marines and others have given their lives during wartime and peace to protect the flag and having done so have protected their love ones and others here in these United States of America from enemies reaching our shores.

Respect the flag and these institutions who display it and when carried in parades by our military forces here and abroad.

The Virginia Beach City Council has directed the city's department of public works to work out a system of fees by which nearby landowners might tap into the city's sewage lines.

The directive was made at the council meeting held Monday afternoon. The Council directed him after an operator of tourist and trailer accommodations just outside the city asked to be connected to the city system.

Wilson Chaplin told the Council that he is willing to pay $1,000 per connection, plus whatever treatment fee is decided upon as "fair."

Chaplin said he came before the Council after health officers had advised him to correct a situation that might develop into a health problem.

Public health officers said something will have to be done to provide proper sewage treatment in this area where the soil is composed of clay. They added that drainage carries the effluent through the city itself.

Mrs. James B. Sodler, representing the Junior Women's Club of Princess Anne County, asked Council consideration of a possible $25,000-a-year budget item for the support of a public library, which the club is anxious to promote.

The plans for a city library are being completed. City Manager W. Russell Hatchett reported. They will in supplemental details which would make the Federal and State financial armory into a convention hall for the city.

Pending results of a survey, Hatchett said, bids will be asked by State authorities during the latter part of this month.

N. Beach Case Sent Back To Lower Court

The annexation case of North Virginia Beach has been returned to the lower court after a decision by the State Supreme Court of Appeals on Monday.

The court, in an opinion written by Justice C. Vernon Spradley, reversed a three-judge appellate court and sent the case back to the Princess Anne County Circuit Court.

A group of 326 North Virginia Beach residents petitioned Princess Anne County to become part of the City of Virginia Beach. The case never was heard on its merits, however, since the special three-judge court ruled last August the petitioners' action violated the five-year restriction in State annexation law.

This provision is that five years must elapse between the time an annexation suit is decided and another suit is heard.

In 1953, Virginia Beach attempted to annex North Virginia Beach, which lies in Princess Anne County. A petition and ordinance filed their petition and ordinance the five-year restriction did not apply since they were citizens seeking to be annexed.

The court decided, to the contrary, that the petition did violate the statute. Members of the court were Judges J. Gordon Temple of Prince George; Gus E. Michell of Halifax; and Floyd E. Kellam of Princess Anne.

Eastwood D. Herbert, attorney for the North Virginia Beach residents, said after an informal conference with Princess Anne Commonwealth's Attorney Robert F. Wahab Jr., yesterday, the case probably could be heard in October.

Such a schedule, Herbert said, would give the petitioners more than three months to bring up-to-date engineering and financial data needed in the presentation of the case.

The same court that was named for the original action would sit in the revived hearing, the attorney said.

FORD sets 500-mile record
at Indianapolis Speedway

Again proves nobody outperforms Ford

... dramatic demonstration of the kind of performance and roadability that makes all your driving more fun in a Ford!

Ford's record was kept and certified by the United States Auto Club

A Ford V-8 hurtled across the brick and asphalt surface of tough and testing Indianapolis Speedway . . . whirling through the tight turns and flashing over the straight stretches . . . to set a mark that no stock car ever reached before!

Previous to Ford's record run, no other stock car had gone even one lap at Indianapolis at 100 m.p.h., but one of Ford's laps was timed at the electrifying speed of 113.7 m.p.h. And Ford averaged 107.126 m.p.h. for the full five hundred miles . . . close to the average set by the extremely costly, specially-built racer which won the Memorial Day "500".

Ford fully realizes that the welter of claims and counter-claims about "racing victories"

(many of them completely contradictory) must be confusing and disillusioning to the public. Ford ran this race against time, over the true "Classic" distance and at the most famous track in America, in order to dispel this cloud of doubt and disbelief and prove that no one outperforms Ford!

Peter de Paolo, leader of the team of drivers that piloted the winning Ford, states flatly: "No other stock car could have equalled this performance!" And Peter de Paolo should know, for he was the first driver to win the "500" Classic with a better than 100 m.p.h. average. And now he comes back with a group of drivers to establish a stock car record with the great '56 Ford!

Yet, this was no mere race against the stop watch. Ford's alert responsiveness and sheer roadability proved more than a match for the treacherous turns . . . taking them smoothly and giving the great Ford V-8 a chance to use its blazing acceleration in the straightaways.

Ford wrote this new mark large and bold in the record books. And the whole Ford did the trick. From the hood-full of throbbing horsepower to the road-bugging rear end, Ford demonstrated that it has what it takes to make your driving more enjoyable. Convince yourself that driving a Ford can be real fun. Test drive a '56 Ford. There's a set of keys waiting for you, so come in and see us soon.

A Distorted Picture

A feature story that appeared in the Washington Post-Times Herald of Sunday, June 10, 1956, pictured the City of Virginia Beach as a city where gambling, vice and liquor law violations are flagrantly carried on, and the article called the city a "crime ridden" resort.

To the readers of this metropolitan newspaper this story must have been startling and its scope did irreparable harm to the City of Virginia Beach in a area form where many vacationists travel to Virginia Beach each year. The article was filled with political motives but to the average reader in the Washington area it could only have turned them against the City of Virginia Beach.

The article prompted a radio address by Commonwealth's Attorney Robert S. Wahab, Jr. on Monday June 11, 1956. In his talk Wahab labeled the attack contained in the article an attack upon himself. He stated that after five months in the office of the Commonwealth Attorney he could state that no comparable area has better law enforcement record than the Virginia Beach area.

Later Hours Are Desirable

Sometime ago the Virginia Alcoholic Beverage Control Board indicated that it would conduct a survey to determine whether or not its ABC stores in Virginia Beach should maintain later closing hours during the summer season. The summer season is upon us and we would expect that the Board has reached a decision on the matter.

We believe now and have believed for a long time that the stores here in Virginia Beach should remain open later than the customary closing time for the ABC stores in other parts of the State. This belief is based primarily on our influx of summer tourists who are not familiar with our state liquor laws and who, many times, are sorely disappointed on their arrival after a long day's automobile drive to find that the stores are closed for the day at six o'clock.

In addition to the inconvenience caused our visitors we also strongly feel that closing at a later hour would greatly reduce the traffic in resale of alcoholic beverages that inevitably is carried on because the local stores are closed before evening begins.

We trust that the ABC Board will give favorable consideration to keeping the stores open a little later here during the summer, at least. We believe that business interests and particularly the hotel and cottage folks would be in favor of such a change in Virginia Beach.

It is hoped that if the Board does decide to maintain later hours here that the new hours will be put into effect within the next week or ten days, or, at least, before the present summer season reaches its July-August peak.

going remodeling and renovation to provide offices and living quarters for members and guests.

Hugh Lynn Cayce, manager, has announced that the study and indexing of the Edgar Cayce readings has been completed during the year since his death. A work has been carried on which the purpose of the Association was to complete the study of the readings which were given here in 1931. In recent years, the membership of this organization has been increasing steadily and now numbers 1,300 active participants in this country and abroad.

Lectures will be presented in the evening each night except Wednesday and will include an address by Rudolph Johnson, trustee and attorney for the A.R.E., speaking on "The Years Ahead," on Thursday, June 28. On Monday and Tuesday, June 25 and 26, panel discussions will be presented on "The Meaning and Value of the Edgar Cayce Readings." Panelists will be Monday Dr. William Mosley Brown, of Washington and Lee University; Dr. Harold J. Reilly, head of the Reilly Health Center in New York; Mr. Johnson; Noah Miller, and David E. Kahn, of New York.

Tuesday panelists will be Floyd Barnes, researcher on the subject of dreams as treated in the readings; Wm. Price, of Virginia Beach; Bob Schor, lecturer, of New York; William Peterson, of Portsmouth, and Leah O'Reilly.

Hugh Lynn Cayce will speak on "The Philosophy of the Edgar Cayce Readings" on Friday, June 29. All evening lectures will begin at 8:15 p.m. and will be held in the reception room.

Sunday, June 24 will be open house. From 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. registrars will be on hand at the Association headquarters 215 67th Street, to help those attending plan their course.

There will be an informal reception on Sunday at 8 p.m. A special program on group work will be led by Ester Wynne, director of study groups, Wednesday, June 27 for all Congress women. Wednesday afternoon will be free for recreation. At 6 p.m. Wednesday, there will be a buffet supper served on the headquarters terrace, with special entertainment.

Little League

The cost of bringing Little League Baseball to Virginia Beach last year was $3,000. The sponsors contributed $300 per team. This year the contribution is $150 per team which covers only the cost of uniforms, helmets, bats, balls, and gloves of the uniformed players. Donations of a receipt from booster ticket sales are needed to cover additional expenses such as umpires' equipment at $58.05 per outfit, and certain materials consisting of lumber, roofing, bases, fencing for the field. Lighting is paid for with profits from the snack bar.

Some of the materials for improvement of the field have been donated. Mr. Goodman of Southern Block and Pipe Co., cinder block; Mr. Jim Sadler of Southern Materials, cement; Mr. McDonald, some of the lumber, Ingram's Pharmacy has given a very necessary first aid kit, and Bill McCannan is keeping the uniforms clean free of charge.

Virginia Beach needs Little League. The Little League needs money to survive.

Before World War II the U.S. Navy had had two four fleet actions, but in each one it captured and destroyed every enemy ship. The first paddle-wheel steamship was the USS MISSOURI, captured by the USS MISSOURI in 1841.

The first air crossing of the Atlantic Ocean was made in 1910 by a Navy plane.

Postmaster Gives Vacationers Advice

Summertime is synonymous with vacation time for the vast number of Americans who leave their homes for one or two weeks in the months of June, July and August in search of relaxation or adventure.

To the thief and vandal, however, summertime means a heavy schedule of long work hours. Dawn blinds, accumulated newspapers and stuffed mailboxes constitute an open-house invitation to such predatory prowlers.

Governor To Serve As Scout Campaign Head

Governor THOMAS B. Stanley will serve as chairman of the Virginia Statewide Boy Scout campaign slated to start October 23 in all counties and towns not in the Community Chest.

The Honorable J. Lindsey Almond, Virginia's Attorney General, will be vice-chairman.

Governor Stanley agreed to accept the chairmanship of a conference with a campaign committee appointed by Samuel S. Moore, Boy Scout regional chairman. He also headed the drive last year, the first time a coordinated campaign had been made in territory not in the Community Chest.

Local council chairmen on a state committee are N. W. Kelly, Blue Ridge Council, Roanoke; Colonel Stanley Easton, Stonewall Jackson Council, Staunton; George Cole Scott, Robert E. Lee Council, Richmond; and S. W. Rawls, Old Dominion Council, Suffolk.

The governor will be appointing county and district chairmen immediately with the help of the local council heads.

Last Friday night the Rosewood Tigers turned on the steam in the late innings to defeat the Sports by a score of 11 to 9.

Winning pitcher for the Tigers was Spensard while Ronnie Scholz was the loser. Hitting honors went to Catcher Crawford of the Tigers with a home run and a double.

On Saturday night the Rotarians dropped an 11 to 5 decision to the Cubs. The big inning for the victors was the third when they tallied four times. The inning was highlighted with David Jones home run. The winners scored five times in the final inning.

Last Tuesday, June 12, the first game played in the twilight of the evening saw the Rotarians and Tigers clash for the first time in the season. It was a tight game all the way, and went into extra innings, with the Rotarians victorious and continuing their winning streak. It was an exciting duel between the two pitchers, Rocky Ehrlich and Tommy Dennis.

Larry Mailles, Rotarians Left fielder went to bat 4 times in the game and collected 3 hard hit singles and driving in 3 runs in the second inning putting his mates 4-1 in front of the losers. The Tigers, fighting hard came back in the fourth inning getting 3 hits and 2 walks and scoring 5 runs to tie up the ball game. Dennis held the Rotarians scoreless for two innings but had to be relieved in the 6th inning because of Little League Rules. Donald Fantone, replaced Billy Hubbard, first up for the Rotarians in the bottom of the 7th lined a single into right field, for the first hit off Fantone. An error made by the center fielder of the Tigers, allowing Hubbard to score ending the ball game. Ehrlich, struck out 14 and giving up only 3 based on balls.

Dear Sir:

Your survey of the recent council election results were very interesting to me. It seems that Seaman and Cruser were the victims of the "B Boys".

Braithwaite, Bryant, Biley and Bell besides Dunn, Heath and Weary.

Now see where Braithwaite is talking about purging the voting books. To this I would like to ask just two questions—Did Braithwaite and Bell ever live outside the city limits and, if so, did they move their voting privilege outside of the city while living outside the city limits?

If Braithwaite really wanted the books purged he should have started before the election and he probably could have started with his own candidate, Cruser, and Bill Johnson and many others of his own crowd.

From past actions I don't think the "B Boys" are taken seriously by many people.

Yours truly,
James A. Brinkman

FT. STORY SPORTS

In their only game last week, the Fort Story DUKES dropped a 6 to 3 decision to Norfolk Naval Air Station.

Story took an early lead in the first inning when George Gonzalez tripled and scored on a wild pitch. NAS scored once in the third and once in the fourth. The DUKES "tayed in the game by adding a run in the fifth, but NAS tallied again in that frame to take the lead for good. The sailors added two more runs in the seventh and one in the eighth.

The loss, third in a row for the DUKES, gave the Storymen a 13 and 10 record for the season.

A game with the Naval Retraining Command was postponed after several members of the Navy team were injured in an automobile accident. The DUKES were to meet Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base at Fort Story June 19th.

The first round of the post-intramural softball tournament ended June 13th with Headquarters Company, 8th Transportation Command "B" leading the field with a record of seven wins and two losses. The 41st Amphibious Truck Company "Barraouds" were in second place with a record of six wins and two losses.

The championship will be decided in late August, when the four top teams fight it out in a Shakespeare play-off. To date, every team has lost at least two games.

Capt. Sergeant First Class Peter C. Cret, athletic director, put it. "The tournament is very close, and the championship could go to any team."

On June 11 the J. C. Hawks encountered the Little Giants in a close duel resulting in the Hawks finishing at the favorable end of a close (6-5) battle. The Giants were able to test four run off Whitehurst in the second inning and with a display of pitching power on the part of Butler were able to contain the Hawks until the 3rd inning when one run crossed home plate for the Hawks. For the remaining innings the Giants were unable to subdue Whitehurst's pitching. He allowed only 4 men to acquire and hold bases. Only one of these scored. Two double plays by the Hawks aided Whitehurst in keeping the bases empty. In the 4th inning Butler allowed four runs which was climaxed by the power of White who gave the ball a ride that was a home run. With the start of the sixth inning the score was tied up, 5-5.

In the sixth the Little Giants were unsuccessful in scoring. White for the Hawks, on the other hand, having sparked the Hawks with a home run his previous time at bat was able to scamper around the bases to make the final score 6 to 5 in favor of the J. C. Hawks.

The second game on June 11 was between the Thunderbirds (6) and the Methodist Pipers (5) which proved to be a battle between the coaches; each aspiring to obtain the most runs before Old Man Time closed in at 9:30 P.M. after only four full innings of play. Little League regulations state that no inning will begin after 9:30 P.M. Hurst the starting pitcher for the Thunderbirds allowed 1 run to the Pipers in the opening half inning. Jay Horton for the Pipers was able to contain the Thunderbirds at first.

In the second inning both teams acquired 4 runs; thus making the score 4-4 in favor of the Pipers. In the second inning Bill Taylor, coach of the Thunderbirds, was compelled to change pitchers, substituting Thomas for Hurst. Mick Thomas quickly overcame the handicap presented by Hurst. Thomas allowed one man to get on base for the remaining 2 innings of the game. Jay Horton, although picking well was not so fortunate in the third inning, permitting 2 runs to score thus ending the game 6-5, the Thunderbirds victorious.

Ice Plaza Open For Skating

The ICE PLAZA - the only ice skating rink in this area - reopened last Saturday after being closed to make extensive improvements including enlarging the size and completely enclosing with roof.

The arena originally opened December 17, 1955 and after drawing to capacity crowds of skaters and spectators closed April 3rd this year to make the various improvements that have been completed. Among the more important phases was the increase in size of the rink to a width of 120 feet and length of 212 feet. A new lighting system was installed. R. B. Rowland, Jr., President, stated that he feels that the facility now that it is covered and completely enclosed he could maintain a frozen rink even on the warmest days. There were days during the first opening when the rays of the sun were too strong for the freezing equipment to overcome.

Along with the many improvements made was enlargement of the lobby and a new snack bar twice the size of the former. The locker room, skate room and all areas outside of the rink and on the inside have been air-conditioned.

Representing an investment of some $400,000 Mr. Rowland feels confident that skating fans will want the rink to be operated the year round. An unusual venture for this season, even in the winter time - the attendance has been such as to definitely establish that this area has a sports facility that the fans have wanted and will use.

Locker space is available for regular patrons and 800 pairs of skates for rental in sizes from infants to fit the largest adult. Skate rentals are 50 cents. The Sport Shop off the lobby carries a wide selection of skate and skating apparel.

Skating lessons can be arranged by appointment for both group and pri-

Todd Gets Second Chance At Invasion Day Battle In Movie

"I'd always wondered what the D-Day invasion of Normandy looked like from the other side, and now I know," said Richard Todd, upon the completion of the Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope screen presentation of "D-Day, the Sixth of June" in which the actor co-stars with Robert Taylor, Dana Wynter and Edmond O'Brien.

When the British actor referred to "the other side" he didn't mean that he was fighting against the Allies during World War II. Far from it, Todd was an officer with the British Sixth Airborne Division parachuted into Normandy the day before the great 1944 assault, and they fought their way westward to meet the Allied forces attacking from the Channel.

In "D-Day, the Sixth of June," however, Todd plays an infantry officer who leads his troops up the beach at Normandy after crossing the channel in an assault craft.

The CinemaScope version of the attack is realistic with several hundred performers taking part in the "invasion." But, although he had spent several days doing various scenes for the sequence under nerve-racking simulated battle conditions, Todd remained chipper throughout. The answer being that during the war, Todd saw so much action that anything short of a full-scale pitched battle against overwhelming odds was nothing.

Todd interrupted his early acting career in 1939 to volunteer for the army immediately war broke out, and during his six years of war service, the British actor traveled halfway around the world and wore all four colored berets.

Now, finally, ten years later, Hollywood has given him a realistic second-hand experience in what went on from the Channel side that historic

Pvt. Michael G. Billos, Jr., whose parents live at 2708 Atlantic ave., Virginia Beach, Va., is scheduled to leave the U. S. for Germany early next month as part of Operation Gyroscope, the Army's unit rotation plan.

Billos is a member of the 553d Field Artillery Battalion, now stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., which will replace the 18th Field Artillery Battalion in Europe.

A cannonier in the battalion's Battery C, Billos entered the Army last November and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C. He attended Virginia Beach High School.

The first regulation covering Navy enlisted men's clothes were issued in 1817. The summer dress was a white duck jacket, trousers and vest; and the winter dress, blue jacket and trousers, red vest, yellow buttons and black hat.

Alfalfa Weevil Still Troublesome

Alfalfa weevil larvae and adults are still damaging various crops throughout the state.

In his weekly report on insect activity in Virginia, Arthur P. Morris, associate entomologist at VPI, says the alfalfa weevil is causing heavy damage to ladino clover, as well as alfalfa, in different areas; and also is reported as feeding on red clover in one area. Even butter beans are victims of the weevil in at least two counties.

Morris also reports that armyworms have been doing some damage to oats, barley, rye, and wheat on the Eastern Shore, but no heavy outbreaks have been spotted anywhere as yet. Flea beetles and curworms are damaging some stands of corn, and they may become more generally distributed. Ornamental plants are being injured by woolly maple aphids, pine bark aphids, scale insects, and to a lesser extent, thrips.

The Navy has developed a new "miracle" dry lubricant in the form of easily applied plastic film only a few ten-thousandths of an inch thick, which is serviceable from 75 degrees below zero to 500 degrees above.

Homes Will Be Different If Housewife Has Say

No one is better qualified to speak up on what a home should be—or should not—have, than the woman who runs one.

And 100 homemakers spoke up recently, with authority, and with very definite ideas, to tell builders what women want in a home. They were delegates to the first Women's Congress on Housing convened in Washington by a brave man, Housing Administrator, Albert M. Cole.

Space topped the list of housing requirements cited by the delegates who represented middle-income families from every state in the country. In trimming a dream home to fit an average budget, women will sacrifice their gadgets, and Dad's garage, if necessary, to get more space inside.

Closets rated a half-day's discussion by the Congress. Besides a minimum of 5 feet of closet hanging space per person, the women asked for linen, broom and guest closets, and two closets in every master bedroom—"to avoid arguments."

The "mud room" was a new and fascinating idea presented. It is essentially a back entrance, part of the utility room, with a closet for children's outdoor clothes and a half-bath adjacent for clean-up.

More than half the women asked for a basement, "for storage, for Dad's workbench, for rough play," with, ideally, a direct entrance from outside. And absolutely essential, they said, were a family room with space for hobbies and TV and "a quite living room, not in the line of traffic." They reluctantly gave up the separate dining room, but specified an L-shaped living room with folding doors to shut off the dining area.

Three bedrooms were rated minimum—with separate bedrooms for children, if possible. "Children need a domain all their own," said these experienced homemakers.

The kitchen was whittled to working size, but everyone wanted an "eat spot" in it, away from the actual working area. "No bars, counters, or built-in stools, though. A family needs to sit down together as a family. And how can you teach children manners at a bar?"

When homemakers aired their peeves the family bathroom was first under fire, and was dubbed by one delegate "the most archaic room in the modern house." "Why can't we have wall-hung toilets?" she asked, complaining that the conventional home model is hard to clean. Many wanted hygienic, built-in wash basins—without "those ridiculous little legs you have to clean around on your hands and knees"—higher bathtubs, and a separate stall shower. Built-in storage in the bathroom also rated high.

Two new ideas met with wide approval: a double medicine cabinet, one side to have a combination lock—not key. And a long, uninterrupted towel rack all around the room, with space for everyone's towel to dry.

Today's miracle fabrics have brought another want: "A place to drip-dry the clothes we wash in the bathroom."

"We'd all like one bath per person," one delegate admitted, discussing the number of baths a home should have, "but we're restraining ourselves." None of the women, however, would settle for less than a bath-and-a-half; and most of them wanted the half-bath near the back entrance—where children can get to it easily from the play-yard.

The women spent the second day of their 3-day conference painfully looking off rooms to make their "dream home" fit the average budget. First to go: the garage or carport; next, the separate dining room; then the den-guest room. They also gave up their work-saving appliances in favor of more space to live with "room for both quiet and noisy activities."

"We're not against labor-savers, but we'll add them ourselves," they said, "so give us plenty of kitchen space and electric outlets. We'd rather choose the appliances, later, than leave it to the builder."

Out, too, went the builder's favorite cliché, the picture window—"only when it frames a picture," they decreed.

Coming from every state as they did, the women could not agree

Town Builds Hospital With Coffee And Doughnuts

When the sparkling new hospital at Eastland, Texas (population 3,626) was officially opened, more than 2,000 people attended—Negroes, slight little Mexicans, merchants, cotton field workers—for in Eastland, just about every man, woman and child had an investment in that hospital. Whether black, white or brown, whether from right or wrong side of the tracks, some donated cash—but most had contributed their labor and community spirit.

On exterior style of the house. They thought "homes in one neighborhood should be compatible," but scorned a "standard house." Over and over, they cited the need for more individual planning, according to individual family needs. The women criticized development builders and assembly line houses "about what they are doing to our trees, and what they think we want—every kind of material and color all in one house, for instance."

One group concluded: "We do not feel that architects have interested themselves enough in low-cost design. Can't an average-budget home have individuality? Must we live in a row of look-alike houses?"

Possible results of the Congress—whose delegates represented every family's longing for a better life on its own plot of ground—may be new FHA requirements that builders will have to meet to get FHA insurance for loans; and, hence, better houses for buyers. Since almost half of America's new homes are bought with Federally insured mortgages, the government has a stake in seeing that the women get what they want.

Eastland built its new medical center without a cent of government aid, built it after hours—from 6:30 P.M. till midnight—with coffee and doughnuts for pay.

Every week night, anywhere from 30 to 50 men would show up at Hospital Hill to dig the foundation ditch and basement. Lawyers, ministers, merchants, dug night, after night. The women were there, too, with coffee and doughnuts—and a few words of praise that somehow made every night a celebration. Next day the Eastland Eagle carried names of the men and women who had served the night before.

Those who couldn't work made other contributions. A washwoman started it off with $10 and others followed. One man gave a carload of cement, another most of the sand and gravel.

Out of town jobbers, learning about Eastland's project, wrote "Come and get it, we'll waive all profits." A Dallas industrialist got a special price on concrete blocks and told his managers: "Give those folks all the blocks they need and send an engineer to help lay them."

A shortage of 12,000 feet of steel threatened a work stoppage, but next morning trucks were unloading the needed steel and in addition 900 feet of reinforcing steel that was scarce as hen's teeth.

Wire was like gold in the black market, and 8,000 feet were needed for the nurses' call system, plus 2,000 feet for a public address system in every room. Letters went out, and back came the answer: "We'll supply what we can, help get the rest, and here is a list of plugs, switches, etc., we want to donate." Entrance cable was partially non-existent, and the hospital was short 135 feet. But it was found.

There never was such a definition of the word "Cooperation." Plumbers and electricians worked exhausting hours at night, with coffee and companionship to keep them awake. Women planned color schemes, draperies, pictures, linens, beds—thousands of hours of planning and working.

In even hours, 100 cubic yards of concrete were poured and, except for the man at the mixer, there was not a skilled workman among them. One bitterly cold night 35 men put on 4,000 square feet of roof decking in a high wind. You can't pay men for that—except with coffee and doughnuts.

After nine solid months of work, the hospital was finished—at a total cost of $36,112—about a third of the usual cost.

Eastland's hospital was approved by the American Medical Association, and by the State and National Hospital Associations. For insurance purposes, it was incorporated, with Board of Directors and Auxiliary. To build up a fund to run the place, there's a $3 a year assessment on water meters—but it's voluntary only.

At the grand opening, the honor of cutting the ribbon was given to the wash lady whose $10 donation started the cash contributions.

When three blasts of the town's firewhistle signaled the hospital's first patient, all Eastland stopped to wonder, and phone calls flooded the central office to learn the identity of the person who had the honor of insuring the new hospital's service. It was an 8½ pound boy, and his picture made the front page of the Eagle that night.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kasting
(Editor, Sports Afield Magazine)

No matter how good or how expensive the rest of your tackle, it's that little hook out there on the end that holds and lands your fish. Or doesn't hook him because of poor design. Or breaks or bends because of poor material.

Anglers should be most particular about trout-fly hooks. Because of their small size and necessarily light wire, they must be of very good steel, with the right temper. Hooks on most lures, being larger and of heavier wire than those used with flies, can be and usually are of somewhat lower quality, but they still serve well enough for practical fishing purposes if they're correctly designed. For regardless of good steel and proper temper, if a hook is inefficiently designed it's bound to cause unnecessary misses. So let's see what is an efficient design.

Jason Lucas, angling editor of Sports Afield Magazine, thinks that with artificials (including flies) you'll land most fish with a hook having what comes closest to a plain round bend. It is the closest to a plain round bend. It is the closest to a plain round bend. It is the closest to a plain round bend.

lures are soft enough so that you can easily reshape them with a small pliers. Hooks on better-class flies are much harder, but can usually be reshaped without breaking. Remember that for practical purposes, a bend that's somewhere nearly round will serve just as well as one that's perfectly round.

The most important point about a hook is—the point. There are three types. A (rolled-in point) is curved inward so that it points toward the eye of the hook. It is best for some large hooks, especially in deep-sea fishing, and some fishermen like it on smaller hooks for use with natural bait.

On a (parallel point) the outside of the point is parallel to the shank. Hooks of this type are used on nearly all "fresh-water artificials, including flies.

A third point is the (outpoint) where it is turned outward, away from the shank. With fresh-water artificials, and especially with the small hooks used for trout flies, a slight outpoint will hook and land a much higher percentage of your fish than will a point of any other type. Every wiggle a fish makes while you're playing him must drive that outpoint in deeper and deeper.

National Guard Units Will Be Honored June 30

The roll of the citizen-soldier of the nation's National Guard, in the anticraft defense team of the United States Army, will be highlighted when the 616th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion of South Norfolk, Va., and the 710th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion of Newport News, Va., of the Virginia National Guard, are honored at a military review, on Saturday, June 30, 1956. Ceremonies will begin at 2:30 P.M. and will take place on the parade ground inside the most of historic Fort Monroe, Va. The review will be open to the general public and in the event of inclement weather the program will be shifted to the Fort Monroe Theater.

Among the distinguished military personnel who will be in the reviewing party are Lieutenant General Stanley R. Mickelson, Commanding General, Army Antiaircraft Command, Colorado Springs, Colorado, which commands all the Army Antiaircraft Defense of the United States; Major General R. R. Hendrix, Commanding General, 2nd Antiaircraft Regional Command, Fort George G. Meade, Md. and Brigadier General Sheppard Crump, The Adjutant General of the Commonwealth of Virginia and many other distinguished guests.

During the ceremonies a scroll commemorating the occasion will be presented to the Virginia National Guard by Major General Raleigh R. Hendrix of the 2d Antiaircraft Regional Command.

In keeping with the policy to utilize the manpower available in the Reserve Component Forces, which include the National Guard, whenever possible in the National Defense, the Department of the Army established a formalized procedure for incorporating the National Guard units into the Antiaircraft Defense of the Continental United States.

Both the 616th AAA Battalion and the 710th AAA Battalion have completed the initial training under supervision of regular Army instruction and are presently occupying Antiaircraft 90-millimeter sites, which are part of the Tidewater Defense Area. They have approximately 15 full-time guardsmen on each of the sites who are responsible for the maintenance of the weapons and the fire control equipment. The other personnel in the battalions train during the weekly drill period at the sites in order to maintain their combat readiness and efficiency.

In the event of an emergency, personnel of the National Guard battalions are capable of manning their sites within a minimum period of time. Through their presence, this defense is increased from 3 to 5 antiaircraft artillery battalions.

Both of the National Guard units participated regularly in defense exercises with the regular Army units in the Tidewater Defense, and have demonstrated that they are fully capable of operating with the 3d Antiaircraft Artillery Group and will add greatly to the overall effectiveness of the Defense of this area.

The 616th AAA and the 710th AAA Battalions belong to the 224th AAA Group, Commanded by Colonel Edwin W. Thompson, which is under the 107th Bridge located at Sandston, Va. and under command of Brigadier General F. H. Garber.

Participating in the military review will be the 56th Army Band, the 39th Antiaircraft Artillery Missile Battalion, 6th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion and the 550th Antiaircraft Battalion, Headquarters and Headquarters Battery of the 3d Area Group, which are all part of the 3d Antiaircraft Group, Norfolk, Va. These units are part of the regular Army personnel stationed in this area. It's a dear bargain to buy insurance from the "sell 'em and forget 'em" agent who doesn't bother keeping a professional eye on your constantly changing insurance requirements.

We have a hunch you'd rather BUY FROM AN AGENT who takes a personal interest in you and your family, who takes the time to review your needs periodically so that you never have too little—or too much—insurance.

That's how this Agency conducts its business.

HOW TO SELECT A MEMORIAL

Many people neglect one of their most important obligations—selection of a cemetery memorial—simply because they know so little about memorials and feel unqualified to make a suitable selection.

May we suggest that you call for our free booklet "How to Select a Memorial." It pictures over 24 different memorial designs and outlines the seven things which should be taken into consideration in the selection of a memorial.

We also have dozens of memorial designs on display in our office and yard, and will be happy to show you these and explain the merits of each. There is no obligation and we'll do our best to help you solve your memorial problems.

How $10 And An Idea Launched A Business

A steady stream of customers stops at Ethel Perkins' antique shop, the Christmas Lantern, in Baton, New Hampshire, and a successful business of her own has given Mrs. Perkins a "brand new lease on life." But she got into the business more or less by accident.

A few years ago, Mrs. Perkins needed money and an interest, to keep from going on the shelf. She had tried selling homemade food and lost money. She cooked for two local inns and worked herself to a frazzle.

She was sitting on her front porch one day with her son, watching the tourists go by. Her son suddenly jumped up, went into the house, and returned in a few minutes with a board on which he had printed "Antiques." He nailed up the sign and said to his mother "You're in business."

But Mrs. Perkins knew nothing about the antique business—or any other business. However, she had always loved beautiful old furniture, china and glass, and had Running a small business on consignment will never make you rich," Mrs. Perkins says, "but you can have comfortable income, help a lot of friends and neighbors do the same, and meet many interesting and nice people from near and far. As for me, I keep busy at a business that doesn't overtax my strength. All told, I'm enjoying life."

Her capital consisted of about $10, not enough to buy much additional stock. But from her neighbors she got other nice things to sell on consignment.

The consignment feature is her key idea. She assembles antiques from people she knows and lets them set their own prices. She runs the shop and collects a commission of 25% when a sale is made. The consignor can come in at any time to look at the price tags, to see how they are being treated fairly. If an article does not sell, Mrs. Perkins suggests a change in price; she refuses to keep any item for more than eight months.

Friends spread the word of her shop to their friends, and many lovely old pieces appeared from never-reach. Soon her biggest problem was how to keep enough stock.

Her next step was to enlarge the business by giving her neighbors a market for their skills. One woman made unusual party aprons, others beautiful beaded and hooked rugs, distinctive haversacks and laundry bags of colored sheeting (with customers' names stenciled on). A talented amateur artist supplied saleable paintings. These and many other things she sells on commission.

Bargain tables in her front yard, with signs advertising any article 25c, any article 50c, lure many customers who otherwise would drive by.

Realizing the importance of a good name, one that people would remember, Mrs. Perkins christened her place "The Christmas Lantern" and hung out a decorative lantern to support it.

Exercise Is Doctors' Weapon In Fighting Disease

You'll be surprised at the cures and preventions doctors now attribute to the benefits of exercise. After years of disregard and even disapproval muscle twitching instead of full swallowing is becoming the prescription for treating a host of ailments and even avoiding them in the first place.

Recently, a top-notch New York physician stated that about half of his patients could cure themselves of their ailments "if they did no more than spend an hour walking every day." His words are indicative of a drastic reversal in medical thinking based on the eye-opening results of dozens of scientific studies in the last few years.

Twenty years ago, a young veterinarian who developed spinal arthritis soon after finishing college, couldn't even stay on his back to sleep. Many drugs were tried without success, then his doctor prescribed wrestling: the manipulation and heat might relieve the arthritis.

The young man's slightest movement produced stabbing pains; even the thought of wrestling hurt. It was four months before he could wrestle without first doing heavily with painkillers.

A few months ago, that same veterinarian won his fourth National Amateur Athletic Union wrestling title. He has long been free of spinal arthritis.

At Bellevue Hospital not long ago, a group of the most severely afflicted arthritis patients, averaging 44 years of age, crippled by arthritis for an average of 9½ years, were given drugs—and exercise. One third of them, formerly regarded as hopeless, are now able to perform all usual activities of daily living, and the remainder have shown a substantial increase in ability to function for themselves.

At a Veterans Administration hospital, all pain and other symptoms were relieved in 70 burstsitis patients—by a few simple exercises. And simple exercises have stopped or decreased the number and severity of attacks in many patients suffering from bronchial asthma and pulmonary emphysema, two crippling, chronic and difficult-to-treat respiratory diseases.

In obesity, exercise has been dismissed as worse than useless, because it develops an appetite for more calories than it burns up. But there's evidence that reasonable exercise actually does not increase appetite, and helps one reduce by replacing fat tissue with muscle protein.

Nowhere has there been a stronger reversal of opinion about exercise than in heart disease. Today, not only is regulated activity often prescribed after the acute stage of a heart attack is over, but many top authorities believe exercise important in preventing heart ailments. Dr. Paul D. White, famed cardiologist who attended President Eisenhower, believes that those who play golf and have a heart attack at 45 might have had an attack at 46 if they hadn't played golf. "We don't think that exercise itself is responsible," he declared. "In fact, I am of the impression that it really helped to delay the onset of this (the) attack rather than cause it."

One recent British study covering 2½ million people showed that those in sedentary or "light work" occupation have a far higher coronary heart disease rate than those in "heavy" work such as mining and heavy farming.

Medical investigators stress the value of exercise in preventing or lessening other problems. Dr. Ernest Simonson, of the University of Minnesota Medical School, has found that exercise helps adapt the heart and lungs to handle more oxygen for the muscles for action without strain, and also helps the central nervous system to resist the effects of fatigue. Last year in London, a world congress of old age specialists were told that regular exercise can slow the aging of muscles that takes place after 40.

Dr. Hans Kraus of New York University states that physically active people have low weight, blood pressure and pulse rate, whereas the physically inactive age earlier and die younger, are more prone to backaches, duodenal ulcers, lung cancer, appendicitis, cirrhosis of the liver and other organic ailments—and psychiatric illness, too.

A West Point study showed the relationship between exercise and mental health. Cadets with the lowest physical fitness had the most psychiatric problems and were most likely to flunk out for psychiatric reasons.

Many people, burdened with worries, have discovered that there is nothing like physical exercise to divert the mind, reduce tension, insure more restful sleep and increase vigor. This does not mean that anybody with a serious ailment or who has been living a sedentary existence should suddenly rush for the nearest tennis court.

But it does mean that, with the advice of your doctor, a well-planned program of physical activity may go a long way toward helping to correct many problems.

COLONY RESTAURANT "BEST AT BEACH"

"The person who told us your food was the best on the Beach knew exactly what they were talking about," so said Esther Jolly, of Salem, Virginia, after a recent meal at the Colony Restaurant on Atlantic Ave. in the Jefferson Hotel building. This patron's remark is typical of many who have discovered the enjoyment and fine food to be had at the Colony. (ADV.)

The flags of the 15 NATO nations fly in front of the Allied Command Atlantic headquarters at Norfolk, Va. The United States flag in the left corner occupies the place of honor. Other flags are: Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Turkey, United Kingdom, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany and Greece. With the exception of the U.S. flag, the banners are rotated daily.

Unique Ceremony Takes Place Daily At NATO Headquarters

A unique, but little known ceremony occurs daily at the only NATO command headquarters located in the U.S. — the headquarters of the Supreme Allied Commander, Atlantic — in Norfolk, Va. — when the flags of the 15 member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are hoisted at morning colors.

Promptly at eight o'clock each morning, including weekends and holidays, the semi-circle of flagpoles, manned by a crack squad of United States Marines assigned to the international headquarters, have the brightly colored flags hoisted to their peaks, where they remain until sundown.

These flags are symbols of the NATO nations who are dedicated to world peace and the prevention of armed aggression against any or all of them. Norfolk is a fitting location for the world's first international ocean command, presently headed by Admiral Jerauld Wright, USN. Often referred to as the capital of the U.S. Navy, this seacoast town is the site of the world's largest naval base.

The daily routine of this international group consists of formulating plans and policies deemed necessary in the event of armed hostilities, when it would become of prime importance to guard the Atlantic Ocean, lifeline of our allies in Europe. Here, too, are planned the large-scale land, sea and air exercises which are conducted for purposes over the area under Admiral Wright's jurisdiction.

C. W. Glotzbach, Director of Internal Revenue for the Richmond District, announces today that he now has available a supply of the Form to be used by farmers to claim refunds of the Federal tax paid on gasoline and certain other fuels. The official Form 2240 may be obtained by writing or calling the director's office at Richmond. They may also be obtained through local county agricultural agents. The public law authorizing this refund was approved by the President on April 2, 1956.

Mr. Glotzbach advised farmers of this area to file their claim with his office after June 30th. Claim is to be made for taxes paid on gas purchased and used for farming purposes between January 1 and June 30. The claim must be filed before October 1.

The director cautioned farmers to read carefully the instructions on the Form 2240 before filing and advised them to keep sufficient records to permit verification of the amount claimed.

Local Man Is Credited With Development Of Rescue System

A retired Coast Guardsman who is now a resident of Virginia Beach is credited with developing a rescue communication system which is now in use by Navy and Air Force Commands along the Atlantic Coast.

He is Commander J. P. White, who is now a real estate representative for Kellam-Eaton Insurance Company here. White is credited with developing the "hotline" net, model for the new coastal system, who was district rescue coordination officer for the Coast Guard at the time.

Cmdr. G. R. Evans, USCG, district rescue coordination officer, said the new communications link has already been put to use in several assistance cases in recent days. Two more stations will soon be added to the network, which extends from New England to Florida.

The new net links major air bases and search and rescue facilities, enabling them to receive voice distress messages simultaneously. Coast Guard authorities anticipate it will save time, particularly precious in aircraft distress cases.

The system may also be an economy measure, Evans indicated. He pointed out that when one of the stations on the net has information on an aircraft listed as "overdue" elsewhere, a quick transmission on the new rescue net may save the needless expense of dispatching a search plane.

Put into action in 1953, the hotline has been a busy net—and a useful one, Coast Guardsmen say—since its inception. There is now a proposal for the addition of four new stations to the district network, bringing the total to 12.

The new, inter-district net now connects Westover Air Force Base, Mass.

Rescue Coordination Center, First Coast Guard District, Boston; Naval Air Base, Quonset Point, R. I.; Commander Eastern Sea Frontier (Naval Air Station), Norfolk; Atlantic Fleet headquarters, Norfolk; Rescue Coordination Center, Fifth Coast Guard District, Norfolk; Naval Air Base, Jacksonville, Fla.; and Rescue Coordination Center, Seventh Coast Guard District, Miami, Fla.

The two stations soon to be added are Olmstead Air Force Base, Fla., and Naval Air Base, Atlantic City, N. J. Within each Coast Guard District along the seaboard, local hotline nets similar to the one devised here will be established.

City Recreation Group Will Aid Swim Pool Drive

The Virginia Beach City Recreation Commission voted unanimously Tuesday afternoon to sponsor a drive that would result in the construction of a public swimming pool in Virginia Beach.

The committee proposal called for a drive to get the swimming pool project underway. The swimming pool, when built, would be centrally located within the city.

Members of the committee are Frank D. Tamm, Jr., chairman; E. B. Bayne, Charles S. Kiley, James A. Johnson, Jr. and F. M. Durham, Jr.

The new, inter-district net now connects Westover Air Force Base, Mass.

In his second year in this part and he comes very close to stealing the show.

The cast of nearly 150 actors, singers, dancers, and musicians and the backstage crew of about 12 men made this year's opening a great success.

This only mentions a few of the highlights of the show. We could go on and on but leave it to you to visit Williamsburg and enjoy for yourself.

The drama is very ably narrated for the third season by Gray L. Brownlight, Jr. who seems to appear out of nowhere to fill in the history of the play.

The key role of "Mr. Jefferson" is portrayed this year by David Weston. Through his desire to attain the most of his acting and speaking abilities he practiced all through the winter months by himself on the huge stage of the Matoska Lake Amphitheatre. A "tip of the hat" to him for both his efforts and his performance which show the making of a fine, acting career.

Dance Director, Myra Kinch, has re-choreographed the play and filling dances for this year's production.

Michael Hank, adds a delightful spark of comedy, in the role of "town character" Cephus Slickmore. This

When Walter Lee Banks and Billy McClanahan finished in a dead-heat with 178's it was necessary to hold a sudden death play-off to decide third place honors.

Young Banks eliminated McClanahan on the extra hole with a par 4. Alternates who finished fifth and sixth were Randy Zehner with 96 - 83 - 179 and Charles McDowell with 88 - 94 - 182.

Playground Is Popular With Beach Youths

The children of Virginia Beach are showing a great deal of enthusiasm in the summer recreation program by their steady increase in number each week. The first two weeks of the program show that approximately 3300 children have taken part in some phase of the curriculum offered. Last week the program counted a total of 1450 participants while 1660 took part this week.

The entire curriculum this week has been centered around "arts and crafts". Many beautiful and useful projects have been completed. Pot holders, tie racks, paintings and many other things have been completed. Prizes will be awarded for the best pieces of work.

The agenda for next week calls for Hobby Week. The work will be designed so as to allow each child to work on his own hobby. A very interesting and worthwhile program has been planned by the supervisor, Mrs. Rosemary Lamb, and Mrs. Oran Avelt. Each child is asked to bring as many of the materials as possible, and the rest will be supplied by the city. If you do not have a hobby come out to the playgrounds anyway and provisions will be made to try to help you find a hobby and other activities will be taking place also.

Many tourists have been taking advantage of the newly opened tennis courts and playground. If any visitor is interested in horseback, shuffleboard, badminton and etc.

Beware - If Careless On Water, Beach

The Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors yesterday renewed their war on reckless driving on the beaches or the waters of Princess Anne County.

It will enforce a 1949 ordinance against speeding by boats through the Narrows or the Beach Canal and enacted an ordinance which put stiff penalties on reckless driving on the sand beaches. It also amended an ordinance to put teeth into the law against leaving trash on the beaches.

Commonwealth's Attorney Robert S. Wahab Jr. told the board that the 1949 ordinance adequately enforced would take care of countless violations of speeding and recklessness. The ordinance put a speed limit of six statute miles per hour on any boat passing through the Beach Canal located at the entrance to Chesapeake Bay from Broad Bay and the Narrows which connects Broad Bay and Linkhorn Bay. It also prohibits placing of obstructions such as fishing nets, traps, etc., in the areas designated.

Wahab told the board he has had innumerable calls protesting the use of power boats towing water skiers through the two areas. He said the practice is very dangerous and that "someone is going to be hurt here." He also said, "I think that this is definitely a violation of this ordinance."

Copies of the ordinance will be printed and distributed so that users of these water areas may be warned. County police were instructed to post water speed limits.

The board approved an ordinance

Pungo Airfield Suitable For Detention Site

The Princess Anne County board of supervisors met Monday that use of the abandoned Pungo Navy Air Field as the site for an area juvenile detention center is economically feasible.

Richard J. Webson, executive secretary to the board, said studies by a hospital committee show that State aid will be available for the operation and staffing of such an area facility.

Plans being considered by the board is to convert structures at the abandoned air field into a detention center which also would serve Virginia Beach, Portsmouth South Norfolk and Norfolk County.

In the plans also is a proposal to convert another building at the site into a hospital and home for the aged. Webson said this proposal calls for the conversion to be financed through donations from civic groups.

A survey now is being made to determine exactly what is necessary to meet the juvenile detention needs of the five political subdivisions which would use an area facility.

Blast In County Still Mystery

A month-rattling explosion that startled residents in widely scattered areas of Princess Anne County Monday just before noon remains unexplained by military authorities.

The impact of the explosion was felt from Ocean View to the Municipal Airport and deeper into the county. Windows rattled and housewives reported having been "almost knocked down" by the explosion.

Many sources—both civilian and military—thought perhaps the incident was caused by a jet aircraft breaking the sound barrier. However, one Navy officer at the Oceana Naval Air Station doubted this possibility. "Breaking the barrier has become a serious business these days," he said, "and pilots know better, especially in closely congested areas," he said.

Because of a light cloud hovering off the coast it was believed possible that the explosion was caused by a "break of reversionation" from anti-aircraft weapons at the Fleet Air Defense Center at Dam Neck. Often times clouds, hanging low over the ocean front, will "bounce" sound back against the mainland; one Navy officer said, causing a loud explosive impact.

Two Princess Anne County Men Jailed In Bank Holdup. Portion Of Money Recovered

Beach Police, FBI Join In Breaking Bank Robbery Case

Late Wednesday the Virginia Beach Police Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation arrested two Princess Anne County men and charged them with the robbery of the Atlantic Avenue branch of the Bank of Virginia Beach on Tuesday. The two men were lodged in the Virginia Beach City Jail.

Arrested were Grover Whitehurst, of Creds, and Russell L. Stevens, of west 17th Street just outside of the city limits. Both have been charged with robbery.

Virginia Beach Police Chief Reeve E. Johnson released the news of the arrest along with Ray Falout, special agent in charge of the Norfolk Office of the FBI.

At the time of the arrest some portion of the $4400 was recovered and investigators indicated they expected to recover the balance through further investigation.

Johnson reported that members of the Virginia Beach Police Department, the Princess Anne Police, the State Police and FBI agents worked until 3 o'clock Wednesday morning on the case and resumed the investigation at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. A confession was obtained from the men around noon on Wednesday.

The investigation revealed that Whitehurst was the man who entered the bank and approached Mrs. Louise Glass, the bank teller.

An immediate mock check was initiated from 14th to 26th Streets throughout Virginia Beach after the robbery. The two men were spotted through the clothes they were wearing and Virginia Beach officers apprehended the pair at Steven's home on 17th Street.

(The following story was written prior to the arrest of Whitehurst and Stevens and is published to give the background of the daring bank robbery.)

For the second time within the past six months the Atlantic Avenue branch office of the Bank of Virginia Beach was robbed by a lone bandit shortly before noon Tuesday in much the same manner as the previous holdup last December. The two were strangely similar in pattern.

The robbery brought law enforcement officers from various agencies, including the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Within a very few minutes after the holdup was reported to local police a roadblock was set up on all roads leading into Virginia Beach.

According to one of the bank's employees, the bandit, who did not know the name of the bank's teller, entered through the bank's main entrance.

Commonwealth's Attorney Robert S. Wahab Jr. said Mrs. Louise Glass, assistant cashier and manager of the branch, gave this account of the robbery:

"It was about 11:40 a.m. She said she was alone in the bank, the only cashier having gone next door momentarily. He (the bandit) came in and walked directly to her window. He had a folded paper in his left hand. He passed the bag under the window to her, and on it was taped, with Scotch tape, a note.

"The note said: 'I know you bank. Fill the bag. Do not press the alarm.' (The bandit, in saying 'I know you bank,' apparently referred also to Mrs. Dorothy Wade, a teller and the only other employee at the branch besides Mrs. Glass.) The man had another bag in his right hand. She thought he might have had a gun in it.

"Then he took the bag with the note bank from under the window and handed another bag over the top of the window. She could not recall whether this second bag was the one she had seen in his right hand. She took the money from her drawer and put it in the bag and handed it back to him over the top of the window.

"He took the bag, turned and walked toward the door. He stopped about half way, and turned back to her and said, 'Give me five minutes, and wait out the door.'"

Mrs. Wade, the other teller, said she saw the bandit seconds after the robbery.

"I had gone out for coffee next door at the restaurant," she said. "Coming back, I was about halfway between the bank and the Princess Anne County Courthouse when I saw a man with a paper bag in his left hand."

"He was walking and when I looked at him he quickened his pace. I came in the bank and saw Louise. She was real white. She threw up her hands and said, 'We've been robbed again!'"

WASHINGTON, June 22, 1956

Honorable Harry F. Byrd, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

Dear Senator Byrd:

This is with reference to your letter to the Attorney General of June 7, 1956, in which you state that you have been asked to request the Attorney General to render an opinion as to the intent of Congress as referred to in paragraph 28 of the enclosed memorandum of Mr. Archie L. Bowtell. The reference is apparently to Public Law 815 of the 81st Congress, 20 U.S.C. paragraph 251, et seq.

I regret that the Attorney General is unable to comply with your request. The Attorney General is authorized by law to furnish legal opinions only to the President and to the heads of the executive departments (5 U.S.C. paragraphs 303, 304), and it has uniformly been held by the Attorneys General that they are precluded from rendering opinions on legal questions to members of the Congress. See 39 Op. A. G. 343, 36 Op. A. G. 332.

Very truly yours,

(S) Warren Olney, III

Chamber Drive Tribute To Unity

The highly successful "blitz" membership drive of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce which was held last week is a perfect example of what teamwork and unity of spirit can accomplish. It is the type of community and civic life that we need and must have to keep moving forward.

The membership drive consumed a total of three hours from nine in the morning until twelve noon. During this period an army of volunteer workers brought in more than 60 new members to the Chamber of Commerce and in many cases old members increased the amount of their dues. Some $3500 was raised during the "blitz" drive.

Although it is important that the drive was able to raise the necessary funds to put the Chamber of Commerce back on the financial feet it is even more important that the members pulled together and worked together in making the campaign a successful one.

We have advocated many times through these columns that such teamwork was necessary for the successful operation of a Chamber of Commerce. We have urged that the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce put its house in order and get down to the serious promotional business that it is designed to perform. The Chamber of Commerce, to be successful, must work for all of the people and it cannot operate successfully unless there is a spirit of unity and teamwork among its members.

It appears that the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce is off the ground now and well on its way to re-establishing itself as a driving force in the advancement of the commercial life of this community.

The success of the recent membership drive and the improved financial position of the Chamber of Commerce is a tribute to its leaders and to its president, Harold B. Kellam. It is our desire to see the Chamber of Commerce continue to improve and we feel confident that with its present able leadership and the spirit of cooperation evidenced by the membership drive that it will maintain itself as a strong voice in the commercial development of our resort.

We Welcome A New Minister

This week we are happy to welcome in to our midst the new pastor of the Virginia Beach Methodist Church and his family. He is the Reverend Charles O. Kidd, who comes to Virginia Beach from Farmville, Virginia.

The Reverend Kidd is a native of Richmond and has served pastorates in Rocky Mount and Chatham before going to Farmville. He has been in Farmville for the past four years.

We are delighted to have the opportunity of welcoming the Reverend Kidd and his family to Virginia Beach and from information gleaned from his religious and social background we feel that our community is fortunate, indeed, to add the Reverend Kidd to our church colony of ministers.

The Reverend Kidd comes to us with a background that indicates his keen interest in civic matters, in addition to his work with the church. He is a past president of the Rocky Mount Rotary club and has been active in the past in many phases of his community's life.

Many of our people, including members of the Methodist Church as well as non-members, keenly regretted the loss of the Reverend C. Stanley Lowell, whom Reverend Kidd succeeds at the Virginia Beach Church, but we feel that the Reverend Kidd will ably carry on the church's work in the same splendid manner.

Babe Ruth League News

EDDIE BONNEY, JR.

This bespectacled young man has been the talk of the bachelorettes during the first few games of the Babe Ruth League season. Eddie plays shortstop for the Tanker Station "Spots" and his strong and accurate arm from the deep infield spot has played a major part in his team's attempt to gain the lead in league play.

This will be Eddie's only year of Babe Ruth ball but he is being scouted for use on the VHSIS team next season.

During the first few games, Bonney has been among the first ten hitters. He possesses a nice smooth swing that usually sends the ball toward right center.

Eddie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Bonney of 726 Norfolk Ave.

JUDSON BRYANT:

Bryant, a husky fellow of 14, has been furnishing a potent bat that has helped in keeping his team's Coca Cola "Cokes" in or near the top in the Babe Ruth League.

mouth, don't be alarmed that it might be tobacco, it's just a whole pack of gum.

Gary is using his short stature to good avail as he is leading the league in walks to date.

CHARLIE KRUMMEL:

Charlie has been doing a bang-up job at the shortstop position for the league leading Princess Anne Lumber "Dodgers".

Charlie is a good hitter, possessing a .333 average to date, with several of them long drives to right center. He is very fast on the bases and possesses a good arm.

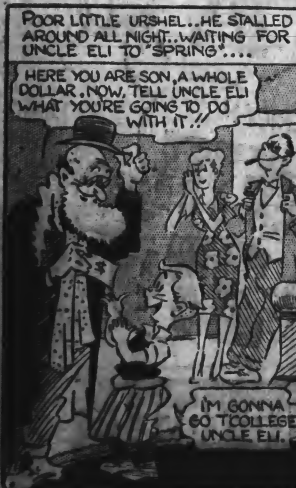

Krummell might be a name to remember in Va. Beach sports as he looked very good with the VB Junior Varsity last fall before moving to Florida for most of the winter. A well built young man

Charlie could become quite an athlete as time goes by.

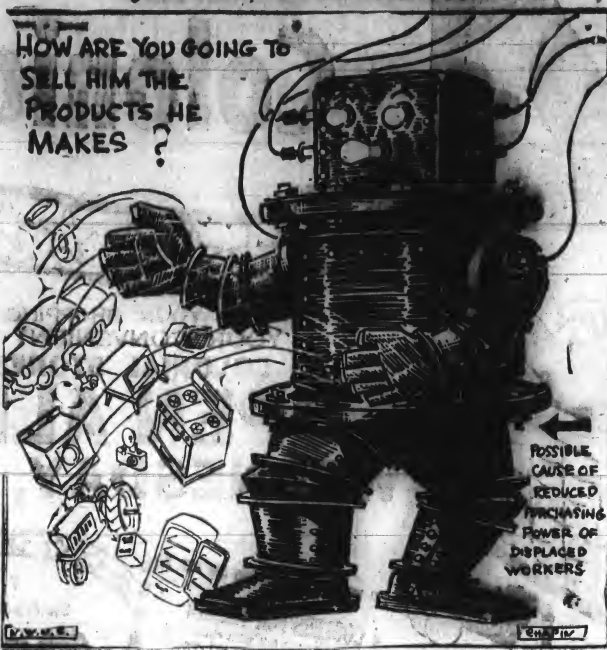

Charlie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krummell of 3706 Meer Street in Crystal Acres.

Entering the third week of play the Kempville Cardinals and the Bayside Lions are definitely flexing their muscles in the Princess Anne Midget and Junior Baseball Leagues.

The Kempville Cardinals in the Midget League have defeated the Amphibious Base, Glenrock, and Diamond Springs for a perfect record of three wins and no defeats.

In the Junior League it looks like a run-away with the Bayside Lions taking a commanding lead. Thus far, the Lions have won all their games.

The first half of the Junior League officially came to a halt Tuesday, July 3rd. A meeting will be held in the County Court Trial Room, July 2nd at 7:30 PM. Groups and organizations desiring to enter a team in the second half of league play must have a representative at the meeting to discuss amendments to the League Constitution and By-Laws and the schedule for the second half.

The age limit for the Junior League is 13 to 16. A boy cannot have reached his 16th birthday prior to 1 September 1956. All participants must reside in Princess Anne County.

National Little League News

On the evening of June 18 the Pipers took on the Little Giants in a fine game which was climaxed in the fourth inning by a timely home run by Buddy Copeedge. The Giants opened play by forcing two men out base; however, failed to bring them in. The Pipers retaliated by bringing six men to bat; scoring two. With two away in the second inning the Giants acquired 4 bases on balls, which forced in Farnes. Coped pitching by Butler held the Pipers without a score in the second. The Giants not to be denied, scored Martin and Wilson in the third to tie the score at 2 - 2. Dooey, the first batter to the Pipers in the third inning, slammed out a double which eliminated in his scoring. The third inning ended Giants 3, Pipers 2. In the fourth Horton allowed one walk, but quickly retired the sides by striking the next three players out. For the Pipers, Horton led off by getting on base. Bud Copeedge stepped up next and cleaned the bases with a home run. The score was then 6 - 3. Pipers ahead. The score remained 6 - 3 till the end. Pitchers Butler and Horton are to be commended.

For the second game Monday June 18, 1956, it was the J. C. Hawks against the Thunderbirds. The pitchers were Hurst, all the way, to the Thunderbirds and Ratney, Carcass, Whitehurst for the J. C. Hawks. Although having evigent difficult with the pitchers J. C. Hawks managed to pull out on the top end of the 7 - 4 score. The Hawks got the bases loaded in the opening half inning; however, failed in their efforts to score. For the Thunderbirds it was three up and three down. In the second Thomas led off with a home run. While, Russell and Allen succeeded him with two doubles and a single respectively. Thus, at the end of 2 complete innings the score was 3 - 0: Thunderbirds ahead. The Hawks drive began in the third with a splendid home run by Daley which brought two men across the plate. Two flies to Russell at short stop and a strike out left the score 3 - 2 at the end of three. The Thunderbirds again scored in the fourth. The Hawks took to the air in the fifth, flying circles around their opponent. On a home run by Garceau three runs were scored; yet before the sides retired two more runs came in. A fine show of power by the Hawks climaxed the inning by bringing the score to 7 - 4. Hawks. In the remaining inning neither team was able to score. Home runs played no small part in this game.

way with both teams striving to win. In the bottom of the sixth, first up for the Rotarians at the plate, was Jeff Norman who blasted a single to right field, followed by Jan White who hit to second forcing out Norman who was trying to reach the base. With one man aboard Billy Hubbard connected with a double, scoring White for the winning run.

Potter being the winning pitcher gave up 7 hits to the losing Tigers.

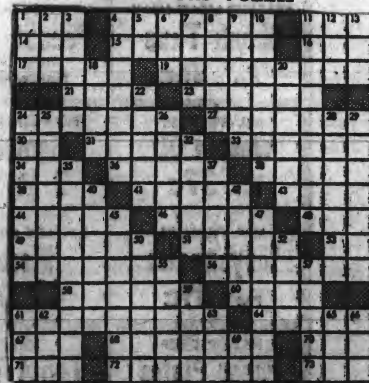

Last Thursday's National League play began with the overwhelming defeat of the Pipers (1) at the hands of the spirited Thunderbirds (12). The Pipers led off with a double by Terrell, the first batter, Terrell, the only score for the Pipers, was brought across the plate on a single by Copeedge. The Thunderbirds returned by getting two men on base, with Thomas at bat. Despite defensive precautions Thomas slugged out another home run, bringing in the two preceding runners with him. At the end of one inning the score was 3 to 1, favor Thunderbirds. The succeeding two innings were scoreless; the pitchers Thomas (Thunderbirds) and Dooey (Pipers) competing. Dooey displaying his ability struck out 5 Thunderbird batters; getting an assist on the sixth. Thomas proved his worth throughout the entire game with his stalwart and aggressive pitching, allowing no further scoring on the part of the Pipers. In the fourth White scored for the Thunderbirds. In the fifth the Pipers fell apart. Pitchers Dooey and Bonny, although pitching hard, permitted six walks and 3 hits which resulted in 8 runs in the inning. Thomas again held the Pipers in the opening half of the sixth inning. Thus the game ended in a decided victory for the Thunderbirds. (12-1.)

As the home team Little Giants played host to the J. C. Hawks in the second game Thursday. Playing the roll of a poor host the Giants, under the able handling of Sanderlin, forced the capable batters of the Hawks, as proven in the previous game, to succumb to a 13 - 2 defeat. Sanderlin neatly struck out the first three Hawks batters, then proceeded to lead the Thunderbirds in offensive play by scoring 4 runs himself. Included were 3 hits - a home run, a single and a double. In the first the Giants made 3 runs. Garceau retaliated by leading off for the Hawks with a double, but was held at third as the next three men were put out. With two men on in the second Sanderlin released his hoer. In the third, for the Hawks, it was 3 up and 3 down. The Giants were held to 1 run. Daley ably hammered a double in the fourth but again the inning ended, leaving him on base. The Giants brought 2 runners in in the second half of the fourth. Score 9 - 0. In the fifth the Giants got 4 runs on 3 hits. Not willing to loose without some recognition the J. C. Hawks were able in their half of the sixth to push in two runners. Sanderlin must certainly be given credit for his offensively and defensive play.

Kempsville Horse Show Group Named For Golden Jubilee Event

At a joint meeting of the Kempsville Woman's Club and Kempsville Rural Club held recently, committee chairman were named for the coming Horse Show which will be the sixth year of this successful event. This year it will be a part of the "Golden Jubilee" program, which is being staged in celebration of the 50th Anniversary of Virginia Beach. The Virginia Beach High School stadium has been chosen as the setting and show dates are listed for August 3rd, 4th and 5th.

The Kempsville Woman's Club Horse Show offers a thrilling entertainment and a large turn out is expected due to vacationers of the resort and the whole of the Tidewater area. A greater display than ever before is promised as this year marks the change from a two day show to a three day event. High quality horses from Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina will participate, as well as those of local interest.

The Kempsville Woman's Club has been the dominant factor for the past few years in keeping alive the interest in horse shows in the Norfolk area. In 1950, its members elected this form of entertainment to raise funds for worthy civic causes. A Dental X-Ray was presented to the Welfare Center of the Grandy Sanatorium, a Dental Chair and equipment was installed at the Kempsville Elementary School, a movie projector, screen and tape recorder has been given to the Area School for the Mentally Retarded, a deserving senior who had chosen teaching as a career has been the recipient of a scholarship each year and the Volunteer Fire Department of Kempsville and Davis Corner have received support. Girls State and the Girls Scout Branchville, Virginia is the managing director and is widely known throughout the eastern states for his interest in the horse world. The show will consist of a well rounded program of polo, hunters, jumpers, three and five-gaited horses and the beautiful Palmetto Parade horses.

Of local interest are the horses of Mr. C. Edgar Winn, who has been a loyal supporter of horse shows for a number of years. He is a true sportsman and his daughter Carolyn is an equestrian of considerable ability, having received the "Blue" in the winners circle on many occasions. Mr. Winn has recently purchased a five-gaited mare of beauty and quality, which has been published in the picture with Grace Kelly (now Princess Grace of Monaco) in her recent picture "The Swan".

Mrs. W. S. Wilder of Greystone Stables, Virginia Beach is one of the leading exhibitors in this section. Her daughter Keith, performs skillfully on their three and five-gaited horses. Keith has a most successful season last year and has gotten off to a fine start this year. In the recent Suffolk Show she was the winner of several first places.

The pony class is well represented due to the vast amount of interest shown in the division throughout the county and Virginia Beach. Gerry Ashburn, well known for her horsemanship and ability to teach young riders will have several entries in these classes. Dr. Robert E. Vanner and his wife, Dr. HILL, have also contributed generously toward making this division popular.

Other Committee chairman named are as follows: Mrs. R. E. Dorner, Secretary; Mrs. Sam Orent, treasurer; Financial Chairman Mr. R. L. Wolter, Jr.; Financial Secretary Mrs. R. L. Walker, Jr.; Chairman and co-chairman: Ada - W. W. Johnson, Mrs. L. E. Burford; Catalyst Mrs. J. D. Gregory; Trophies Mrs. W. F. Hudgins, Sr., and Mrs. C. C. Hudgins; Sponsors Mrs. E. L. Hudgins and Mr. W. F. Hudgins, Jr.; Hospitality Mrs. L. M. Clarke and O. C. Drexler; Tickets Mrs. J. B. Day and W. H. Fitzmaurice; Publicity Lyman S. Clarke; Grounds and Decoration Mrs. C. A. Bank Robbery

"I sat the coffee down and ran out. When I got outside, he wasn't quite to the corner (Atlantic Avenue and 18th Street). I started to run, but he turned the corner and by the time I got there he was gone."

"Then I banged on the window of the restaurant and one of the waiters came out. I ran on down toward Pacific Avenue (which runs parallel to Atlantic). I looked in all the alleys and in the bus station, but he had disappeared. I saw a policeman and and their assistants of each department. Awards of appreciation were given each worker.

A special treat of the evening was the singing of the theme song by three of the small children "On Your Mark, Get Set, Go." Wendy Garred of the nursery department, and Thia Garred and Rhonda Butler of the Beginners. The song was then sung by the rest of the pupils.

Each department presented its own program and each pupil received his certificate and a picture of Christ. 2 special awards were given to Diane Bowdoin and Vickie Moore for reciting perfectly their memory verses each day. These girls were in the Junior department.

These awards were presented to the girls by Mrs. Holloman.

Mrs. Winston Athey gave a short talk on the value of Vacation Bible School in the over all ministry of the church.

The offering was taken and a part of it was presented to Dr. W. Leonard Murphy, pastor of the church to be given to the new chapel that is being built on Third Street.

After the program the parents and friends were invited to visit the class rooms to see the hard work and books on display.

gave him a description of the man, then went back to the bank."

She described the hold-up man as about six feet tall, 200 pounds, and about 35 or 36 years old. He wore "goggle-type" glasses and had on a gray cap with an unusually long visor, a red plaid shirt with a gray backboard, and gray cotton trousers. His collar was open and his shirt-tail was out.

She said she was not certain whether she had ever seen him before at the bank but thought she would recognize him if she saw him again.

The bandit in the December 23 robbery was described as between five feet five inches, and five feet 10 inches tall, 45 or 50 years old, wearing eyeglasses that appeared to be taped to his face. Except for dissimilarities in the descriptions of the hold-up men, the earlier robbery and the one yesterday were much alike.

After the December robbery, Mrs. Glass said that at 11:30 a.m.—approximately the same hour as yesterday's holdup—the bandit walked to her father's widow, held a gun on her, and shoved a brown paper bag thru the window. A note was attached to the bag. It read: "Fill the bag—wait 10 minutes until I leave the bank." She said the word "dynamite" also appeared on the bag.

Like the bandit yesterday, this holdup man also left the bank, turned down 18th street and disappeared from sight. His take was $7,358, roughly the same amount as in the second robbery.

Road blocks Tuesday were maintained by the State Police on practically all roads leaving Virginia Beach from noon until about 2 p.m. FBI agents, police officers from the Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County departments, and special State investigators conducted a house-to-house search for the bandit inside the area from 21st to 14th streets, in a north-south direction, and from the beach front to Arcle Avenue, four blocks to the west.

Virginia Beach Police Chief Reeves Johnson said that "six or seven" suspects were picked up during the afternoon for questioning but all were released.

Besides the thorough search of the area near the bank, officers followed various "leads" that took them to other parts of the resort and out into Princess County. At least one motel on the Virginia Beach boulevard was surrounded by officers and subjected to a search of all cabins. About 25 officers participated in the investigation, which was led by FBI Special Agent Ray L. Faist, in charge of the Norfolk office.

Although the bandit cautioned Mrs. Glass not to press the alarm, the branch bank has no alarm system. A. W. Craft Jr., an assistant cashier, said officers of the bank probably would meet to decide on precautionary measures against possible future robberies.

"But I don't think a alarm system would have done any good," he said. "The police were here within a minute of the robbery. In fact, I think it might be dangerous." He said that employees have been instructed not to resist robberies.

He said that the money in Mrs. Glass' cash drawer was in about the amount usually kept there.

The branch, during week days, never has but the two employees, Mrs. Glass and Mrs. Wade.

tion in "Golden Jubilee" class took the blue ribbon, Mrs. R. B. Baldwin of Birdneck Point the red, and Mrs. L. O. Clark of Bay Colony, the yellow ribbon.

DAVID FLANAGAN

KEN WHITEHURST, JR.

MARK OETINGER

Three members of the Princess Anne Future Farmers of America were among those elected to receive State Farmer Degrees at the Annual Convention of the Virginia Association of Future Farmers at Blacksburg on Monday evening, June 25. These awards are presented to outstanding Future Farmers for their accomplishments in Vocational Agriculture. They were presented to Ken Whitehurst, Jr., Mark Oettinger and David Flanagan. All three of these future farmers are recent graduates of the Princess Anne High School.

Ken Whitehurst Jr. plans to follow Agriculture as his life work. During his first 3 years in Vocational Agriculture he carried as his enterprises 12 acres of crops, and 18 head of livestock. This year he is raising 9 acres of crops and 12 head of livestock. Ken has been most active in his chapter, where he has held two offices, this past year serving as president. He has also served as Secretary and Reporter of their Federation of Chapters. In addition to these offices he has found time to hold the presidency of the Senior Class and Spang Club. Ken has had the distinct honor of being a member of the State F. F. A. Chorus and being sent to Kansas City to be a member of the National F. F. A. Chorus at their National Convention. He has invested $1,100 in savings and $335 in farming. He has a scholarship record of 93 on his High School subjects since entering high school. Ken plans to further his Agriculture Education at North Carolina State College.

Mark Oettinger's supervised farm program consists of livestock, poultry, crops, and farm forestry. Mark is to be recognized for his farm forestry, as not many V-A students include this phase of farming in their farm program. The fact that he raised two purebred Guernsey dairy cows also deserves recognition. From his earnings he has invested $565.00 in farming. Mark has served as Vice President of his F. F. A. Chapter and as chairman of a number of committees; he has also held various offices outside the F. F. A. He won the Chapter Public Speaking Contest for 1955. He also won the DeKalb Award and the Star Chapter Farmer award for outstanding work in Agriculture this past school year. Mark has an average of 93.5 on all his high school subjects. He plans to attend Polytechnic Institute.

David Flanagan has held various study Agriculture Engineering at All offices in his F. F. A. Chapter, as well as in other organizations. He has been a member of the baseball and basketball teams, and participated in the Crop Judging contest for two years. David's present supervised farming program consists of 2½ acres of crops, 6 head of livestock, and 115 head of poultry. His first three years in Vocational Agriculture he raised 5½ acres of crops and 332 head of poultry. He has invested $1,657.93 in savings and $205.00 in farming. David anticipates general farming as a career.

These three boys have carried out many supplementary and improvement practices on their home farms, which is a result of their training and guidance in Vocational Agriculture. To have three State Farmer candidates in one year is a fine achievement, and their instructor, Mr. S. B. Myers, feels justly proud of their work.

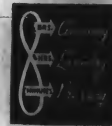

Revised Pattern Measurement Chart

The new measurement standards for patterns, as approved by the Measurement Standard Committee of the pattern industry became effective on June 15, 1946. It has been long recognized by the pattern industry, as well as by the people who are in the consumer group, that this revised standard of measurements was necessary. Several reasons have entered into causing the need for this change. One is a different type of foundation garment worn by most women and second of course, various pattern companies had different standards. This approval by the committee of the pattern industry means that all large pattern companies will be using the same standard measurements for the same size and style pattern. I would like to mention a few items concerned in purchasing a pattern. First of all, patterns are purchased by actual bust measurements, taken around the largest part of the bust, while wearing a smooth fitting dress or blouse. Never over a jacket or sweater. That is your measurement guide for the purchase of any pattern except a skirt or slacks pattern. In which case, of course, the waist measurement is used, you never, therefore buy a large size for a coat, jacket or suit as the pattern companies have allowed the correct ease measurement for this size person. For a garment to fit properly whether bought or made, fitters tell us that you would be able to pick up an inch in both front and back of the garment. This allows the best fit and the most comfort. Also, I would like to mention that sizes are no longer as indications of age. You may be 40 but a Junior Misses size may be your correct size for a dress. YOU BUY A PATTERN BY MEASUREMENT.

A question which may come to your mind is whether or not any of the patterns already in pattern books are on counters were made with the new measurement. The answer to this is that prior to this change all pattern companies were making patterns according to the new measurements. There were not quoted, however, until this recent approval by the measurement committee. Again, I would say that the measurement is what you could go by.

If there are other questions about slacks pattern, in which case, of course, the waist measurement is used, you never, therefore buy a large size for the information.

Notes from YOUR COUNTY AGENT

PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Stop Loss of Tractor Fuel

How would you like to save 10 percent on your tractor fuel bill? County Agent Dick Cockrell says fuel represents about 40 percent of tractor operating costs; and at least 10 percent of the fuel bill can be saved with improved storage facilities and proper fuel system adjustments.

Evaporation during storage in summer accounts for a large loss of tractor fuels, the agent says. Half-full tanks in the sun may lose 3 to 4 percent in a month, while shaded tanks will lose less than 1 percent. In three months unshaded tanks may lose 15 percent, and those in the shade only 6 percent.

New Chemicals Listed For Nematode

Plant pathologists at VPI caution that they are suggested for small scale trials only, until more is known about them.

They include:

Fumazone, a new fumigant which shows promise as a pre-planting treatment and for side-dressing applications around certain perennial plants.

Nemagon, a soil fumigant which can be applied around the roots of the living plant. Tested on cotton, grapes, citrus and other tree crops, it is reported to control nematode species to a soil depth of 4 to 6 feet.

Vapam, which controls not only nematodes but other soil-borne pests including diseases, growing weeds, weed seeds, and some soil insects and some soil insects and related pests.

A soil fumigant, it can be applied through irrigation equipment or in conjunction with tillage equipment. Used as recommended by the company, no soil cover is needed, and crops can usually be planted within 7 days after treatment. It is particularly suited for use in seed beds, but shows promise for other uses.

VC-13 Nematocide, a non-volatile residual chemical. Although it does not disperse through the soil to the degree of a fumigant, the residual effects are important in preventing rapid re-infestations of treated areas. It is already accepted in some states for use on turf and ornamentals, and shows promise for use on citrus and truck crops.

Be Careful When Using Kerosene-Fueled Equipment

this type of equipment, the Virginia Rural Safety Council says.

The Council lists these safety precautions and common dangers:

Operating instructions of the manufacture must be followed exactly, and preventive maintenance and repairs should be undertaken promptly when needed.

Burners should be clean at all times. When wicks are burning low, trim or replace them.

Use only the recommended fuel. Be sure the appliance is approved by Underwriters Laboratories.

Operate all cooking and heating devices, in a level position. Never leave a lighted stove unattended. If you leave, turn off the stove.

Locate stoves so that curtains, drapes, or other inflammable materials cannot blow into contact with heating surfaces or an open flame.

Kerosene devices have been perfected to the point where they are comparatively safe, but the user must still be careful.

N. B. Never pour kerosene into a coal or wood stove to help in starting a fire.

It has meant sudden death to many persons who did.

Soil Washing Shows Conservation Needs

Most farmers recognize gullies and large silt deposits as signs that attention is needed if their soil is to remain productive.

But there are many less obvious signs of erosion that will eventually eat away profits as well as soil if they aren't corrected, say conservationists at VPI.

Here are some of the less easily recognized signs of trouble:

Appearance of new stones on gravel on the surface after a field has once been cleared is usually a sign that fine soil has washed away from over and around the stones. Frost heaving may bring small stones to the surface in poorly drained areas, but if the soil beneath a flat stone is a little higher than the surrounding soil, forming a small pedestal under the stone, it is an indication that surrounding soil has washed or blown away.

Exposed plant roots are another sign of soil erosion, because plant roots do not ordinarily grow above the surface. And bare spots often develop on pastures where livestock have grazed closely and trampled the plants.

On many ridges, knolls, and upper slopes, crops are of proper quality than those grown on the area below. Leaves are lighter colored, plants are shorter, and yields are lower. Low fertility and lack of moisture resulting from loss of top-soil cause these conditions. Soil accumulating above trees, stones, and fences on a slope is further proof of soil loss from the upper areas.

If these telltale signs appear on your land, the conservationists advise, see your county agent or soil conservationist for help in overcoming the problem.

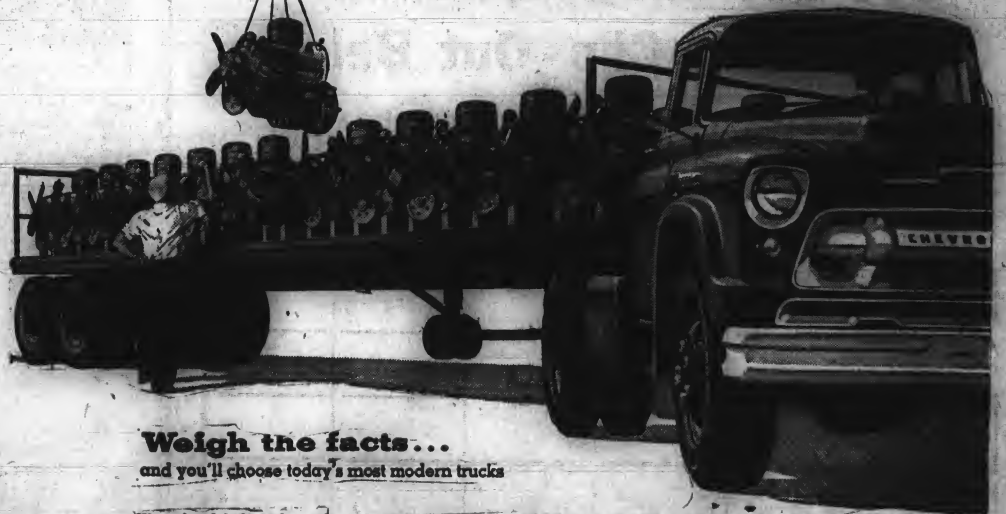

Most modern truck V8's ...and the pounds prove it!

Pound for pound, the most powerful truck V8's today are Chevrolets. That's one way you can tell they're the most modern V8's going!

Chevrolet's modern short-stroke V8 truck engines do more work for their weight than any other V8 in any truck today!

That means they carry around fewer pounds for power they develop. (They weigh up to 200 pounds less than other comparable engines!) It means, too, that less of the maximum truck G.V.W. consists of engine weight—and more is devoted to payload.

Stop by and let us give you the facts on Chevrolet's compact, super-efficient truck V8's.

Weigh the facts...
and you'll choose today's most modern trucks

Wanted weight is engineered out of Chevrolet truck V8's!

The ultra short-stroke Chevrolet truck V8's makes possible a rugged yet compact cylinder block. Modern design cuts down engine weight and increases engine efficiency.

More power per pound means more power for your payload!

Since less power is used in moving engine weight, a bigger proportion is available for moving your payloads. You get hour-saving performance on the job. And modern V8 power saves dollars, too!

There's a modern V8 for every Chevrolet Task-Force truck!

There's a powerful, deep-breathing V8—either standard, or optional at extra cost—in every Chevrolet truck model. Horsepower ranges as high as 195 for fast, efficient high-tonnage hauling.

The MIXING BOWL..

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and foibles... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Let's chat a bit about summer time standbys "Sandwiches." Summer time is a season for enjoying the wide, wide cut-of-doors, a time to pick up and go when the mood and the weather dictate. As every seasoned picnicer knows, success of the impromptu picnic, particularly, depends upon some standbys. Most versatile of standbys is the sandwich.

There are many items one usually keeps on the pantry shelf and in the refrigerator. You can combine these with a dash of imagination to give sandwiches a temptingly different taste. Here are some recipes suggested from the kitchen of the American Institute of Baking.

HAM-APRICOT SANDWICH FILLING

1 cup chopped cooked ham
1/2 cup apricot puree combine ham and apricot puree.

Yield: 1 cup, or filling for 5 sandwiches.

TONGUE SANDWICH FILLING

1 1/2 cups (1/2 pound) ground tongue
2 tablespoons chopped celery
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon mayonnaise or salad dressing
Combine tongue, celery, horseradish, mustard and mayonnaise. Yield: 1 1/2 cups, or filling for 8 sandwiches.

VEGETABLE SANDWICH FILLING

1/4 cup finely diced, cooked asparagus
1/4 cup finely diced, cooked carrots
1/4 cup cooked peas
1/4 cup finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon chopped green onion

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Drain the cooked vegetables very well, using absorbent paper. Add celery, green onion, salt, mustard and mayonnaise. Yield: 1 cup, or filling for 5 sandwiches.

COTTAGE CHEESE-PEANUT SANDWICH FILLING

1/2 cup cottage cheese
1/4 cup chopped peanuts
1/4 cup chopped dill pickle
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Combine cottage cheese, peanuts, dill pickle and Worcestershire sauce. Yield: 1/4 cup, or filling for 4 sandwiches.

PINEAPPLE-EGG SALAD SANDWICH FILLING

1/2 cup chopped, hard-cooked eggs
1/2 cup well-drained, crushed pineapple
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/4 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper
Combine eggs, pineapple, green pepper, mustard, salt and pepper. Yield: 1/4 cup, or filling for 5 sandwiches.

CHICKEN-SWISS CHEESE SANDWICH FILLING

1 cup chopped cooked chicken
1/2 cup grated Swiss cheese
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1/2 teaspoon celery seeds
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

dressing
Combine chicken, Swiss cheese, green pepper, celery seeds, and mayonnaise.

Yield: 1 1/2 cups, or filling for 7 sandwiches

ALMOND-BACON CHEESE SANDWICH FILLING

1 (3-ounce package) cream cheese
1 1/2 tablespoons milk
2 slices crisply fried bacon, chopped (2 tablespoons)
2 tablespoons chopped, toasted almonds
2 teaspoons chopped green onion dash of Worcestershire sauce
Soften cream cheese and blend with milk. Add bacon, almonds, green onion and Worcestershire sauce. Yield: 1/2 cup, or filling for 3 sandwiches.

PEANUT CHEESE CRUNCH SANDWICH FILLING

1/2 cup pimiento cheese spread
1/2 cup chopped peanuts
1/4 cup sweet pickle relish
1 tablespoon minced onion
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Combine cheese spread, peanuts, pickle relish, onion and Worcestershire sauce. Yield: 1 cup, or filling for 5 sandwiches.

KIDNEY BEAN-FRANKFURTER SANDWICH FILLING

1/2 cup drained, chopped, cooked kidney beans
1/2 cup chopped frankfurters
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon mayonnaise or salad dressing
Combine beans, frankfurters, onions, pickle relish, mustard and mayonnaise. Yield: 1 1/2 cups, or filling for 6 sandwiches.

So often we read a recipe and it doesn't strike our fancy. Consequently we don't try it. May I suggest you try some of these sandwiches suggestions, and find out? Several of these the American Institute of Baking have suggested are very unusual, so I'll try them too, and see just how good they are. Here are two or three of my favorites. I hope you'll like them.

FIQUANT CHEESE FILLING

1 lb sharp cheese, grated
2 tablespoons minced green peppers
2 tablespoons minced pimiento dash Worcestershire sauce
After grating cheese, let stand out of refrigerator until soft. Mash with fork. Add Worcestershire sauce and mix. Add green pepper and pimiento. Mix well. If not consistency to easily spread, add a little evaporated milk and mix again, but do be careful and don't add too much milk at the time. This is one of my favorites.

Tuna with chopped bacon is an easy and good standby sandwich. I'm sure you have a can of tuna on the pantry shelf. A bit of celery in the refrigerator as well as the bacon. Fry 2 strips of bacon until crispy, drain and crumble very fine, then all you have to do is mix tuna, finely minced celery and crisp bacon with enough mayonnaise for right consistency for sandwich filling.

Here are some old reliables that will keep well out of refrigeration.

Marmalades, peanut butter, apple butter, cream cheese, jellies, process or natural cheese. You can vary all of these sandwiches with salad type fillings of meat, chicken, fish, egg, etc., should be handled carefully. Never let sandwiches of this type stand at room temperatures longer than four hours before eating. Keep refrigerated until time to pack lunch basket. Use fresh, cooked meats, chicken, etc., or the canned chicken, tuna and meats make delicious sandwiches. Sometimes leftover meats, chicken, etc. don't keep too well for sandwich fillings.

FORT STORY TELLINGS

Fort Story's training facilities, much-used of late by Army Transportation Corps troops preparing for summer Arctic resupply operations, were put to a different use last weekend by Boy Scout Troop 45 from Fort Eustis.

The occasion was the troop's annual Fort Story father and son outing. The bivouac area became a camp site for the visitors. Amphibious vehicles rumbling over the beaches gave way to picnics and games.

The ocean was filled with swimming scouts and their fathers. Adaptable DUKW's took on interested passengers and delighted them with their effortless transition from "landlubbers" to accomplished swimmers.

The trip for the scouts and their fathers was conducted by 2nd Lt. Roland L. Fraser of the Transportation School at Fort Eustis. 1st Lt. Karl Lee of Fort Story was on hand to assist the visitors in their activities.

A Cape Henry Chapter of the National Sojourners Chapter will be formed at Fort Story "early in July," according to Capt. Walter L. Miller, who will be secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Other officers who will be installed at the July meeting with Capt. Miller, who is assigned to the supply section at Fort Story, are: Lt. Col. Frederick G. Ward, Fort Story deputy commander, president; Col. Frederick A. Ward, USA (Ret.), first vice president, and Frank A. Dusch, mayor of Virginia Beach and a commander in the USNR, second vice president. The president and first vice president are not related.

Capt. Miller announced that membership in the chapter would be open to officers of all armed forces who are Master Masons and are on active duty, retired or serving with a reserve unit. He added that enlisted men who are Master Masons and have been officers are also eligible to join.

After the initial meeting, the date of which will be announced, Capt. Miller said the chapter would meet the second Monday of each month at the Fort Story Officers' Club.

A driver expecting the command can stomp on his brakes twice as fast as he could in a real highway emergency.

But at 40 miles an hour, his car will still travel 30 feet before he can even get his foot to the brake, a group of Fort Story officers learned June 19 at a special safety demonstration.

The demonstration — arranged by 1st Lt. Robert H. Clifford, Jr., Fort Story safety officers, and staged by the assistant Army Transportation Training Command and safety officer from Fort Eustis, Forrest W. Hamilton — worked like this:

An Army passenger car and 2 1/2-ton truck were rigged with devices that fire like a pistol and spray a spot of yellow paint on the road once at the command to stop and once as the brakes are hit. Distance between spots shows reaction time and from the second spot to the halted vehicle itself shows braking time.

A volunteer driver brought the car to stop from 40 mph in 80 feet — 20 feet to hit the brake and 60 feet to stop. According to Hamilton, National Safety Council statistics show it would normally take about 36 1/2 feet respectively in an actual emergency.

The truck was stopped from 25 mph in 45 feet, covering 15 feet during the driver's reaction time. Hamilton said, according to Hamilton, National Safety Council statistics show it would normally take about 36 1/2 feet respectively in an actual emergency.

Members of eight United States Army Reserve units completed two weeks of active duty training here June 24.

The 280 officers and enlisted men assigned to units from Richmond, Philadelphia and Dexter, Mo., participated in a three day ship-to-shore cargo transfer problem in which DUKW's were used. They also received instruction in general military subjects and marched in two parades.

Nineteen more units from eight states will train here during July and August. Approximately 500 Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets from colleges and universities all over the nation will also train here July 23 to 27.

Nine men were graduated June 16 from an accelerated course in the operation and maintenance of the amphibious truck. The men were experienced amphibious truck drivers. They took the course to prepare them as instructors for USAR units.

Two officers, four enlisted men and a civilian employed at Fort Story were graduated from a "work simplification course" June 20.

Those who were graduated were: Capt. Richard W. Bricker, Capt. Abraham L. Miller, Master Sergeant Joseph K. Kelly, Master Sergeant Ernest A. Riddick, Specialist

First Class John H. McClure, Specialist Third Class Howard Pederson and Woodrow W. Anderson. Classes were conducted by Mrs. Maxine D. Jones, work simplification officer for the office of the comptroller, Ft. Eustis. Mrs. Jones described the course as one "which enables the supervisor to work smarter, not harder."

A suggestion that signs pointing the way to Fort Story Provost Marshal Headquarters be re-located to give clearer directions to the building won Howard P. Leary of the Post Ordnance Division a $10 incentive award June 20.

Letters of appreciation from Post Commander Col. George E. Woods, Jr., went to two persons who contributed suggestions to the Army's Incentive Award Program.

1st Lt. John C. Stratton, Jr., received a letter for suggesting that stop signs be placed at a busy post intersection.

Seaside Park Nearing Completion; Many Rides In Operation

The rodeo-whip, one of the new rides for the kiddie land section, has arrived at Seaside Park. The kiddie boat ride will be shipped in sufficient time to be installed before July 1st. This will complete all the plans for the kiddie park for the current year. The rodeo ride is already in operation. This is a cowboy type ride with a holster and gun mounted on the saddle of the horse. The rider can shoot two "bad men" as the ride spins around the center post. Strangely enough the "bad men" return the fire and the action is recorded electronically with the ringing of special bells which provides great excitement for the youngsters who enjoy this amusement device.

Bathers, both local and out-of-town, have located the bathhouse and made good use of it during the past hot weekend.

Al DeHannis and his five piece band pack in a full house practically every night of the week. It is said that this is one of the finest orchestras on the beach. Admission to the ball room is free.

The new Golden Jubilee arcade amusement center, which is now a part of the park, is enjoying the attention of the visitors to the beach and it is entirely open at the present time with all of its attractions in full swing.

An overhang pergola which bridges the two ends of the amusement center and affords shelter in the event of inclement weather has been erected. It also provides shade during days of sunshine.

Many families enjoyed the free picnic facilities this past Sunday and the management is planning to enlarge its picnic accommodations because of the apparent need due to the Sea Shore State Park closing.

The park is now practically completed and ready for the 1956 summer business. All of the concessionaries are happy with the new housing and their pleasure is reflected in the enthusiastic attention they are giving the customers of the park. All of the rides and amusement stands are spanking new and in all there are over 50 attractions at this popular amusement center. The boast of the management is "There is fun for old and young alike". Every age is being catered to in some fashion.

The north and south ends of the park are connected by 31st Street. This street is now sporting a new look entirely different from what it has been in the past. There are two beautiful brick boxes of considerable dimensions with plantings and flower arrangements. The whole presentation gives a garden effect with the Atlantic Ocean as a background to those visiting Virginia Beach via Laskin Boulevard, approaching from the west.

The cotton growing region of the United States covers one-fourth of the land area. The Cotton Belt is comprised of 18 states

I am the Nation...

I was born on July 4, 1776, and the Declaration of Independence is my birth certificate. The bloodlines of the world run in my veins, because I offered freedom to the oppressed. I am many things, and many people. I am the nation.

I am 165 million living souls — and the ghost of millions who have lived and died for me.

I am Nathan Hale and Paul Revere. I stood at Lexington and fired the shot heard around the world. I am Washington; Jefferson and Patrick Henry. I am John Paul Jones, the Green Mountain Boys, and Davy Crockett. I am Lee and Grant, and Abe Lincoln.

I remember the Alamo, the Maine and Pearl Harbor. When freedom called, I answered and stayed until it was over, over there. I left my heroic dead in Flanders Fields, on the rock of Corregidor, and on the bleak slopes of Korea.

I am the Brooklyn Bridge, the wheat lands of Kansas, and the granite hills of Vermont. I am the coalfields of the Virginias and Pennsylvania, the fertile lands of the West, the Golden Gate and the Grand Canyon. I am Independence Hall, the Monitor and the Merrimac.

I am big. I sprawl from the Atlantic to the Pacific, 3 million square miles throbbing with industry. I am more than 5 million farms. I am forest, field, mountain and desert. I am quiet villages — and cities that never sleep.

You can look at me and see Ben Franklin walking down the streets of Philadelphia with his breadloaf under his arm. You can see Betsy Ross with her needle. You can see the lights of Christmas, and hear the strains of Auld Lang Syne as the calendar turns.

I am Babe Ruth and the World Series. I am 169,000 schools and colleges, and 250,000 churches where my people worship God as they think best. I am a ballot dropped in a box, the roar of a crowd in a stadium, and the voice of a choir in a cathedral. I am an editorial in a newspaper, and a letter to a Congressman.

I am Eli Whitney and Stephen Foster. I am Tom Edison, Albert Einstein and Billy Graham. I am Horace Greeley, Will Rogers, and the Wright brothers. I am George Washington Carver, Daniel Webster and Jonas Salk.

Yes, I am the nation, and these are the things that I am. I was conceived in freedom and, God willing, in freedom I will spend the rest of my days.

May I possess always the integrity, the courage and the strength to keep myself unshackled, to remain a citadel of freedom and a beacon of hope to the world.

This is my wish, my goal, my prayer on July 4, 1956 — one hundred and eighty years after I was born.

SUN-NEWS FOR VETERANS

Known Things Eternal
Much is being written and spoken about the property of our country at the present time. Our people are almost lulled with material things. There are two ways in which men regard such things. They may forget the Great Giver and be content with that which will perish with the using, or they may use the things God has given that when they fall they may be received into the everlasting habitations. And Paul writes that the "things which are seen are temporal but the things which are not seen, are eternal."

Consider, then, that nothing you can see with the mortal eye will endure. The things you can see may turn to ashes and the ashes be scattered to the four winds of heaven. They may rust, wither, and decay. They can be changed beyond anything hitherto known of them. They can become valueless by use and ruined by frequency. And one day they may be determined by the way we are living now. Only that which no mortal eye can see will outlast "the wreck of matter and the crash of world."

So, in the midst of abundant things that are seen let us look to that which is not seen. And let us cherish the hope that we may so use the things that God has given us that we shall help to make the place where we live that it shall be a good place for everybody to live.

The United States has filed condemnation proceedings against 20 acres of land near Rockville, Md., at the site for a new 500-bed Veterans Administration hospital to replace the present Mt. Alto hospital in Washington, D. C.

Suit was filed in May in Federal District Court at Baltimore. The site is located at the southeastern outskirts of Rockville on the old Dawson farm.

VA said it was selected in compliance with Defense Order 1-19 requiring that new Federal construction be undertaken away from a strategic area when possible.

VA said the Rockville site was selected as being far enough away from the major Washington target area yet within the staffing area.

VA's 1957 budget requested $1,000,000 for design, architectural, and technical services for the new hospital. The amount was granted the House and now is pending in the Senate.

VA said construction funds will not be requested until the fiscal 1958 budget.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

I have been informed that I will need a physical examination in order to reinstate my lapsed GI insurance policy. My brother is a doctor. Could I get my examination from him?

No. A veteran's physical examination may not be given by a doctor who is related to him, associated with him in business, or who has a financial interest in his insurance.

Is it possible to train part-time under Public Law 16, the law that provides training for disabled veterans? You may train part-time only if your disability prevents you from training on a full-time basis.

I am an American war veteran, but I have moved to Canada. Would I be eligible for hospitalization for a non-service-connected illness, at the expense of the USA?

No. Veterans living outside the continental United States or its territories or possessions may not be entitled to medical care at the expense of the United States for non-service-connected disabilities. However, veterans with service-connected ailments, temporarily living outside the U.S., may obtain medical care for their service-connected disabilities at U.S. expense.

Farm Income And Land Prices Go Separate Ways, Upset Precedent

Farm income and farm real estate valuations, which normally show similar behavior patterns because of their intimate relationship, have been going separate ways for some time, creating a paradox without counterpart in the records of agriculture.

Figures compiled by the U.S. Department of Agriculture show that farm income has been in a down trend since 1951. The decline in net farm income from then to date is around 30 per cent, though there have been some stabilizing tendencies recently. Farm real estate prices, by contrast, after a dip in 1953, have been moving up steadily since and are now at record levels on a national basis. The rise from the 1953 low point has been around 8 per cent for the United States as a whole, although substantially greater in a number of states.

Old Relationship Ignored

The Department of Agriculture calls the duration of this divergence "a unique departure from the usual relationship between land values and farm income," and it emphasizes that the real basis for land values in the future as in the past, must be the level that can be supported by long-term land earnings. For the time being, however, the usual rules prevailing in the land market seem to have been offset by a number of factors that have maintained the demand for farms despite the recent earnings trend. Chief among these are the pressures for farm enlargement because of developments within agriculture itself, an offsetting force of the inflationary forces in the economy which have influenced with respect to their investment attitudes.

The biggest single factor in the demand for farms has resulted from the revolution in agricultural production over the last decade and a half with the growth of mechanization and the introduction of new and more efficient farming techniques. Bigger farms have become more economic as a result since they permit more efficient use of machinery and acreage and hence help to keep unit costs down.

Consolidation Trend

As a group, farmers have consistently brought about two-thirds of the farms that have come on the market in recent years, and a large proportion of these have been added to existing farms. It is reported, for example, that up to half of all land purchases in wheat-growing areas and at least a third in the Corn Belt were made for consolidation purposes.

A few figures from the recent Census of Agriculture show the results of this trend. The number of farms in the United States declined by 600,000 between 1950 and 1954 alone. The 4½ million farms enumerated in the latter year were the fewest since the Land and Earnings

The following table compares the trend of total net farm income (in billions of dollars) and the index of average value per acre of farm real estate (1947-49=100) for selected years over the last decade and a half.

Year	Income	Land (a)
1948	$ 4.6	48.7
1949	12.4	75.9
1950	12.7	116.5
1951	16.1	127.1
1952	14.9	132.3
1953	12.8	127.7
1954	12.3	131.5
1955	11.0	137.4

1950's. At the same time, the average size of all farms rose to 342 acres, the highest such figure since the middle of the last century. The number of very large farms, those of 1,000 acres and more, have been showing the most pronounced growth trend.

The non-farm buyer, who as a group has acquired a third of all farms that have changed hands in recent years, represents a cross-section of America's life, financially and occupationally. He may be a "gentleman farmer," like many prominent in business, professional or public life. Or he may be a speculator or long-term investor seeking a protective haven for his capital.

Retirement Plans a Factor

The non-farm group of farm buyers likewise includes a great many persons of small or moderate means—retirees, ex-military aviators, or the self-employed. Suburbanization and deconcentration of industry have created many new job opportunities in or near rural areas. Buyers of this type usually acquire small farms that fall into the part-time classification, and the figures show that farms of 10 acres or less have shown a substantial rise proportionately over recent years while the medium-sized ones have been declining sharply. Evenhanded retirement plans have become an increasing factor among such farm buyers, reflecting the spectacular growth in pension and retirement programs over the last decade, and the widespread increase in ownership of life insurance and other savings.

With electrification and good roads, the typical farm today differs little from the average city dwelling as far as basic comforts and conveniences are concerned.

Urban and industrial expansion and road building programs are also playing a significant role in the farm land market in several parts of the country.

Has farmers interested in maximum profits from the sale of their hogs should guard against overheating during hot weather marketing, say VFA specialists. Overheated hogs that fail to arrive at market alive, or with an excess shrink, are a rough appearance, are not very profitable. Avoid these losses by hiring a dependable trucker who provides ventilation, wet sand bedding, and general hot weather know-how.

More than 180 different kind of beans are grown in the U. S.

The value of all crops sold was $3,232,834 and included $1,859,931 for field crops, $834,639 for vegetables, $240,495 for fruits and nuts, and $253,775 for horticultural specialties.

The value of all livestock and livestock products sold was $2,049,007 and included $1,162,642 for dairy products, $356,197 for poultry and poultry products, and $530,168 for livestock and livestock products.

VEPCO Planning Service Center

Now in advanced planning stages is a million dollar service center for the Virginia Electric and Power Company. The facility will be located at Richmond where Vepco has its system office. The project will consolidate operations of system stores, repair and maintenance shops, salvage shop, and automotive shop. It will also house a satellite service quarters for the Richmond district.

The various departments will be located on a 35-acre tract that provides for a proposed commercial and industrial fireproof building covering 70,000 square feet. The building will be of an attractive design to conform with general community appearance. Offices will be located on a second floor of a part of the building.

Vepco Vice President Miles Cary says the need for such a facility has become increasingly pressing with the company's rapid growth. The centralization of functions at the new site was decided upon after lengthy consideration of its advantages as opposed to equipping several smaller district shops.

Cary commented on the various functions to be carried on at the central facility and the need that required its establishment.

He said that the system storeroom is presently operated in conjunction with the Richmond District storeroom in a badly overcrowded building. The new storeroom will relieve present space limitations and provide for expansion of Stores Department operations consistent with the growth of the company. The new facility will provide 20,000 square feet of indoor storage space, with an additional 60,000 square feet of paved and fenced outdoor space. Only 20,000 square feet is available for all purposes at present.

Discussing the proposed system repair and maintenance shops, Cary said that Vepco presently has 11 district shops which handle local maintenance and repair of equipment for distribution, substitution and line departments. Practically all of these shops would have to have their facilities expanded and workloads increased if the new centralized set-up were not constructed, Cary pointed out.

He estimated that an annual savings of $150,000 will be realized through the operating economies of a central shop.

Other advantages of the consolidated operations cited by Cary include better shop facilities, including mechanization throughout; maintenance of equipment being transferred; closer inspection of manufacturers' performance; practicability of testing operations; top level supervision; development of trained maintenance personnel; and the feasibility of a spare parts inventory.

Vepco's salvage operations at the present are seriously hampered by lack of space, Cary said. Similarity of salvage operations with that of the repair and maintenance shops will permit sharing equipment.

Vepco, Cary said, has maintained a fleet of heavy transportation equipment for a number of years to provide transportation of materials and large electric equipment from the storeroom and various shops to the districts. He said the new service facility's inclusion of the System Automobile department will further streamline the company's transport system as well as maintenance of other vehicles assigned on a system basis.

In discussing a further advantage of the service facility—that of housing a satellite service quarters in the Richmond District—Cary pointed out that the site of the new facility is seven miles away from Richmond District Headquarters. The distance between, he noted, is largely through heavily traveled streets. The company proposes to base several crews at the new site for maintenance and construction work in areas surrounding that location. This will eliminate time-consuming travel to and from the present district headquarters, Cary concluded.

One Navy tractor in the Antarctic can pull 40 tons of freight loads on special sleds.

Another method of control developed by recent research is poisonous bait. The combine poisonous compounds—malathion is one of the best—with sweetening agents that attract the flies and cause them to feed on the bait.

The Dutch have overcome the problem of storing surplus butter by freezing cream and making butter from it when needed. They report it taste like fresh butter and surpasses it in vitamin A content.

KEMPSVILLE AREA NEWS

SHIRLEY W. JONES

CAVALIER JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB:

The Public Affairs Department of the Cavalier Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County will meet at the home of Mrs. Lee Fanning in Kempville Heights, Wednesday, June 27th at eight o'clock.

Plans will be made to contact each club member and urge them to vote on July 10th. Plans for the new club will also be discussed. Mrs. Fanning is chairman of this committee.

KEMPSVILLE VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL:

The Pastor of the Kempville Baptist Church, Vacation Bible School Principal and all of the officers and teachers are very proud of the wonderful work and success of the Vacation Bible School this year. It was announced there was a total enrollment of 317. There was an average PERFECT attendance of 237 and an average daily attendance of 309 children.

Preparation Day was held June 15th for all children between the ages of 3 through 16. A parade, the first of its kind in this area, featured three floats, one which carried the Flag and Bible Bearers, one with the Junior Choir and another with children who represented the nations of the world. Mrs. David L. Bixler was parade chairman.

Planist for the school was Mrs. L. J. Mitchell; Mrs. C. E. Dail was the school secretary; Mrs. Audrey Mabrey, Song leader; Mrs. Chester Bamforth, art director; pianist for the nursery and beginners department was Mrs. R. K. Stewart Cole; pianist for the Primary Departments was Mrs. George Held; Mr. Z. R. Nester, Bus Driver; Mrs. Edward Mayo, typist; Mr. Tommy Atkinson, helper and Mrs. Calvin Lilley, Commencement Decorations.

of Mrs. Swindell Pollock, its president.

Commencement exercises were held Friday, June 22, 1956 at eleven o'clock in the Church.

The Worship Service was under the leadership of the Vacation Bible School Principal, Mrs. Lyman Clarke. Each department contributed to the program.

ACREDALE FRIENDSHIP HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB:

Outdoor cooking and freezing of foods are two variations which summer brings to the usual kitchen routine of the housewife.

The Acredale Friendship Home Demonstration Club held talks and demonstrations, in order that its members might benefit from helpful advice on these subjects during its June meeting this week. Those who attended the meeting were Mrs. W. H. Fitzhugh, Mrs. W. E. Loll, Mrs. Fred R. Chapman, Mrs. V. V. Beacham, Mrs. G. M. McKensie, Mrs. L. E. Coplan, Mrs. H. L. Eklund and Mrs. C. W. Blue.

The first demonstration concerned outdoor cooking. This was given by the club president, Mrs. W. H. Fitzhugh. She explained that outdoor cooking need not be expensive. A piece of hardware which two feet square with one-half inch mesh laid over cinder blocks will make a suitable grill.

Material for the fire should include one pound of charcoal briquets per person and a quart of kerosene.

In order to keep a continuous fire for outdoor cooking, dip half the briquets in kerosene, place in position and light. Repeat with the rest of charcoal and begin an auxiliary fire to one side. Add coals from the auxiliary fire to the main fire when needed. All of the kerosene should be burnt off before cooking is begun.

Chicken cooked on a grill is an excellent dish to serve friends whom you may have coming to an outdoor dinner. Mrs. Fitzhugh also supplies the club members with this recipe for cooking chicken. Two "don'ts" were emphasized. Chicken should not be burnt at the beginning of cooking and it should not be taken off the fire too soon.

Mrs. H. L. Flanagan began the program concerning freezing by giving the group some general advice on preparing foods for freezing. One should exclude all foods which have a high water content, such as tomatoes and lettuce, when deciding upon which foods to freeze, said Mrs. Flanagan. These foods do not freeze well.

One trick for busy day cooking of frozen foods is to pack the food for freezing in containers in which it may be cooked in. One illustration was that potatoes may be placed on a piece of cardboard wrapped in aluminum foil and then the entire package wrapped in foil. These may be baked without removing them from the cardboard.

Mrs. N. F. Smithson displayed an assortment of foods which she had frozen for the demonstration to the group.

Baked potatoes topped with cheese and baked chicken croquettes were among these. One of the most delightful samples displayed was a party ice cream balls. These were approximately bite-size portions of ice cream, rolled in colored shredded coconut or peanuts and then frozen. These make an attractive dish and eliminate the worry and hurry when ice cream is to be served.

The actual demonstration of the freezing program concerned making fruit punch with home frozen fruits.

Mrs. Smithson and Mrs. Flanagan made the punch by the following recipe:

3 quarts of chilled gingerale
1 1/2 quarts of frozen strawberries
After diluting the lemonade as directed on the can the thawed strawberries were added, and then the gingerale was poured in. After these simple preparations, the party punch was ready to serve.

KEMPSVILLE WOMAN'S CLUB CONTRIBUTOR $500.00.

It was announced by Mrs. R. L. Humphries, Secretary of the Kempville Woman's Club that a contribution in the amount of five hundred dollars had been given to Mr. A. M. Stenize, principal of the Area School for the Mentally Retarded. This money will be used to the best advantage by Mr. Stenize, to purchase whatever equipment or supplies that are most needed.

One hundred sixty-six Navy men wintering over in the Antarctic were supplied with 992,383 pounds of food. Half of this is reserve supply in case ships can't reach the bases in 1956-57.

Navy buildings housing 166 Americans in Antarctica were built to stand minus 100 degree temperatures and plus 100 knot winds.

Leisure Outlays A Big Factor In Nation's Wealth

The growth of the economy in recent years accompanied by a big rise in personal income levels has created a multi-billion dollar market for a wide variety of leisure-time products and services as well as expanding the demand for basic necessities.

An important factor in this development has been the increasing prevalence of paid vacations and holidays for the average worker in the factory as well as in the office. Along with this, the short work week has become standard in business and industry and in virtually all other lines of activity. As a result, more leisure without loss of income has become one of the distinguishing characteristics of American life and of our living standards, and it has become a significant force in expanding consumer expenditures and in economic activity in general.

Impact on Costs

This trend has brought obvious benefits to the people and to the nation in the physical and psychological values to the typical individual and family of more time and money for recreational activities. From the financial point of view, however, it has been a costly development and an added charge on production. It is now estimated that paid vacations and holidays alone cost industry an average of about $200 a year per worker. An even larger bill for the employer is involved in a variety of other fringe benefits which millions of workers are now enjoying, such as group life and accident and sickness insurance, and pension and retirement plans. This situation reinforces the need for more productivity and increased investments to help keep costs and prices down. An indication of the extent of leisure-time spending and its economic stimulus is provided by the U.S. Department of Commerce in its annual compilation of detailed personal consumption expenditures. This breakdown contains a recreational classification which covers a multitude of spare-time activities and their estimated outlays, running from reading matter and television to garden supplies.

Economic Implications

The figures show that outlays for recreation are now running well over $12 billions a year, and have doubled over the last decade. They alone represent about 5 cents of every dollar of all personal consumption expenditures.

The Commerce Department's recreation grouping is far from complete insofar as the influence of leisure on personal spending patterns is concerned. It does not include, for example, the cost of vacations, or what millions of Americans spend on travel at home and abroad, or hobbies. The amounts involved here alone undoubtedly run into billions of dollars annually.

Another important by-product of more leisure and higher incomes enjoyed by the average person is the spectacular rise of the "do-it-yourself" movement among homeowners and others. Here, too, the annual expenditures are placed in the multi-billion class.

Panel for Navy buildings in the Antarctic are made like sandwiches, inside aluminum for vapor barrier and fire protection, plywood, spun glass for insulation and more plywood.

Ideas for the Modern Homemaker

By Mrs. Elizabeth D. Deal
County Home Agent

Flower Arrangements

Do you ever envy your neighbor for her ability to arrange flowers attractively?

Make the arrangement 1 1/2 times as high as an upright container, or 1 1/2 times the average diameter of the low container.

Avoid crowding. Place each flower separately and carefully.

Use a tall container for tall, heavy flowers. Keep the container and flowers in scale.

Arrange flowers in a natural manner. Try to make them look as though they had grown in the container.

Do not have stems extending far beyond the others in the arrangement. Do not have flowers at the same height in the same place, and the same distance apart. Avoid regular spacing.

Do not let the stems cross above the tops of the container or in line of vision.

One color should predominate in a mixed color arrangement. Do not have equal amounts of the various colors used. Usually, two or three colors will be more effective and more easily arranged than several colors.

Do not use artificial flowers. There is always some living material which is more attractive which can be used. Keep the darkest and largest flowers low in the arrangement.

Use flowers with their own foliage when possible. If you use foliage of other plants, be sure it is of similar texture, color, and shape of that of the flower being used. Never pad an arrangement with fern, although some arrangements are good with some fern carefully used.

Use all stages of the flower development when it is possible to do so. A few buds and half-opened blooms carefully inserted with the opened blossoms will add interest and variety to the arrangement and make it appear more natural.

To make full use of your freezer, is both simple and smart. Here are things which are easy to do and they'll make serving during hot weather easy for you.

Freeze soups as well as juices if you're preparing them for a single meal. It's just as easy to double or triple the recipe and store the rest in the freezer.

If you tend to run out of ice cubes, make several batches and put them in plastic bags. Cherries, berries and mint sprigs can be frozen in the cubes you're going to use for iced tea or party beverages, but have plain ones for chilling your water.

Creamed dishes can be made in large quantity. Pour them into refrigerator pans over aluminum foil or plastic bags, when cooled so they can be frozen in a block and easily lifted out for freezer wrapping.

Use fresh material. Remove any blossoms or foliage which will easily wilt. Replace such materials with fresh flowers, or rearrange the remaining material and foliage so that nothing is noticeably missing from the design.

Select key points or locate main stems and flowers (usually three units located on a triangular basis will be enough) and fill in to make mass arrangement.

Travel Tip

Going on a trip this summer? Instead of throwing worn towels into the ragbag, cut them into squares for disposable washcloths.

Variety in French Dressing

Several ingredients can be added to French dressing to make it extra special. VPI food specialists say French dressing can be turned into a cheese dressing by just adding grated hard cheese, or by rubbing soft cheese to a paste with the dressing. Roquefort or blue cheese dressing is made by crumbling the cheese and adding it to the French dressing.

To change French dressing into chiffonade dressing, just add chopped onions, peppers, pimientos, parsley, and hard-cooked eggs.

Vinaigrette dressing is made by adding chopped chives and chopped hard-cooked eggs to a French dressing that contains horseradish and catsup or chili sauce.

Jeffrey Hunter is a young trouble-baiter who manages to rile Robert Ryan, the town marshall in "The Proud One," whether they meet at the local saloon or at Virginia Mayo's inn. The three are co-starred in the Twentieth Century-Fox Cinemascope drama of the days when law enforcement in the West was more a novelty than fact. The film opens July 1st at the Beach Theatre.

COLONY RESTAURANT
"BEST AT BEACH"

"The person who told us your food was the best on the Beach knew exactly what they were talking about," said Esther Jolly, of Salem, Virginia, after a recent meal at the Colony Restaurant on Atlantic Ave. in the Jefferson Hotel building.

This patron's remark is typical of many who have discovered the enjoyment and fine food to be had at the Colony. (ADV.)
